Committee Limits It to 3 Years.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's money bill is scheduled to start on its second and last legislative lap tomorrow when debate begins in the senate. Unless unforeseen opposition develops, it should be ready for the President's signature late this week or by the first of next.

Significant time limits were imposed before the bill's approval by the senate banking and currency committee today. But the chief purpose of the amendments, it was conceded, was to get the measure past a strong opposition within the committee and out on the senate floor. Friends of the bill assert, and its enemies admit, that the President's influence in the senate is such that the amendments will be stricken out if Mr. Roosevelt wants them out.

Limit Life to 3 Years.

Two of the major sections of the bill were amended. The life of the two billion dollar fund for stabilizing the exchange value of the dollar and for operating in the domestic government securities market was restricted to two years, with a possible further extension of one year by order of the President.

Administration of the fund was taken from the sole control of the secretary of the treasury and placed in the hands of a board of five, composed of the secretary of the treasury, the governor of the federal reserve board, the controller of the currency, and two members to be appointed by the President.

A provision, added in the house, requiring a report to congress at the end of three years concerning the use of the stabilization fund was stricken out.

Same Limit on Devaluation.

A time limit similar to that set up on use of the stabilization fund was added to the section of the bill providing for devaluation of the dollar. By the end of two or possibly three years the gold value of the dollar must be fixed, according to the amendment, at some point within the range of from fifty to sixty cents proposed by the bill.

Indications were strong that the transfer of power over the stabilization fund to a board would be knocked out by administration order. Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic senate leader, said he did not see how the fund could be used to achieve its purpose if authority were divided. What the attitude of the President and treasury officials might be was not made apparent.

It was not the final one sided vote of 15 to 2 by which the bill was reported out but the close votes on these amendments and others proposed but rejected which told the story of the bitter fight within the committee and why proponents were ready to make concessions for the sake of speed.

Beat McAdoo Plan.

The first committee vote was on a motion by Senator William G. McAdoo [Dem., Cal.] to strike out the bill's authority for the treasury to take over the 3 billions 600 millions of federal reserve gold. Senator McAdoo proposed that the banks should keep their gold and that whatever profit might accrue through devaluation should be levied on the banks by the government as a franchise tax. The amendment was voted down, 11 to 9.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] moved the time limit on the stabilization fund and its administration by a board. Both proposals carried, 12 to 8.

Without roll calls, defeat was administered to a motion by Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.] to make the government trustee of the federal reserve gold instead of its owner, and an amendment by Senator Hamilton F. Kean [Rep., N. J.] seeking to increase the upper limit of devaluation. Senator Robert J. Bulkley [Dem., Ohio] proposed the time limit on devaluation, and this was carried, 11 to 8.

Fess Opens G. O. P. Fight.

On the final vote on reporting the bill to the senate, Senators Phillips L. Goldsborough [Rep., Md.] and John Townsend [Rep., Del.] were the only ones to vote "no," though many, like Seantor Glass, who voted affirmatively, stated that they did so only for expediency's sake and that they reserved the right to carry their opposition into the senate.

That opposition did not wait for the

Melvin Traylor Suffers New Relapse

FAMILY CALLED TO BEDSIDE OF NOTED BANKER

BULLETIN.

At 3:15 a. m. today Dr. William R. Cubbins, attending physician, said that Melvin A. Traylor was "as seriously ill as he can possibly be." Mr. Traylor was described as still conscious, but too weak to talk. Members of his family were close at hand.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, suffered a sudden relapse early this morning in his fight against pneumonia, of which he has been ill for eight days. Members of his family and four physicians were hurriedly summoned to his bedside in his home at 426 Barry avenue.

At 1 a. m. Dr. N. Clarke Gilbert said the banker's condition was "very unfavorable, much more so than it had been considered during yesterday." He said that he and the three other doctors would not leave the bedside during the night.

Asked if he believed this crisis would prove fatal Dr. Gilbert answered that he expected the banker to live, but that with the situation so grave he could not foretell what any moment might bring. It was pointed out that a relapse in this disease is usually exceedingly serious.

Family Called to Bedside.

When the turn for the worse came shortly before midnight Mr. Traylor's wife, their daughter, Nancy, and their son, Melvin Jr., were quickly called to the sickroom. Melvin Jr. was attending Leland Stanford university in California and arrived here by airplane yesterday morning.

The relapse came after a day of improvement so marked that the banker was believed certainly to be on the road to recovery. His condition had shown marked improvement since Monday morning, when he suffered a sinking spell. Throughout yesterday he had rested easily.

Continue Oxygen Treatment.

It was decided it would not be necessary to have more than one doctor in charge during the night, so Dr. Carl Johnson remained and Dr. Gilbert, Dr. Robert B. Preble, and Dr. William R. Cubbins, the family physician, left the house. At that time the banker was quietly sleeping in the oxygen tent, in which he was encased when his condition became critical on Monday. The oxygen treatment continued throughout the night.

In a statement issued during the afternoon by Dr. Cubbins it was revealed that Mr. Traylor's high rate of respiration had been reduced and that he had been able to take some food, mostly raw eggs and milk. His color was said to be excellent. When he went to sleep in the evening physicians were the most optimistic over his recovery they had been since his condition became serious. Then when he awakened about 10 o'clock it was noted that his condition had changed for the worse and the physicians were summoned.

INSULL IS TOLD HE MUST LEAVE GREECE JAN. 31

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 24 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The supreme state council today rejected the appeal of Samuel Insull, former American utilities operator, from a government ruling that he must leave Greece at the expiration of his police residence permit Jan. 31.

Thus apparently was dissipated Insull's final hope of remaining in his Athenian retreat where he has won two court victories in his fight against extradition to the United States.

The 74 year old fugitive was granted an extension of his residence permit from Dec. 31 to the end of January. The ministry of the interior, however, rejected his request for a second extension and he appealed to the council.

Jim Crow Rule in House Cafe Brings Protest

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A decision on whether Negroes shall be allowed to eat with whites in the public restaurant operated in the capitol will be demanded of the house tomorrow.

Representative Oscar De Priest [Rep., Ill.], the only Negro member, said tonight he would bring the question up in the house tomorrow. Employés of the restaurant had refused to serve his secretary and another Negro.

Chairman Warren [Dem., N. C.] of the accounts committee, which has charge of the restaurant, said tonight in a brief formal statement:

"In refusing to serve two Negroes today in the house restaurant Manager P. H. Johnson of the restaurant was acting upon my orders and instructions.

"It has never served Negro employés or visitors, nor will it so long as I have anything to do with it."

Sat at Counter.

De Priest said his secretary, Morris Lewis, went to the grill room as usual, sat at a horseshoe counter and ordered food. He was accompanied by another Negro.

Manager Johnson said the cashier referred the Negroes to him.

"They demanded to know who was responsible for the order not to serve them," said Johnson. "I told them the house accounts committee. Then they wanted to know who the chairman was and I told them Mr. Warren. The Negroes were told politely that upon instructions from the chairman that they could not be served in the house restaurant."

Go to Warren's Office.

The went into Warren's office nearby, but the representative was in the house chamber. They then saw De Priest, outside.

"I didn't know anything about it until a few minutes ago," said De Priest. "The manager of the restaurant told Lewis that Representative Warren of North Carolina, chairman of the accounts committee in charge of the restaurant, had issued orders to keep Negroes out.

"If the Democrats are going to act that way toward the Negroes, we might as well have a showdown now. It seems funny to me that a man with money to pay for his food, whether he be Jew, Gentile or Negro, should be refused food in a public restaurant."

600 WAITERS STRIKE AS WALDORF-ASTORIA DINNER THRONG WAITS

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The 600 cooks and waiters of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel walked out without notice at the height of the dinner hour tonight. Hundreds of fashionable guests in the half dozen dining rooms, some halfway through their dinners, had to go elsewhere for dessert and coffee.

Oscar Tschirky, the famed "Oscar of the Waldorf," wrung his hands.

Headquarters of the Amalgamated Hotel and Restaurant Workers' union said the "stoppage" was precipitated by the discharge for "union activities" of André Fournigault, a cook, whom Lucien Boomer, president of the Waldorf-Astoria corporation, refused to reinstate.

Union spokesmen said chefs and head waiters were promoting "an out and out company union."

JAPAN REFUSES MDIVANI PRINCE PERMIT TO LAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 24.—[Wednesday.]—Alexis Mdivani, prince of Georgia (Russia) and husband of the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, was refused permission to leave the Hikawa Maru, on which he arrived from Vancouver, B. C., today. Japanese authorities refused to recognize his Georgian passport because it lacks a Japanese visa, and, anyway, Japan does not recognize the prince's native land.

The prince had planned to spend about ten days in Japan on his round the world honeymoon trip with his bride, who is due to join him in Japan Friday from San Francisco. The couple sailed on separate ships after Alexis found it convenient to part from Barbara in Reno, Nev., to avoid coming to grips with the law in connection with grand theft charges now being pressed against his two brothers, Serge and David, in Los Angeles.

Woman Marries Her Job; No Income, So No Tax

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 23.—(AP)—It seems that both lost—Uncle Sam and the woman who wrote Dan M. Nee, collector of internal revenue, the following letter:

"In regard to the enclosed income tax blank, please take my name off the list, as I was driven to matrimony by the depression and now am working for nothing."

Jurors Listen to Cop's Wife and to Myrtle

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackidge, former collector of internal revenue, and Mrs. Susanne Nottingham, who values the love of her policeman husband, Norman E. Nottingham, at $100,000, took turns at testifying yesterday in Mrs. Nottingham's alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Blackidge. The case is on trial before Judge Weaver and a jury in the Superior court.

Mrs. Nottingham was a morning witness. Her revelations to the jury of ten happy husbands and two stainless bachelors, all of whom declared under oath that they had never had domestic troubles or been involved in alienation of affection suits, chiefly concerned her sleuthing activities. These centered on discoveries of Mrs. Blackidge and Policeman Nottingham in states of negligee. Her testimony did not appear to lighten the gloom on the faces of the jurors, who probably were missing their own happy family life.

Daughter, 7, Is Witness.

Another witness was Mrs. Nottingham's 7 year old daughter, Jeanette, only child of her marriage to Nottingham. He is assigned to Grand Crossing station and drives a police patrol. Jeanette took the stand in behalf of her mother.

Mrs. Blackidge appeared on the stand in her own behalf. On Monday she had been called as a witness and cross-examined by Mrs. Nottingham's counsel—a circumstance made possible by the new Illinois civil practice act.

Mrs. Blackidge's testimony yesterday concerned mostly what she called the "gen-u-wine friendship" between her and Nottingham in 1931 which, she said, ripened into something more than friendship but still not burning love.

The Cause of It All.

Meanwhile Policeman Nottingham, whose overcoat and hat were stolen while he was at court Monday, stalked about the county building corridors outside the courtroom hoping to catch the culprit. He was denied the privilege, along with other witnesses, of hearing his wife tell about how "wonderful" he was "before that woman entered his life."

This morning Judge Weaver will hear arguments as to whether Not-

Public Enemy Shot Dead in Oak Park Flat

BULLETIN.

Oak Park and Chicago policemen early today seized two men for questioning in connection with the killing of "Three Fingered Jack" White. They are James Hartney, an agent of the department of justice, and Oliver Kempster, a state highway policeman. Both admitted they had been in conference with White yesterday afternoon at his home. Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, said that he had been assured the police would release them. One theory is that friends of White suspected he was giving information to government agents and decreed his death after learning of his conference with Hartney and Kempster. The police learned of the conference from Miss Diane Anderson, a visitor at the White flat.

William (Three Fingered Jack) White, 42 years old, ex-convict, killer, and public enemy, who strove to rise to fortune on the ruins of the gangland empire of Al Capone, was shot and killed last night in the apartment he and his actress bride occupied on the third floor at 920 Wesley avenue, Oak Park.

The killing was accomplished after a terrific struggle between the desperate White and two men who apparently had been drinking with him. After the shooting, leaving the body of the victim slumped over near a dresser drawer into which he was reaching for a pistol, the killers fled to the street, entered a small automobile, and drove away.

Widow Seized by Police.

About two hours later Lieut. Harry Wilson of the Oak Park police arrested the widow of the slain White, her brother, James Kelly, and Diane Anderson as they drove into a garage a short distance from the apartment. Mrs. White, who as Nancy Kelly was a favorite entertainer at the Club Royale, 420 South Wabash avenue, until her Crown Point marriage to Three Fingered Jack last August, said she was absent from the apartment at the time of the killing. The same story was told by her brother, who shared the flat with the Whites, and by the Anderson girl.

The extent of the actual information bearing on the killing, as given by Mrs. White and Kelly, was this: At about 9 p. m., some two hours before the shooting, they left the apartment with the Anderson girl. Present at that time were White and two men whom Mrs. White and her brother had only heard addressed as Bill and Joe. These, presumably, were the killers.

Drink Before Shooting.

It was the opinion of Lieut. Wilson and of Policemen Lambert Barsema and Harry Williams that White and his killers had been drinking together amiably a few minutes before the shooting took place. In the living room of the apartment were empty beer and whisky bottles and an array of glasses. White was clad in trousers, shoes and socks, but no shirt. He was probably entertaining guests whom he trusted, Lieut. Wilson said.

But when they manifested their

TOUHY SECRETS TOLD IN FACTOR KIDNAPING TRIAL

State and Defense Outline Cases.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

The kidnaping and ransom of John Factor, wealthy speculator, was described in Judge Michael Feinberg's court late yesterday after a surprise move by the defense had resulted in the sudden completion of a jury.

In an opening statement, Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley revealed the evidence upon which the state bases its plea that four Touhy gangsters—Roger Touhy, Edward McFadden, Albert Kator, and Gustav Schaefer—be convicted and sentenced to death for Factor's abduction.

It was a thrilling story and impressively told by the lean young prosecutor. Certain details of the kidnaping never revealed previously were given to the jury, which listened intently to every word uttered.

Defense Charges Capone Plot.

In a sensational counter statement after Prosecutor Crowley had spoken Defense Attorney William Scott Stewart asserted that the arrest, indictment, and prosecution of the Touhy gangsters had been inspired by the syndicate founded by Al Capone in order that the syndicate might take over the Touhy territory in the northwest part of Cook county.

He said the defense would prove that the syndicate had connections in the federal department of investigation, in the police department, and in the state's attorney's office, and had thus been able to accuse the Touhy gang wrongfully of the Factor kidnaping.

Jury Completed by Surprise.

When the afternoon session opened only eight jurors had been accepted by both sides and the completion of the jury seemed remote. At 2:14 p. m. the state tendered a panel of four men which it considered acceptable. Without asking any of the prospective jurors a single question Defense Attorney Stewart announced:

"We accept the four men and ask that they be sworn."

There was astonishment visible on the faces of Judge Feinberg and prosecutors. Touhy and his three henchmen grinned, obviously enjoying the surprise shown.

Without delay the eight previously chosen jurors were called into court and the entire twelve were sworn. Selection of the jury began a week ago, but the task was slowed up by exhaustive examination of veniremen on the part of both state and defense, and by the ousting of two of the first jurors chosen because they had concealed facts about criminal associations.

Courtroom Is Crowded.

When Prosecutor Crowley rose to address the jury the courtroom was packed and a line had already formed outside. The four defendants' expressions varied as the story of the kidnaping was unfolded. Touhy stared at the prosecutor, a slight sneer on his face. McFadden folded his hands in his lap and endeavored to assume an angelic expression. Kator gazed at the ceiling. Schaefer regarded the floor moodily.

"This is a charge of kidnaping for ransom," Crowley began. "On July 1, 1933, the defendants here [pointing them out] seized and secretly confined for a period of twelve days one John Factor for the purpose of extorting $500,000 from him.

Story of the Kidnaping.

"We expect to show you that on Friday night, June 30, Factor, in company wth his wife, Relia; his son, Jerome, and some family friends, including Al Epstein, Sam Hyman, Charles Redlich, and others, repaired to The Dells, a roadhouse on Dempster street, north of Chicago.

"The party left there about 1 a. m. Factor got into his own roadster, which was driven by his son, and sat between Jerome and Epstein.

Factor will testify, the prosecutor said, that when he left the roadhouse he noticed a man run across the yard to a car which was parked on the other side of the road with lights burning and motor running.

The Factor party had proceeded east in Dempster street about a block when it was forced to the curb by this car, Crowley said. A car containing Factor's wife and other women was not molested and continued on. A second gang car appeared and from this automobile and the first one poured a group of men armed with machine guns and shotguns, the prosecutor declared.

"One of these armed men, the state will show was Gus Schaefer and another was Willie Sharkey, who is now dead," Crowley told the jury. [Sharkey committed suicide in a cell in St.

Paul after he had been acquitted with Touhy, McFadden, and Schaefer of the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., wealthy brewer.]

"Factor was first kept in a house in Glenview at Fern and Elm streets for about 24 hours," Prosecutor Crowley went on. "This house was later discovered and identified by Factor as the place he was kept. Factor was later removed to a farmhouse which has not been located."

About ten men took part in the kidnaping, Crowley asserted. All the defendants were at the Glenview house at one time or another, and the house was rented by a business associate of Touhy, the prosecutor said.

He described the negotiations for the ransom of Factor which took place during the following twelve days. On July 2, one Herman Garfield received a telephone call from one of the kidnapers, telling him of Factor's kidnaping and the fact that a $500,000 ransom was demanded. On the following day Dr. Herman Soloway, Factor's physician, was reached by the kidnaping band by telephone and he was instructed how to pay the ransom money, the prosecutor said.

Gang Sends Factor's Ring.

On succeeding days there were more telephone calls, Crowley told the jury. Dr. Soloway asked that a ring of Factor's be sent him as proof that Factor was actually in the gang's hands and the ring was furnished.

The amount of ransom demanded was gradually reduced, Crowley declared, until Factor's family agreed to pay $70,000 in ten and twenty dollar bills.

"Dr. Soloway was instructed to take a cab and drive into the western part of the county," the prosecutor said. "At a certain point a man in a car stopped him and asked: 'Have you got it?' The doctor handed over the money. On the following day, July 12, Factor was released and was found wandering about the streets of La Grange by a policeman."

The prosecutor told of the arrest of Touhy and his men near Elkhorn, Wis., on July 19. At a showup in Chicago Factor identified Sharkey as one of the kidnapers. On July 23 the Glenview house was discovered and Factor pointed out where he had been held in the basement, the prosecutor said.

"The state will show that at the Glenview house Roger Touhy told Factor that a ransom of $500,000 would be asked for his release," Crowley continued.

Henrichsen to Aid State.

W. A. [Buck] Henrichsen, a former highway policeman who became a member of the Touhy gang, will testify for the state at the trial, Crowley indicated. Henrichsen will testify that he rented the Glenview house on June 18 at the request of Tommy Touhy, brother of Roger.

Henrichsen is expected to testify also that Roger Touhy, McFadden, Kator, and Schaefer spent much time in the Glenview place. Furniture taken from a house formerly rented by Roger Touhy was moved into the Glenview house, the state will show, Crowley declared.

A machine gun drum was found in the house by investigators and some of McFadden's clothing and a letter addressed to him, Crowley said. He said the state will show that Touhy maintained another headquarters at 304 Center street, Park Ridge.

Two days after the ransom had been paid Touhy gave Henrichsen $1,000 in ten and twenty dollar bills, presumably part of the ransom money, Crowley said. He told also of the gang's attempts to get another $50,000 from Factor and the elaborate police trap laid for the ransom collectors in the forest preserve near La Grange—a trap which failed dismally.

"A policeman disguised as a telegraph messenger boy and another policeman posing as a cab driver handed two men identified as Basil Banghart and Charles [Ice Wagon] Connors, members of the Touhy gang, a bogus ransom package containing $500, Crowley said, but the two men then eluded the police and escaped. They have never been apprehended.

Defense Attorney Stewart, who had been expected to waive an opening statement, staged another surprise by announcing the unusual defense which the Touhy gangsters will offer.

"It will be my purpose to present certain facts to you showing that these defendants are innocent of this charge," Stewart said to the jury. "In the first place, there will be no dispute of the fact that the Glenview house was rented by some one connected with these defendants. It was rented, however, for an entirely different reason from that claimed by the state, and the cross-examination of Henrichsen will disclose this reason if Buck will admit it."

Attorney Stewart then described Roger Touhy's rise to the rôle of gang leader. Touhy was born on Chicago's west side and received some schooling here and in Downers Grove, the lawyer said. He was for a while a telegraph operator. Touhy will take the stand, Stewart, declared, and tell how the got into the beer running business in the northwest part of Cook county. The attorney disclosed that McFadden will also be a witness in his own defense.

Beer Business Profitable.

"The beer business was profitable for a while," Stewart said, "and Touhy at one time had 23 employés working for him. His route included Schiller park, Niles Center, and villages in the neighborhood. At first there was no rival for the business. You may also conclude that there was no police opposition to his activities.

"He ran his business as peacefully as possible until what is known as the syndicate which was founded by Al Capone cast longing eyes upon his territory.

"The syndicate dealt in beer, whisky, alcohol, gambling and prostitution. The Touhy band dealt only in beer. The syndicate decided to move in on the Touhy territory as conditions began to change and some of the syndicate members began to get into trouble. Finally, the war was on and that is the reason why these defendants had to go heavily armed.

"The syndicate also started gambling at The Dells, where Factor was kidnaped, which was in the heart of the Touhy territory.

"McFadden, it will be shown, was a business agent and trustee for the teamsters' union. His superior was Tim Lynch. The syndicate began to go into the labor unions also. Lynch was assassinated and McFadden was slugged and thrown out of the union. He tried to get back but couldn't."

Attorney Stewart lowered his voice and his gaze flitted from face to face of the 12 men before him as he stated the motive which the defense will attempt to prove is behind the prosecution of the Touhy gangsters.

"The syndicate tried to ambush Touhy and kill him," he said. "They tried every method in the world to force him out of his territory. When that was unsuccessful, they began to accuse the Touhys of everything criminal that happened. The syndicate had made inroads also into the government offices, the police department, and the prosecutor's office and everything was blamed on the Touhy gang."

Prosecutor Crowley Objects.

Prosecutor Crowley jumped to his feet, objecting to this statement.

"He said he's going to prove it," Judge Feinberg remarked, allowing the defense lawyer to continue.

"We know we are facing a serious charge here," Attorney Stewart went on. "We think we'll be in fair shape if we lay our cards on the table. These defendants first heard of Factor when his son [Jerome] was kidnaped and they were charged with it. Lo and behold, one day a raid is made on the Congress hotel and Factor is discovered with Murray Humphries and other members of the syndicate. If Factor's son was kidnaped, his own friends did it, and we believe he paid no ransom in that case."

Plan to Show Factor's History.

The defense will delve into Factor's history in an attack upon his credibility as a witness, Stewart said. It will show that he was a west side barber who manipulated stocks until he got money enough to go to England, the lawyer declared.

"He came back from England with seven millions of dollars and he is now awaiting extradition to England to answer to charges that he got that money fraudulently," Stewart told the jury.

Upon objection of the state the defense attorney was prevented from proceeding into an explanation of the charges against Factor in England.

"This case is a part of Factor's resistance to his extradition," Stewart declared. "He knows these men are innocent, but he is faced with a losing cause and so he joins the law and tries to please them by identifying Touhy and his men. He is not to be trusted and there is no truth in him."

At the close of Stewart's statement Judge Feinberg adjourned court until this morning, when the state will start the presentation of evidence. Factor is expected to be the last state witness to testify.

2 Ex-Envoys to U.S. Among 16 New Italian Senators

ROME, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Two former Italian ambassadors to Washington and a former director of a New Yorok newspaper were among the sixteen new senators appointed by King Victor Emmanuel tonight at the suggestion of Premier Mussolini. The diplomats are Prince Gelasio Gaetani and Baron Camillo Romano Avezzana. The newspaper man is Luigi Barzini, once director of the Corriere D'America. The list also includes eight members of the nobility.

Invader of King Tut's Tomb Seriously Stricken

FINED $10 AND COSTS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Albert Kemitz, 3121 North 7th street paid a fine of $10 and costs in District court today for not steering his car out of the middle of the road Jan. 17, to let a fire truck pass him at North 35th and West State streets.

REPORT BREMER KIDNAPERS ASK CASH ON PHONE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Still missing, with no clews to his whereabouts after seven days of captivity, Edward G. Bremer, 27 year old banker, was believed tonight to be nearer release than at any time since last Wednesday morning, when he was kidnaped for $200,000 ransom.

His distraught family, persistently refusing to cooperate with the police, was said to have established a pay-off contact with the abductors and to have been assured he would be returned either late today or tomorrow. The reputed go-between is Dr. B. T. Nippert, the Bremers' physician, into whose home a medicine bottle supposedly containing a note was hurled last Saturday. A contact by telephone today is reported.

Dr. Nippert strenuously denies that he has been chosen as contact man and the family supports him in the denial. Adolph Bremer, the kidnap victim's father, today reiterated to this writer his assertion that he had no communication with the abductors and begged not to be quoted in an interview. Like the remainder of the family, he seems to have succumbed to a fear psychosis.

Wants His "Boy Back."

"All I want is my boy back," he said. "Nothing else matters."

"But don't you want the gangsters punished?" he was asked.

"I'm not talking about that now," he replied. "Time enough for the law when Eddie is found. If the police bother us we may never see him again."

Despite his attitude, the department of justice has gone into action on a scale unprecedented since the Urschel case. More than 250 agents have been mobilized here under the direction of Harold Nathan, field chief who helped solve the Mary McElroy, August Ticor, and John [Jake the Barber] Factor cases, as well as that of Urschel.

Adolph Bremer, personal friend of President Roosevelt, received direct word from the White House, it was learned today, that all the resources of the government would be invoked to apprehend his son's kidnapers. He didn't want Uncle Sam's aid, but he couldn't help himself.

U. S. Takes Over Case.

The federal agents have taken over the situation, lock, stock, and barrel, ignoring the police of both Twin Cities. They have established headquarters at Minneapolis, raiding many resorts and questioning scores of underworld characters. Nathan, as usual, won't talk for publication. Always courteous, he blandly dismisses newspaper men with remarks about the weather and the state of the skiing sport in Minnesota.

Out of the welter of rumors a few facts definitely have emerged. Outstanding among these is the family's changed point of view within the last two days. Where before the atmosphere around the Bremer home was indicative of melancholy and uncertainty, today it was charged with hope. Close friends made mysterious visits and then dashed away to unannounced destinations. The car from which Bremer was kidnaped, a blue Lincoln with yellow wire wheels, stood in the garage, the doors of which remained open, ready for instant use.

Believe Kidnapers Fear Trap.

Department of justice men ascribe the delay in ransom negotiations to the kidnapers' fear of a trap due to activities of the police and their presence around the Bremer home. They now have been called off, as was done in the Lindbergh case, and the family has been left unhampered to establish its contacts.

A few of the federal agents incline to the theory that Bremer may be dead, citing the bloodstains found on the seat upholstery of his car. These express the opinion that if he isn't back within another 36 hours the family will never see him again.

The most insistent, though unverified, report tonight is that the ransom will be paid over and that Bremer will be home by tomorrow morning. A special newspaper watch is being maintained at his home to follow developments, as the local police are without any information—at least in so far as the press is concerned."

JURORS WHO WILL DECIDE FATE OF 4 TOUHY GANGSTERS

JACKSON BOULEVARD, CHICAGO — FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

LAWYER OFFERS "NRA DEFENSE" IN RACKET TRIAL

Says Defendants Tried to Curb Gangsters.

The activities of 18 defendants on trial in the so-called "racket conspiracy case" were likened yesterday to the efforts of the NRA in setting up codes for the regulation and stabilization of industry.

The comparison was made by Attorney Floyd Thompson, counsel for Ald. Oscar Nelson [46th], one of the defendants, in a general opening statement for the defense in the Criminal court of Judge Philip J. Finnegan. The state charges that the defendants sought to stifle commerce by the contracts they set up for the cleaning and dyeing and various other industries.

Attorney Thompson said the defendants were men of "unimpeachable integrity," and indicated that they would offer in defense that their acts were "done openly and in the presence of the press" and did not constitute a conspiracy.

Trying to End Rackets.

Gangland has preyed upon legitimate business and rackets have flourished in Chicago, the lawyer told the jury. He said, however, that the men now on trial "found out these conditions were existing and were trying to rid the community of them."

Attorney Thompson said the defendants were not indicted for violating an Illinois statute, but were under indictment for violating the common law.

"The common law," he remarked, "is the law which existed in England prior to the year 1608, or 183 years before America became a country."

Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber, who only a few moments earlier had finished telling what he expected to prove against the defendants, raised an objection to the statement and asked Judge Finnegan to inform the jurors that the common law still is the law in Illinois and that those under indictment were bound by it. This Judge Finnegan did.

Comparison with the NRA.

Without regarding either Raber or the judge, Attorney Thompson continued with his address, asserting that the defendants all were men prominent in the community, and added:

"The contracts they prepared for these industries [the laundry, cleaning and dyeing, carbonated beverage and linen supply industries] were almost exact copies of the codes used by the NRA to stabilize industry."

The purpose of the industrial organizations, the lawyer said, were not only stated at public meetings, but the contracts which were prepared were printed and circulated among the employers and the employés.

"The man who circulated these contracts even hired time on the radio to tell all about them," said the attorney. "Is that the way conspirators act?"

The defense attorney asserted that most of the statements made by Raber were false. He pointed out that the prosecutor had related to the jury the facts which had been told him by witnesses.

"Whether or not the witnesses will say these things under oath and from the witness stand later is yet to be seen," Attorney Thompson said.

Capone Named.

"As for Alphonse Capone," Attorney Thompson continued, "I don't know anything about him. He may be a bad man. We will prove, though, that he has been in the Atlanta penitentiary since October, 1931, more than two years before the date charged in the conspiracy indictment."

Here he was corrected by Raber, who said Capone went to Atlanta in May of 1932.

"Anyway Capone was locked up from the date I gave the jury," Attorney Thompson said. "And whatever he has done, you cannot hold us responsible for it unless the state connects us with it."

Judge Finnegan interrupted at this point to tell the lawyer that most of his latter remarks should be saved for his final arguments.

Lawyer Introduces Defendants.

Attorney Thompson then introduced all the defendants in the court room, giving short sketches of the careers of Walter T. Crowley, president of the Master Cleaners and Dyers; T. Henry Klein, president of the Laundry Owners' association; A. J. Canfield, president of the Carbonated Beverage Institute; Dr. Benjamin F. Squires, University of Chicago professor and impartial chairman of the cleaners and dyers' institute, Aaron Sapiro, nationally known trade group organizer; Morris Kaplan, attorney for various Chicago trade associations, and Ald. Nelson, who is counsel for the Laundry and Dye House Drivers' Union No. 712.

The lawyer traced the career of Nelson, who has been vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor since 1911, and who has served on both state and federal labor boards. Thompson said that Nelson had "no opportunity to get a dime" out of the organization of trade associations, his only income being a retainer fee of $200 a month from the drivers' union.

Missing Public Enemy.

Finally Attorney Thompson mentioned that Murray Humphries, gangster and public enemy, and four other defendants had not yet been apprehended by the state. Judge Finnegan told him that the matter was one of concern for the state and not the defense.

During the afternoon Sapiro, who is acting as his own counsel, addressed the jury. He told them the history of his connection with the laundry owners' association in Chicago and denied any wrongdoing. He said his fee for one years' work in aiding this organization was $25,000. Attorneys representing several other defendants will be heard this morning. The first witness will be put on by the state this afternoon.

As soon as the jury appeared at the opening of the morning session, Special Prosecutor Raber put his glass of water on a small table in front of the jury box and resumed his story of the activities of the defendants in organizing laundry owners, which was halted on Monday by the adjournment of court.

"There were about 200 steam laundries here," said Raber. "The purpose of these fellows was to get them all into a solid organization and create a monopoly. Aaron Sapiro and Ald. Nelson were the ones responsible for establishing the monopoly.

"The plan was to charge any one who wouldn't belong to the organization $40.50 a week as salary for the laundry drivers. All those who did belong were to get their drivers at $30.

"The organizers were to get $1 a week for every truck used by the laundry owners. This would amount to about $120,000 a year in good times. Bad times came along and cut it about in half. All this money was to go to George Knott, business agent of the Laundry Drivers' union, which was the same union which did the hauling for the cleaners and dyers.

Cites Case of Laundry.

"Now take the Edgewater laundry. The owner refused to join, but ran along for six weeks after the new rates for organization members went into effect, paying his drivers $40.50 a week. Then he notified them that he was going to pay only $30 a week.

"Knott, Bush, Rado, Cook, and Frank—they all are under indictment here—went out to where the trucks were kept and they prevented their drivers from taking them out. Two nonunion drivers were assaulted and the defendants here began a 'stripping of the Edgewater routes,' which is the taking of the customers over to another laundry. This sort of thing went on until the owners gave in and the organizers regulated all the laundry activities and prices."

Raber said that Klein, the president of the Laundry Owners' association, collected $44,000 from his members and paid most of it to Knott, who made no accounting. Raber charged that the money was kept by Knott and divided with Humphries and a few others. He charged that Knott had falsified pay rolls of his workers in order to show the $44,000 as having been utilized legitimately.

On Beverage Bottlers.

Alleged terroristic methods employed in welding together the carbonated beverage bottlers next were related by the prosecutor. He said that membership was to be restricted to seventy, although there were between 140 and 150 merchants in the business in Chicago when the organization was formed.

Membership fees, he said, were fixed at $100, with an additional fee of 2 per cent of net profits to be turned over to the union. Later this percentage was increased to 2 per cent of the gross business, Raber said. In a number of cases bombs were exploded during the organization of the merchants, he said.

Crash Reconciles Actor and Ex-Wife

ELAINE MELCHOIR.

Was Seriously Hurt

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The automobile accident that nearly killed Lyle Talbot, motion picture actor, has resulted in his reconciliation with his divorced wife, Elaine Melchoir, Talbot said tonight. He was badly hurt last October when his automobile, becoming unmanageable, crashed into a house, Talbot sustaining gashes about the head and other injuries.

Miss Melchoir, in New York, read of his trouble and now Talbot says, "My ex-wife and I are very friendly. It is possible that we may remarry. I am trying to get her started in motion pictures. So even an accident, you see, sometimes brings good luck."

2 MACHINE GUN BANDITS GET $300 IN CEMETERY

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Deidecker and Robert Wagner, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Howard Rice, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; David Patterson, John Tylor and Paul Waller, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Eddie Black, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Donald F. Smith, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Sam Jones, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Nick Pecda, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Gruver C. Niemeyer.

On the pretext of desiring to visit a grave, two bandits carrying submachine guns entered the Mount Carmel cemetery in Hillside yesterday and took $300 in cash and $120 in checks from a vault in an office. They drove slowly into the grounds and walked leisurely up to the office door, but once inside they accelerated their movements. Swinging their weapons from beneath their coats they threatened death to Robert Davey, the superintendent; Miss Elsie Lasar, 22 years old, his assistant, and Earl Bartholomew, 28 years old, 4221 Washington boulevard, another employé. The bandits fled after forcing their victims into the vault and closing, but not locking the door.

RUNAWAY BOY FOUND.

Arthur Minnick, 13 years old, was arrested yesterday in the loop offices of the Nevin Bus company shortly after he arrived here from his home in New York which he fled with $55 of his father's savings when he started for Hollywood to join the movies.

COP CAPTURED AFTER HE ROBS STATION ON I. C.

Bullets Stop His Flight After Holdup.

Policeman Boyle Bernot, who combined robbery with his police work, was captured by fellow policemen last night as he fled after robbing the ticket office in the Illinois Central station at 60th street for the third time. He confessed that he had committed 14 robberies during the 10 months he has been on the police force.

Yesterday afternoon Bernot, who is 28 years old and six feet tall, left the New City police station, where he was a member of a "flivver" squad, and drove home in the automobile without license plates he has been using since he stole it last Oct. 15.

He changed from his uniform into plain clothes and drove to the I. C. station, parked his car outside, and went in on the pretext of buying a ticket. As the ticket seller, Mrs. Martha Payne, 1739 West Monroe street, turned to get his ticket, Bernot leveled his revolver and ordered her to "stick 'em up."

Detective Opens Fire.

She handed over $29.50, which the policeman put in his pocket. But as he turned to leave John Hughes, a railroad detective who had been secreted in the ticket cage because of the numerous holdups there, opened fire.

He fired two shots, which pierced the door but missed Bernot. Hughes followed the fleeing man into the street and fired three more shots as Bernot tried to enter his car, one of the bullets breaking the windshield. Bernot then abandoned his efforts to open the car door and crawled underneath the automobile as Hughes fired his last shot at him.

Just then a police squad which had received a radio message on the robbery drove up. They surrounded Bernot's car and ordered him to come out from under it.

Shows His Police Star.

Bernot crawled out holding his police star, No. 1,780, in his hand.

"I'm a policeman myself," he said. Then he pleaded, "Gee, fellows! I'm in an awful fix this time."

At the detective bureau he confessed that besides robbing the 60th street station three times he had held up the 66th street station and the 69th street station twice each, and the 55th, 57th, and 79th street stations once each. He said he also had robbed a bakery and three candy stores. He confessed that he stole the automobile from Miss Helen Fitch on Oct. 15 when it was parked in front of her home at 5000 Cornell avenue.

Bernot was married last June and lives at 8138 Drexel boulevard. He said he turned to robbery because "I didn't get paid, my wife is going to have a baby, and I owed rent and back payments on my furniture."

STATE DIRECTOR OBJECTS TO TAX AS ADDED ITEM

J. M. Braude, associate director of the state department of finance, who has been carrying on a controversy with Chicago merchants over the proposal to make the sales tax "visible" by adding a separate item to retail prices covering the cost of the tax, yesterday issued a statement at Springfield charging that that practice would encourage profiteering.

"Harmful as is that illegal method of shifting the retailers occupation tax from merchants to consumers, the incentive and encouragement it gives to profiteering are worse," Braude asserted. A number of Illinois merchants, chiefly those operating chain stores, apparently have aligned themselves with the campaign and excuse their profiteering with high sounding but meaningless catchwords.

Officials of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, which is organizing the movement for a "visible tax" denied that it is a violation of the tax law to add to the retail price a separate item representing the added cost of doing business because of the tax. They likewise denied Braude's charge of profiteering, stating that a merchant must pass the tax along to the consumer in any event, either as a separate item or by increasing the markup of the goods he offers for sale.

WINE AT DINNER PROBABLE PLAN FOR ROOSEVELTS

Women Reporters to Get Story.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—When it was decided to serve beer (legal brew) at the White House it was Mrs. Roosevelt who made the announcement. It was the newspaper women, not the newspaper men, who got the story.

When wine and hard liquor become legal in the District of Columbia, the 5th of February, the White House must make a decision about serving them. Again it will be the gals, not the boys, who get the news.

Mrs. Roosevelt Explains.

At this morning's press conference the women asked Mrs. Roosevelt: "What about wine at dinner?"

"I can't make any announcement," she replied, "until after the President has signed the bill legalizing it in the district."

Then Mrs. Roosevelt added that if her husband had signed the bill before her next Monday morning press conference she'd make her statement at that weekly meeting.

But the girls persisted that the men would get the news from the President, when he signed the bill, and then it woud be a cold story for the girls a few days later.

the sofa; rushed into her bedroom; telephoned the executive offices; got

So Mrs. Roosevelt jumped up from Miss Margaret Le Hand, her husband's secretary; tipped her off that she, Mrs. Roosevelt, would make the press announcement about the personal liquor program for the White House; while President Roosevelt would merely sign the general bill.

Expect Wine at Dinners.

So the gals are glad. Their hunch is that Mrs. Roosevelt will serve wine at formal dinners; but no hard liquor.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who has been spending the week-end in Warm Springs, Ga., attempted to fly back from Atlanta last night. A heavy fog forced her down at Greensboro, N. C.; she had to come the rest of the way by train, arriving here at 2 this morning.

But she was on deck for her 11 o'clock conference. She went to luncheon with Mrs. H. L. Ickes, wife of the secretary of the interior; dedicated a hospital; met a congressman bearing gifts of hooked rugs from Maine; entertained sixty at dinner; and stayed up until midnight to listen to the music that 100 other guests came in to hear.

While away she visited the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

No, she did not see Chicago's Al Capone. He was in the dining room.

FOE OF LONG HAS LEAD FOR MAYOR OF NEW ORLEANS

Walmsley Ticket Piling Up Nominating Margin.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The old regular organization of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, which broke up an alliance with the Huey P. Long political machine to seek reelection of its ticket on a straight anti-Long issue, tonight piled up a commanding lead in today's Democratic mayoralty primary.

Returns compiled from the slow count at midnight gave Walmsley and his ticket nearly a clear nominating majority, but the two other major contenders, John Klorer, the Long candidate, and Francis Williams, independent, who based his campaign on bitter opposition to the Long régime, indicated the issue would be forced into a second primary as they fought a neck and neck race for the second place total behind Walmsley.

50 Precincts Heard From.

Only 50 precincts from the city's 262 had been officially compiled at midnight, and these gave Walmsley, 7,904; Klorer, 4,745; Williams, 4,218; and Herbert H. Homes, an independent, 74.

"The nomination of mayor Walmsley by a clear majority in the first primary is indicated," said Walmsley headquarters.

"It would be vain to issue statements about the outcome at this hour, with the returns so irregular and showing no uniformity from precinct to precinct," said Senator Long at his downtown hotel headquarters.

"There will be a second primary and I will be in it," said Williams.

Newspapers' Figures.

The New Orleans Item-Tribune, which supported Walmsley, at midnight gave these figures from 50 precincts: Walmsley, 7,976; Klorer, 5,170; Williams, 4,468.

The New Orleans Times-Tribune, which supported Williams, gave these figures from 53 precints: Walmsley, 8,446; Klorer, 5,180; Williams, 4,759.

Senator Long said at that hour that his returns from 72 precincts showed Walmsley, 13,934; Klorer, 8,929; Williams, 7,738.

MYRTLE AND HER COP'S WIFE TAKE TURNS ON STAND

tingham may testify for Mrs. Blacklidge. A recent United States Supreme court ruling upset the old law that husband and wife could not testify against each other.

Yesterday's testimony was given before a packed courtroom. Mrs. Blacklidge and Mrs. Nottingham each had a clique of her own friends in court. At the noon recess a crowd of them clustered around Mrs. Nottingham and one was heard saying, "You done swell, kid."

Says Cop Pursued Her.

In her turn on the stand during the afternoon Mrs. Blacklidge, testifying under the questioning of her attorney, Eugene P. Meegan, declared that Nottingham had pursued her.

"Did you chase after Mr. Nottingham or was he the aggressor?" asked Mr. Meegan. This question brought an objection from Attorney Murphy O. Tate, representing Mrs. Nottingham, and the objection was sustained. The question was changed to "Was he the one who called you all the time?"

Mrs. Blacklidge tossed a playful glance at the jury from her blue eyes as she answered:

Traces Their Friendship.

Speaking with businesslike brevity, Mrs. Blacklidge, under the sympathetic guidance of Mr. Meegan, traced her friendship with Nottingham back to the days when he was a delivery boy for a grocery. Later, when she was supervisor in the county recorder's office, she helped him get a job in the police department, she said.

"When did you next see him?" Attorney Meegan asked.

"After that trouble we had at 940 East 82d street," Mrs. Blacklidge said. "I lived in an apartment building there. At the time I belonged to two bridge clubs, and whenever I did any entertaining the woman below me called the police, even if my guests left at 11 o'clock. Why, she claimed that my guests were climbing on the chandeliers, and there weren't any chandeliers.

"Mr. Nottingham didn't come to arrest me, as has been stated. But after this trouble he came to call just to ask if there was something he could do to help me."

Mrs. Blacklidge made it clear she didn't know Nottingham was a married man then, and said he mentioned three girls he had. The "gen-u-wine friendship" developed at that time, she said. She also pointed out in reply to questions that she had to close her dress shop at 1519 East 57th street, which was mentioned in earlier testimony as one of her trysti. "I places with the policeman, "because in five months I had three burglaries and one holdup."

Get Their Names Confused.

At various times throughout the questioning of Mrs. Blacklidge and Mrs. Nottingham the attorneys became confused and addressed one woman as the other one. Attorney Meegan apologized to Mrs. Nottingham when she objected to being called Mrs. Blacklidge. When he questioned his own client he called her Mrs. Nottingham. "Please call me Mrs. Blacklidge," she said with some asperity.

Mr. Meegan sought to show that nothing more than the kisses Mrs. Blacklidge admittedly gave to Nottingham ever passed between them.

Q.—Did you keep your shades up or down at night? A.—Always up. And certainly any one with the sense of a 7 year old child would not leave them up if they were doing anything indiscreet.

Q.—And did you ever have improper relations with Mr. Nottingham, Mrs. Blacklidge? A.—Absolutely not.

Under Cross-Examination.

In cross-examination by Attorney Tate, who also called Mrs. Blacklidge "Mrs. Nottingham" and was corrected, it was brought out that she gave Nottingham "two dollars or two and a half a week when he wasn't getting paid."

On direct examination Mrs. Blacklidge had said she told Nottingham that if he would be happier with Mrs. Nottingham he should stick to her. Now Attorney Tate asked her:

"Didn't your letters mean that you wanted Nottingham to get rid of his wife and live in perfect bliss with you?"

"Perhaps that's it," said Mrs. Blacklidge, "but that was two years ago."

The letters in question were four in number, written by Mrs. Blacklidge to Nottingham in 1932 while she was staying at her sister's home in Flora, Ill. Mrs. Nottingham claims that she found the letters in her husband's clothing. Attorney Tate continued his cross examination of Mrs. Blacklidge:

Q.—Are you in love with Nottingham? A.—Did you say so? I didn't.

Q.—Isn't it the truth you made love to him? A.—If you call that love what I wrote in the letters. That's what folks write, but it means nothing when it gets cold. If that's what you mean, yes.

Q.—When did you change your mind about wanting to marry him? A.—Some time ago. Maybe I never did want to marry him.

LOSES ALIMONY

MRS. JENNIE DE MARTEL.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court yesterday denounced the collection of alimony under a separate maintenance decree by a wife who is earning more than her husband. He struck out of the decree of Mrs. Jennie De Martel the provision requiring Alphone De Martel, 1915 Emerson street, to pay her $8 a week.

De Martel, a building manager, is out of work. He charged that his wife is receiving $100 a week for singing minor rôles with the Chicago Grand Opera company. She is known in opera as Jennie De Meester.

MRS. NOTTINGHAM

Mrs. Nottingham proved the equal of Mrs. Blacklidge for poise on the witness stand. A smile played about her mouth whenever she told instances of her success in her sleuthing efforts. As she described the partly unclad appearance of her husband and Mrs. Blacklidge in the latter's apartmen at 219 East 79th street, observed by the witness from the roof of an adjoining store building, her s m i l e widened.

"I think it was in July, 1933," said Mrs. Nottingham, "I saw my husband walking in his underwear. I could only see from the waistline up. I don't know what he had on below the waist."

"I object, your honor," cried Attorney Meegan, rising and chewing gum with vigor. "She can't testify to what she didn't see."

"Well, she isn't," Judge Weaver said in a tired manner.

"What did Mrs. Blacklidge have on?" asked Attorney Tate.

"Well," answered Mrs. Nottingham with the same smile, "she was kind of bare above the waist. I don't mean to say she was absolutely bare. She may have had a chemise on."

"And where were you?" her attorney asked gently.

"I was on top of the store, a one story building, next to her apartment. I could see right in. The blinds were up," she replied.

Q.—And how did you get up? A.—O, on bushel baskets.

Q.—What were Mrs. Blacklidge and your husband doing? A.—Nothing in particular. They walked back and forth. They were in the kitchenette. Then they went in the bedroom and turned the lights off there and that was the end of it.

As late as last Sunday night, Mrs. Nottingham testified, she saw her husband, from her position in an alley, enter the 79th street apartment by the back door about midnight. At 3 a. m. she gave up the watch and went home, not having seen her husband emerge. He arrived home at 8 a. m., she said.

[On Monday Mrs. Blacklidge testified that she now resides at 5639 South Marshfield avenue, but also uses the 79th street apartment.]

In the Dress Shop.

On another occasion, Sept. 11, 1932, Mrs. Nottingham went on, she followed her husband to the rear of Mrs. Blacklidge's dress shop in 57th street, parked her car in the alley, climbed on top of the car and looked into the shop.

"I saw my husband ready for bed," she said slowly, "and he and Mrs. Blacklidge were drinking highballs. He had on pajamas. She had something pink on. I can't say whether it was pajamas or a nightgown. That's all I saw. The lights went out. I stood there till 1 o'clock. Then I went home. I don't know what happened after that."

Some of the questions Attorney Tate addressed to Mrs. Nottingham and her replies follow:

Q.—How old are you? A.—Thirty-six years old. [Mrs. Blacklidge is 42, according to her testimony, and Policeman Nottingham is 35.]

Q.—Where were you married? A.—At Waukegan, on May 8, 1922.

Q.—What business was your husband in then? A.—He worked in the postoffice. He entered the police force 11½ years ago.

Q.—Were any children born of this marriage? A.—Yes, Jeanette.

Q.—Tell the jury if your home life was a happy one before the baby came. A.—Very happy.

Q.—And after the baby came? A.—Even happier. Mr. Nottingham was wonderful then. There was no one like him.

Q.—Did he ever run around with other women, to your knowledge, then? A.—No, sir.

Q.—When did the break come? A.—When this woman [indicating Mrs. Blacklidge with a nod of the head] stepped in. Then trouble began.

Q.—What did your husband do then? A.—He'd stay out nights. Anything I'd do was wrong. Anything I'd say was wrong.

Attorney Lowers His Voice.

At this juncture Attorney Tate lowered his voice and said impressively: "And did he then cease his attentions to you as a husband?"

Mrs. Nottingham looked at him blankly.

"Do you understand what I mean?" persisted Attorney Tate gently, as if fearing to shock his client.

She shook her head.

"Well, did you live with him as man and wife?" Attorney Tate asked with increased gentleness.

"O, no, not after I found out about that woman," Mrs. Nottingham said brusquely. "Not after Feb. 25, 1932, when I saw my husband and Mrs. Blacklidge in his car. I didn't know her name then. I found out she lived at 940 East 82d street."

The next time she saw them together, Mrs. Nottingham testified, was May 5, 1932, when she watched her husband and Mrs. Blacklidge enter the Crest hotel and register at the desk. After that, she said, she talked to him about Mrs. Blacklidge and "he said he was going to quit but to give him time."

Says She Wanted to Fight.

On Thanksgiving night, 1932, at midnight, she and her daughter were coming from a friend's house and met Policeman Nottingham and Mrs. Blacklidge in Kedzie avenue, she said. Attorney Tate questioned her further.

Q.—What did you do then? A.—I went for Mrs. Blacklidge.

Q.—You mean you wanted to fight? A.—Yes, I got after her, but my husband grabbed me. Then he said to her, "Beat it," and Mrs. Blacklidge ran down the street. He wanted to throw me to the pavement, but I grabbed his star. Then he pushed it into my fingers so that he cut my hand and it bled.

Mrs. Nottingham testified that she had to keep on living in the same home with Nottingham, at 8453 Vernon avenue, because she had no money and no relatives to whose residences she could go. She explained with some care to the jury that she occupied the back bedroom and her husband used the front bedroom of the bungalow home.

Does Some More Sleuthing.

Then she told with pride how she had found Mrs. Blacklidge and her shop in 57th street after discovering love letters from Mrs. Blacklidge to Nottingham.

"Calcimine had been mixed on my stove," she said, "and I knew from her letters he was going to help decorate her shop. So I searched for a week and a half until I found a shop where the calcimine matched that which he'd mixed. I found it, and them."

Attorney Tate concluded his examination by asking her if she thought her husband still was infatuated with Mrs. Blacklidge. Mrs. Nottingham said she thought he was.

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION

Under cross-examination by Attorney Meegan Mrs. Nottingham said dramatically that "no money could buy what she [Mrs. Blacklidge] took away from me."

From the cross-examination it appeneys will base part of their defense on Nottingham's alleged domestic qualities, which, they maintain, continued uninterrupted. Some of Mr. Meegan's questions and Mrs. Nottingham's answers were:

Q.—Did your husband do any housework in the last two years? A.—When I was sick.

Q.—Did he always scrub the floors? A.—No. I might say once.

Q.—You've been afflicted with asthma for two years? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did it confine you to your bed? A.—No, only my worries did that.

Asked if Nottingham hadn't bought her a formal evening dress from Mrs. Blacklidge, she said he had, that it cost $2.

"You never even told Mrs. Blacklidge, 'you stay away from my husband'?" he asked Mrs. Nottingham.

"He'd told me he'd kill me if I did," she said.

Litsinger's Name Mentioned.

The name of Edward R. Litsinger attorney, politician, and automobile dealer, was brought into testimony for the first time in the cross-examination of Mrs. Nottingham. She admitted attempting to see Litsinger after reading of Mrs. Blacklidge's connection with him in newspapers, but questioning by her own attorney brought out the fact that he had refused to see her, sending word he was not interested in domestic troubles.

In January of 1931 Mrs. Blacklidge, then collector of internal revenue for the federal district of northern Illinois, lost $50,000 of Litsinger's money in a faro game at Springfield. The game was run by swindlers and Litsinger charged that Mrs. Blacklidge was a knowing participant. She has a suit pending against him charging libel.

CHILD ON STAND

When 7 year old Jeanette Nottingham took the stand for her mother during the morning session attorneys for Mrs. Blacklidge objected, but they were overruled by Judge Weaver. A child with a pale face and hair elaborately curled, Jeanette said in response to Attorney Tate's questioning that she knew the difference between truth and lies and that "any one who lies goes to the bad man."

Jeanette testified that her mother slept with her in a back bedroom of their bungalow home, and that her father slept in a front bedroom when he was there.

She told with vivid detail how she and her mother met "daddy and Myrtle—that is, Mrs. Blacklidge"—on that Thanksgiving night of 1932, and how "daddy slapped mamma and cut her hand."

"Daddy Does Washing."

Cross-examined by Attorney Meegan, Jeanette said that when her mother is sick "daddy does the washing when it isn't sent to the laundry." She admitted that at times her father had washed and ironed her clothes and dressed her for school. She said he had made thirty gallons of wine, but denied, in answer to Meegan's question, that the wine was for her mother.

When court adjourned late in the afternoon Mrs. Blacklidge had not completed her testimony and she will resume the witness stand this morning.

State Will Fight Release of Dr. Wynekoop on Bond

Buoyed in spirit by her release from the nervous tension of court appearances, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop yesterday showed marked physical improvement in her private cell at the county jail. The elderly physician, whose illness halted her trial Monday for the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, was said to be feeling better than at any time since her confinement two months ago.

Although the doctor was refreshed by a good night's sleep and partook of more food than usual, physicians said she was by no means out of danger. Twice during the night, according to Dr. Constantine Theodore, assistant physician of the jail, she complained of recurrent heart pains. Her pulse and temperature continued to be slightly abnormal.

Will Ask Release.

Dr. Wynekoop's attorneys, W. W. Smith and Milton D. Smith, said they would seek her release on bail because, they say, confinement in jail is endangering her life. They will make their pleas for release so that she may be hospitalized.

Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty announced he would contest such a move. He said bail on a murder charge is permissible only when there is strong presumption of innocence. For Dr. Wynekoop such a plea would be unconscionable, he added.

The prosecutor also denied statements that Dr. Wynekoop will never be brought to trial again. He revealed he plans to go before Chief Justice Phillip J. Finnegan Friday morning to ask for reassignment of the case. The case was sent to the chief justice by Judge Joseph B. David after he had declared the mistrial.

No Double Jeopardy.

Dougherty said he hoped to proceed with the case within 30 days. He scouted reports that attorneys for the doctor might raise the question of double jeopardy by stating the mistrial was granted on motion of her attorneys. Had it been sought by the state the question might be raised, he said.

Dr. Wynekoop slept from 11 p. m. Monday until 6:30 yesterday morning. She was awake during this time for two brief periods. During the day she rested quietly, dosing now and then. Her food consisted chiefly of fruit juices, toast, crackers and milk.

Sabath Thinks Couple Are Still in Love.

John MacGregor Willits, insurance broker, and his ex-wife, Mrs. Margaret Liggett Willits, may insist their love is dead, but Judge Joseph Sabath thinks it still lives. He said so yesterday in the Superior court after he had finished hearing testimony on the incident a week ago, when it was charged that Willits called his former wife a bad name, she slapped his face, and he retaliated by knocking her down.

Judge Sabath refused Willits' petition to change the provisions of Mrs. Willits' divorce decree and give him custody of their two children, Jane, 4 years old, and Anne, 2, whom he kidnaped during the Christmas season from their mother's home in Swampscott, Mass., charging that she neglected them to attend cocktail parties.

Mother Keeps Children.

Mrs. Willits is to keep the children, but must not take them out of Cook county, Judge Sabath ruled. Willits is to have them during the months of July and August, and during the remainder of the year may have them on Saturday or Sunday of each week.

"I still think they are in love with each other," said Judge Sabath after the lawyers had finished their final arguments yesterday, "and can get together at some future date.

"I will not discuss the evidence in this matter because it is unpleasant and I do not wish to hurt either of these parties or, most of all, the children."

A week ago Judge Sabath made an effort to reconcile the couple, adjourning the court hearing to usher them and the children before the famous imitation fireplace in his chambers which serves as a background for his missionary efforts toward marital felicity.

How Many Drinks?

Mr. and Mrs. Willits agreed to take supper together that evening and attempt to compose their differences, but when the trial was resumed the proceedings were enlivened by the varying accounts of the scene during which Willits is alleged to have knocked his former wife down in the home of her friend, Mrs. Helen Watson, 859 Sheridan road, Winnetka.

Mrs. Willits charged that Willits was intoxicated on that occasion and there was a variance of testimony yesterday as to how many drinks she had had herself.

The children are to remain with their father until Friday to give their mother time to engage a home for them. On Friday Willits will also answer a contempt of court citation sought by Mrs. Willits because he is $55 in arrears in payments for the support of the children.

Former Sec. Jardine to Head Wichita U.

Wichita, Kas., Jan. 23.—(AP)—W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture under President Coolidge and minister to Egypt in the Hoover administration, will become president of the University of Wichita at the end of the present school term, to succeed Dr. H. W. Foght, now on leave of absence.

CHURCH INCOME DECREASES, SO JOBS ARE LOPPED

Because reduced income has rendered economy imperative, the national staff of the Congregational and Christian churches is to be cut sharply and the offices of the commission on missions at Dayton, O., and Washington, D. C., closed. An announcement to this effect was made last night after a meeting of the executive officers and boards held at the First Congregational church of Evanston.

Of the 53 secretaries now on the national staff 16 are to be dropped. However, the central office of the churches in New York and the regional offices in Chicago and Boston will be retained.

The report on the national staff was presented to the commission on missions by a special committee headed by the Rev. Oscar E. Maurer of New Haven, Conn. Some of the secretaries to be dropped will retire on account of age.

CUBA RECOGNIZED BY U. S.; SEES END OF REVOLT ERA

Island Elated at Action by Roosevelt.

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The United States recognition of Cuba late today was heralded as the end of six months of revolution and strife in this little republic.

In a brief and quiet ceremony at the state department Jefferson Caffery, acting for the United States government, handed Secretary of State Cosme de la Torriente the document confirming American good will and notifying Cubans that the United States is ready to resume normal diplomatic relations.

Wyoming Fires Salute.

Immediately after the visit, which Cubans hoped is the first step in economic and political help for this war torn island republic, the American warship Wyoming opened a 21-gun salute. Its first shot furnished a climax to a period of happiness which began with the elevation of Carlos Mendieta to the presidency last Thursday.

Soldiers, sailors, and civilians fired thousands of shots into the air and factory and steamship whistles almost drowned the noice of the salutes.

As ancient Cabanas fortress answered the Wyoming's courtesy the cheering along the waterfront became louder and the celebration wilder.

Palace Scene of Jubilation.

The presidential palace was the scene of intense jubilation as hundreds of persons tried to enter the building to congratulate the veteran Mendieta.

American newspapermen motoring through the city were followed by crowds of cheering persons many of whom tried to climb on the running boards and all of whom shouted enthusiastic vivas.

The formal notification of recognition was understood to read as follows:

"I have the honor to inform your excellency that I have been instructed by the secretary of state of my government, under the authorization of the President of the United States of America, to extend to the government of Cuba on behalf of the United States a formal and cordial recognition. I avail myself of this opportunity to extend to your excellency the assurance of my highest consideration."

Recognized by Other Nations.

After the ceremony Secretary de la Torriente announced that Italy, Chile and Santo Domingo had also given notice of their recognition and that Panama and Mexico automatically recognized Cuba under the Estrada doctrine. He added the French minister also announced he would call to communicate recognition by France.

Meanwhile the government devoted attention to the island's strike problems. The Cuban Electric company strike was in the hands of arbitration committees, but the plants were being operated on a normal basis under a temporary truce. There were indications that the medical strike might be called off for 30 days to allow Mendieta time to investigate the trouble.

U. S. to Aid Stabilization.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—With recognition of Cuba an accomplished fact, President Roosevelt and his advisers tonight turned to discussions of ways by which the United States can assist in stabilizing President Carlos Mendieta's government.

Abrogation of the Platt amendment legalising United States interference, admission of 1,700,000 to 2,000,000 tons of Cuban sugar annually, and lowering of the tariff on Cuban products, are among the questions to be decided by the President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Jefferson Caffery, personal representative of President Roosevelt, will become ambassodor to Cuba upon presentation of his credentials. The Cuban envoy to Washington will be Manuel Marquez Sterling, former Cuban secretary of state.

MARTIN INSULL'S FATE IN HANDS OF CANADIAN COURT

Fugitive Released on Bail Pending Verdict.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 23. — Judgment was reserved by the Ontario Supreme court today on the appeal of Martin J. Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities promoter, against extradition to the United States. Insull is wanted in Chicago to stand trial upon charges of larceny, embezzlement, and theft by bailee.

Insull's request for renewal of bail was granted by the chief justice, Sir William Mulock. No objection was offered by Edward Bayly, deputy attorney general for Ontario, representing the state of Illinois. The amount was set at $30,000, consisting of his own recognizance of $20,000 and the personal bond of John C. Curran of Toronto for $10,000.

Returns to Orillia.

Insull must be in court when judgment is delivered on the appeal. He returned to his Orillia home this afternoon.

Argument against upsetting the extradition order was advanced by Bayly in a brief address.

"The judgment by Justice Garrow makes the whole thing so clear that I do not intend to go into it at any length," said Mr. Bayly. He recapitulated the main line argument adopted by Justice Garrow in his judgment upholding Justice Kingstone's extradition order, which was that he was not concerned with the value of the securities used by Insull to pay brokerage debts, and that to say stolen property even more valuable was not to make the offense any less a theft.

"It would be nice if you could get out of theft by saying that it was a purchase," Bayly said. "In good times they treat the companies as if they owned them; then when hard times come along they find they have done something criminal."

Insull Renews Complaint.

Prior to the pleading by Bayly, J. C. McRuer, counsel for Insull, reverted to his protest of yesterday respecting refusal of the Canadian court to appoint a commission to take evidence in Chicago.

"Every one who is charged under the criminal code of Canada can apply for a commission abroad," he maintained. "Such a commission should have been set up whether the testimony given was for or against Insull."

I. F. Hellmuth, senior counsel for Insull, followed Bayly in argument. He said Justice Garrow's ruling was directly "in the teeth of this court." He cited precedents contrary to the Garrow finding. The indictment itself, he maintained, was not evidence in an extradition case. At most there had been only "a suspicion of criminality," he declared, and "a very strong suspicion is not enough to warrant extradition. You must get a prima facie case."

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND STOCK AT LIBERTYVILLE

Fire of unknown origin caused damage of $15,000 last night when it attacked a barn on the Pushman brothers' estate a mile north of Libertyville on Lake street and burned 20 head of stock and four buildings. The owners of the 100 acre farm are rug importers with headquarters at 18 South Wabash avenue.

In the barn were 75 tons of hay, 17 Guernsey cows, three Jerseys, and two horses, all of which burned. Two small outhouses and a pumphouse also burned. Firemen from Libertyville under the command of Chief Edward Schneider were summoned by a passing motorist, but when they reached the scene they were held at bay for some time until they clubbed two police dogs which tried to keep them from entering the premises.

One of the renters of the estate, Gildo Schincarol, his wife, and caretaker were the only persons on the farm and they were still asleep in a cabin 100 feet north of the barn when the firemen arrived. The other renter, John Lazzarotto, is in Italy.

GOVERNOR ASKS OBSERVANCE OF ROOSEVELT DAY

Gov. Horner yesterday issued a proclamation urging the people of Illinois to observe Tuesday, Jan. 30, as "President Roosevelt's anniversary day" and to participate in birthday parties to endow the Warm Springs foundation.

"It is our purpose," the proclamation said, "in paying tribute to our President to arrange and attend birthday and anniversary celebrations in his honor throughout the state so that we may all become active participants with him in the noble service to humanity he instituted at Warm Springs, Ga., for the rehabilitation of crippled persons."

A score of national groups will enact a pageant at the benefit show, Chicago's largest celebration, at the Auditorium theater. Among the groups which have indicated they will take part are those from Bulgaria, Irish Free State, Japan, Latvia, Norway, Rumania, India, Czechoslovakia, Netherlands, Hungary, Ukrainia, Italy, Poland, Sweden, Scotland, Jewish people, Greece, Germany, France, England, China, and Belgium.

Burglars Make Every Day a Wash Day in This Home

Every day will be wash day for a while at the home of Alfred Lee, 7314 Ridgeland avenue, the police were informed yesterday. Burglars broke into the basement of their home and stole the family wash which include almost all the clothes of Lee, his wife and their three children, Robert, 6 years old; Phyllis, 7, and Monroe, 10, except those they were wearing.

U. S. TO PROBE ALL OF INSULL RECEIVERSHIPS

Receiverships of Samuel Insull's holding and investment companies will be examined "from top to bottom" by the congressional committee which is returning here late in February to resume hearings on federal receiverships, which were adjourned last fall.

This was announced yesterday by George F. Cummerow, committee investigator, after the opening of a "town meeting," called by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, to determine whether fraud had been practiced on his court in the receivership of the Middle West Utilities company, largest of the Insull holding corporations. Following a formal announcement of the mode of procedure of the "town meeting" by Attorney Henry T. Green, court adviser, the Middle West hearing was continued to Feb. 6.

Overshadowing the Insull receivership matters before the congressional committee, Mr. Cummerow said, will be an inquiry on insurance receiverships in the federal court jurisdiction here.

"The committee will go into the operation of the companies by their officers, the reasons for their failure, and the disposition of the properties in receivership—all with a view to remedial legislation," Mr. Cummerow said.

Robber Gang Holds Up Two North Side Hotels

Three robbers entered the office of the Berwyn Beach apartment hotel, 1049 Berwyn avenue, yesterday. One of them held up the manager, Mrs. Gertrude Aurich, 24 years old, while a companion vaulted a railing and snatched $36 from a cash drawer. Fifteen minutes later, while Summerdale police were searching the neighborhood for the robbers, three gunmen, believed to be the same ones, entered the Frances apartment hotel, 5054 Winthrop avenue, and took $12 from the clerk, Mrs. Ann Dearkland.

Girl Obeys Her Conscience, Confesses Robbing a Home

Because her "conscience told her to face the music," Irene Hunter, 17 years old, yesterday confessed to the Chicago avenue police that last Saturday she robbed the home of Mrs. Gordon Grant, 641 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park. She quit as Mrs. Grant's maid on Friday after a dispute over wages, then, returning the next afternoon when there was no one at home, she took three dresses, a suit, a hat, and a purse, she said. She was turned over to the Oak Park police.

CARPENTER KILLED AT WORK.

Benjamin Levin, 47 years old, 1323 South Central Park avenue, a carpenter, was killed yesterday when he fell from a ladder while working in the basement of a home at 1321 Independence boulevard.

MILLER AGAIN CITED BY U. S. FOR CONTEMPT

Maloy Tax Witness Will Face Judge Once More.

E. D. [Jack] Miller, president of the Exhibitors' Association of Chicago, an organization of large movie owners, was ordered yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes to appear in court on Saturday and show why he should not be held in contempt. The government charged that Miller, despite a warning from the judge, still had given evasive answers before the grand jury investigating the income tax returns of Thomas E. Maloy, business agent of the Chicago Moving Picture Operators' union.

Last Saturday, after federal prosecutors had complained of the witness, Judge Barnes ordered Miller to return to the grand jury room and give full and complete answers to all questions. After the new testimony was given yesterday Special Assistant United States Attorney General Leslie E. Salter appeared before Judge Barnes with a new presentment seeking a contempt citation.

Makes New Evasion Charge.

Salter charged that Miller was evasive when questioned concerning $120,000 in mysterious gifts which the government contends reached Maloy's pockets and should be taxed. A transcript of grand jury testimony, introduced in court, showed that Miller declared in his answers that the money went to five men, four of whom are now dead.

The name of the late Mayor Cermak was brought into the grand jury testimony as having received a $5,000 donation for the Democratic campaign fund late in 1930 or early in 1931.

The questions and answers concerning the campaign contribution were recorded as follows in the transcript of evidence:

"Q.—What part of the money was paid to the Democratic party? A.—I paid out $5,000 altogether to the Democratic campaign fund.

"Q.—To whom did you make the payment? A.—Cermak.

"Q.—Did you pay him personally? A.—Yes.

"Q.—Did you pay by cash or check? A.—Cash."

Gives a Reason for Outlay.

In another part of his testimony Miller said that the money "was laid out for the Democratic campaign in connection with the bills in the legislature forcing two operators into every booth."

Approximately $97,000 of the questioned sum went to a man named Joe Nikolas, described by Miller as a man "he believed to be a representative of the union." At one time, Miller said, according to the transcript, that Nikolas offered to sell him the entire operators' union for $500,000. Miller said he had heard of other such deals and while he felt that the purchase would be profitable he turned the offer down.

Although he saw Maloy weekly, he never mentioned the payment of the $97,000 to Nikolas, nor the offer to sell the union, Miller testified.

"Didn't you think that you should tell Maloy that some smarty was trying to sell him out?" Prosecutor Salter asked, according to the transcript.

Three Other Men Paid.

Three other men, now dead, who received a share of the money, according to Miller, were Paddy King, head of a doormen's union; Jerry O'Connor, head of a janitors' union, and Con Shea. King was given money to hire "hoodlums just as tough as the other side had," and $15,000 went to O'Connor to settle trouble with the janitors' union, Miller said. Another payment was made to Shea for the same reason, he testified.

O'Connor got the money, Miller said, "because he had a racket union that had no membership, just had control of a number of fellows."

"We were either in trouble or getting ready for trouble all the time," Miller testified. "We paid $12,000 to attorneys alone for injunctions."

Start on Hunting Trip; 3 Bodies Are Recovered

Jackson, Mich., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Missing since they started on a hunting trip yesterday, bodies of three men were found today in Portage lake, 16 miles from here. Apparently they had broken through the ice weakened by warm weather. The men were Herman Tisch, 30; Raymond Hoffman, 30, and his brother, Verne, 24, all of Munith.

SWANSON AND DERN MAY QUIT BECAUSE OF FAILING HEALTH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Navy Swanson and Secretary of War Dern are likely to retire from the cabinet on account of ill health, observers say. Advisers of the President, however, declared today that there was no evidence that these officials wolud resign, although if their physical conditions became worse they undoubtedly would feel compelled to give up their duties.

Secretary Swanson has been ill in the naval hospital for more than a month, suffering from a cold and other ailments. He expects to return to his duties soon. Secretary Dern has just returned to his office after treatment for eye trouble at Walter Reed hospital.

Friends of the administration say the President does not wish to force these officials out, and if they retire it will be at their own election.

DEMOCRATS PUT COMMITTEE TO WORK ON TICKET

G. O. P. Split in War of Factions.

The selection of a Democratic ticket for the April 10 primary was placed in the hands of a nominating committee yesterday. Twenty-four comprise the committee membership. Their names indicate a party harmony missing from the ranks of the Republicans, who are now in two camps.

The inclusion of Michael L. Igoe on the nominating committee was construed as meaning that the Democrats are all together. He had been inactive politically since his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination against Henry Horner.

Members of Committee.

Petitions must be filed with the county clerk by Feb. 3. The committee is expected to hold its first session on Tuesday. Its members are:

P. A. Nash.	Jacob M. Arvey.
Mayor Kelly.	Peter B. Carey.
State's Attorney Courtney.	A. J. Sabath.
	M. L. Igoe.
Attorney General Kerner.	John C. Lewe.
	James M. Whalen.
Albert J. Horan.	John S. Clark.
William L. O'Connell.	B. F. Lindheimer.
Clayton F. Smith.	Raymond W. Moore.
Frank J. Walsh.	Richard D. Frohlich.
R. B. Mason.	J. Frank Lyman.
James B. Bowler.	John J. Touhy.
Joseph L. Gill.	Frank V. Zintak.

Republicans Are Split.

While the Democrats were proceeding peacefully, the warfare continued between the Republican "harmony" group headed by William H. Weber, county central committee chairman, and Edward F. Moore, secretary, on one side, and on the other the committeemen who are concentrating behind George F. Barrett, 21st ward committeeman; Ald. William V. Pacelli [20th], and Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney.

Barrett and Crowe yesterday ripped into the Weber-Moore group, which is claiming the support of all committeemen who signed a "harmony" agreement several months ago.

"We are going ahead with the preparation of a full slate," said Barrett, "but, in addition to that, we will have a candidate in each ward for committeeman and replace some of the committeemen on the central committee who are trying to hog everything.

"Those fellows don't want harmony, they are trying to run a mayoralty campaign."

Charge Link with Utilities.

A charge that the Weber-Moore group is dominated by public utilities was credited to Crowe by members of his group. They found a basis for this in the fact that the regulars had slated George F. Nixon for president of the county board and James P. Ringley for sheriff. They declared that Nixon had real estate dealings with Insull, and that Ringley is an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company.

A third Republican slate is being formed by the Progressive Republican organization, headed by Newton Jenkins and Robert McCormick Adams. This group yesterday announced five candidate, as follows: For congress, 7th district, Meyer Fink; 10th district, Ralph Church; 17th district, Gordon Childers, and for county cimmissioners, Col. James E. White and Theodore F. Reinhardt.

Charles W. Vail, veteran of Cook county and state politics, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state treasurer. He was clerk of the state Supreme court for 18 years, and previously was clerk of the Superior court for eight years.

J. H. S. LEE FREED ON 10 COUNTS IN INSURANCE CASE

Judge Indicates He May End Other Charges.

Attorney John H. S. Lee, associate in the law firm headed by former Senator Charles S. Deneen, was absolved from guilt yesterday on ten of the eighteen counts of a conspiracy indictment. Attorney Lee and six other men are charged in the indictment with conspiracy to defraud the Security Life Insurance company and its affiliate, the Northern States Insurance Company of Hammond, which are now in receivership.

Judge Benjamin Epstein, who is presiding at the trial, ordered a directed verdict of not guilty in behalf of Lee on ten of the counts after the state had concluded its evidence. Judge Epstein told Attorney John Northup, representing Lee, that he could renew his motion for a directed verdict on the eight other counts at the conclusion of all the testimony.

The judge indicated that if Mr. Lee showed certain things—which Attorney Northup said would be part of the defense—he might be inclined to look favorably on a motion to direct a not guilty verdict for Mr. Lee on the remaining counts.

Charge of the State.

The state charges that Attorney Lee and the other defendants placed mortgages totaling $1,900,000 on a thirty acre industrial tract near Waukegan and dumped the mortgages into the security portfolio of the Security Life company. According to the state, the property involved was worth only $500,000.

Attorney Northup told Judge Epstein he would show that Attorney Lee disposed of his stock in the Manufacturers' Terminal corporation, owner of the industrial tract, before the acts alleged against the defendants took place.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence to connect Mr. Lee with the counts regarding the Security Life Insurance company or the counts alleging that the officers and agents of this company and affiliates bought and sold securities to these companies," said Judge Epstein. "After all, we must try these cases on law. There is not a word of testimony to uphold some of these counts if we want to be fair about it."

Puts Self in Juror's Place.

Judge Epstein indicated that in the present status of the case he would, if he were a juror, vote to acquit Lee on the conspiracy charges on all the counts. However, he said, it is the jury's province and not his to decide on matters of controversial fact.

The judge refused to direct verdicts of acquittal in behalf of Machir Dorsey, one time wealthy insurance promoter, and his associates in the insurance business who are defendants. The judge on Monday did dismiss John W. Seids Jr., from the case because it was shown that the prosecution was trying to hold him responsible for alleged acts of his father.

The only testimony taken in the case yesterday was that of two witnesses who said they would not believe "under oath" any testimony of James H. Benjamin, a promoter, who was one of the prosecution's star witnesses. Attorney Lee is expected to be a witness today.

"LODGER" AT JAIL DIES.

Alexander Bininda, 40 years old, who had been given lodging in the Des Plaines street police station, became ill yesterday and died as he was being taken to the county hospital in a patrol wagon.

TOSS EASY MONEY HOPE IN DEBATE ON CAR MERGER

Aldermen Hear Ickes May Help City.

A hope of easy federal money to finance city ownership of the street car lines was tossed into the discussion of the transit merger at a hearing before the city council local transportation committee yesterday.

The hearing was called on the question of granting the surface lines and the elevated system an extension until July 31 for their acceptance of the 1930 franchise ordinance. The present deadline is Jan. 31. The first mortgage bondholders of the two transportation systems have agreed on a merger plan as a basis for acceptance of the franchise.

Paul H. Douglas, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, and John A. Carroll, former south side banker, attacked the proposed merger settlement and urged that no extension be granted to the companies permitting the 1930 ordinance to lapse. As an alternative settlement, they proposed to have the city purchase and operate the street car lines.

A Friend of Ickes.

Douglas and Carroll presented a communication from Newton I. Jenkins attacking the proposed transit merger and proposing city ownership. During the discussion it was brought out that Jenkins recently visited Secretary Harold L. Ickes, administrator of public works funds, in Washington, and discussed with him the chances of getting a federal grant to enable the city to buy the street car lines, supplemented by the $65,000,000 city traction fund.

No information was presented on what Secretary Ickes told Mr. Jenkins, but the suggestion was dropped that Mr. Jenkins for years had been a close friend and political associate of Secretary Ickes, and from this it was deduced that the city could get at least an even break from the government in negotiating a traction loan.

Mayor Kelly was present at the hearing and he suggested, that in the absence of any specific information, it might be well to call Mr. Jenkins and ask him what Secretary Ickes said. This the committee decided to do. Chairman James B. Bowler announced that the committee would ask Mr. Jenkins to appear at a hearing next Monday. Mr. Jenkins declined to discuss the matter yesterday.

Fisher Tells Obstacle.

Walter L. Fisher, who as a special officer of the federal court which has jurisdiction over the traction properties because they are in receivership, cast doubt on the ability of the city to take over the street car system because of the constitutional limitations on the city's bonding power.

He told the committee that the city's only hope of municipal ownership would be through a free gift of money from the government and if it were granted, either as a gift or a loan, "the present bondholders of the company would march down to the railroad station with a brass band to greet the bearer of the money."

A bill was filed in the Superior court yesterday requesting the appointment of a receiver for the city traction fund to conserve its assets. The bill was filed by Attorney Harry F. Hamlin on behalf of Edward B. Grossman of the Chicago Beach hotel, described as a capitalist. The bill alleged that the city has misapplied the fund and that it is now composed of only tax warrants.

When informed of this suit Ald. Bowler said that the investment of the fund in city warrants was entirely legal and that it had added millions in interest to the fund.

ROB CWA MESSENGER.

Two bandits early yesterday robbed Frank Maloucy, a messenger at the CWA headquarters at 310 West Madison street, of $1,75. The holdup occurred in front of 35 South Clark street.

BONDS TO RETIRE SCHOOL DEBT TO COME UP TODAY

Education Board and City Council Will Act.

The board of education and the city council will take action at meetings today to remove a stumbling block in the program of paying up the salaries of Chicago school teachers. Unless a hitch develops at the last minute both bodies will authorize the issuance of $10,000,000 funding bonds for the repayment of long outstanding 1928 and 1929 school tax anticipation warrants.

James B. McCahey, president of the board, said the trustees would adopt a resolution to issue the bonds, bearing 4½ per cent interest. Council action is also needed in the form of an ordinance. At a meeting late yesterday the council finance committee, headed by Ald. John S. Clark [30], voted unanimously to recommend passage of the measure.

Will Retire Warrants.

The bonds will be offered for sale and the receipts will be used to retire the warrants and accrued interest.

"These long overdue obligations have been a drug on the market," asserted McCahey. "If they can be cleaned up the board's credit will be greatly improved. If they are not they might become a serious obstacle in the path of Mayor Kelly's program for obtaining cash for the teachers."

The mayor's plan would be to sell $40,000,000 worth of school bonds to the federal government, pledging as additional security school property unused for educational purposes in the city. A bill cloaking the government with this power was introduced last week by Congressman A. J. Sabath of Chicago.

Because of the reductions of the reassessment the warrants for 1928 and 1929 were overissued by the school board of a former administration. The total outstanding, plus interest, on warrants for these two years is $19,370,479. When the matter came up several weeks ago in the council, Ald. Clark estimated that approximately $10,000,000 worth, or the amount of the new funding issue, would never be repaid from the collection of taxes.

"Good as Gold."

The amounts due on warrants in each fund for the two years is as follows: 1928 building fund warrants, $1,944,809; 1929 educational fund, $12,675,870; 1929 building fund, $4,629,150; and 1929 playground fund, $120,650.

A resolution passed at the last meeting of the school board limiting the issuance of 1933 educational fund warrants the public to 45 per cent of the levy makes the warrants issued to teachers "as good as gold," according to a bulletin of the high school teachers' association.

The warrants issued to the teachers and investors will be repaid before the school securities in the city's aggregate of funds are redeemed, the bulletin said. Thus, teacher warrants will be redeemed out of the first 45 per cent collection of the 1933 tax. The warrants bear 6 per cent interest. The association urged its members not to sell their warrants below par.

FIVE BELIEVED DEAD IN BLIZZARD RAGING IN CANADA

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Five lives were believed lost tonight on the wind swept prairies of Alberta and Saskatchewan, where a blizzard struck early today.

Three children were believed victims of the blizzard. They were Mary, 14; Vernon, 12, and Pauline, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stifle of Sunnynook, Alta. They were believed to have died while returning home from school. The father almost perished in the search for the children.

In Saskatchewan Mrs. James Morris and her 21 year old son John were missing. They left the railway station at Tessier for their farm home early today after returning from a visit to Zealandie and are believed to have perished.

HELD IN SWINDLE OF JOB HUNTERS WITH WANT ADS

Napoleon Pagliari, 44 years old, 704 West 26th street, who used TRIBUNE want ads to attract his victims, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell in bond of $5,000 on a charge of confidence game. As vice president of the Tropical Shine-It corporation, a metal polish concern, Pagliari is alleged to have taken cash bonds from employés and then failed to pay salaries. Miss Ann Dockendorf, 3143 Lowe avenue, said she had given Pagliari a cash bond of $1,000 in return for a $25 a week job as a stenographer for which she never received pay. Joe Krivis, 920 North Hoyne avenue, a chauffeur, said he paid $300 to Pagliari without return.

Here's the way to tell if you have Acid Stomach
You Can Get Rid of it Quickly!

The Signs of Acid Stomach

Nervousness
Neuralgia
Indigestion
Auto-intoxication
Nausea
Frequent Headaches
Sleeplessness
Feeling of Weakness
Mouth Acidity
Loss of Appetite
Sour Stomach

WHAT TO DO FOR IT

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

OR—Take the new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets—one tablet for each teaspoonful as directed above.

Some 80% of the people of today have Acid Stomach, according to many authorities! This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

Headaches, stomach pains after eating, "gas," "upsets," "biliousness," are the usual indications. So you can easily tell if you have Acid Stomach.

You Can Quickly And Easily Correct It

But if you do have it, don't worry about it. Today it can be corrected in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed. Or—you can take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets: one tablet for each teaspoonful of the liquid.

What This Does

That's all you do. But do it regularly. EVERY DAY.

This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy you feel.

Everywhere people are doing this—doctors advocating it. Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips'" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM

Turn Your Handkerchief Into a VAPOR-TENT and end the misery of COLDS
—A little VAPEX does it!

WHEN you cannot stay in bed to CURE your COLD, just put a little VAPEX in the center of a folded handkerchief, hold this over your nose, and breathe in the triple-action vapor.

In this simple way, you make a scientific vapor-tent that instantly curbs the nasty symptoms of a cold, and wards off coughing. No dosing the body; nothing to insert in the nostrils. The pleasant vapor rises of its own accord and goes straight to the "core" of the cold.

This easily made vapor-tent sends medication not only WHERE you need it, but also in the FORM you need it—a triple-action vapor that soothes and normalizes as it penetrates. In half a second you can FEEL the vapor far back in the hidden crevices of the nose and throat. The cold-infected passages are promptly cleared; sneezing, sniffling, and eye-watering are immediately stopped.

A Famous Wartime Discovery

Millions use VAPEX, yet only the two men who discovered it during the war, know the formula. That's why VAPEX cannot be duplicated by any of the 75 imitations now on the market.

Original VAPEX costs but half a cent per application. Get VAPEX now! Handy bottle usually lasts all winter.

GANNA WALSKA ARRIVES, VISITS H. F. McCORMICK

He Is Always Very Sweet to Me, She Says.

Four hours after she had expressed the hope of seeing her former husband during her short stay in Chicago Mme. Ganna Walska was having luncheon in Harold F. McCormick's stone mansion at 675 Rush street yesterday. Mme. Walska arrived in Chicago on the Century Limited from Philadelphia and smilingly refused to make any definite statements as to a possible reconciliation with Mr. McCormick. Her visit is the first here in five years.

Attired in a bright green plaid fur lined cape worn over her dark blue serge suit and wearing a perky Alpine style hat, the Polish singer parried all questions about Mr. McCormick as she stepped from the train. "Ah," she said, "it is not a question of reconciliation. We are good friends. He is always very sweet to me."

Two Bouquets Arrive.

Awaiting Mme. Walska at the Auditorium hotel were two bouquets, one of violets and the other of freesias and forget-me-nots. A note from 675 Rush street caused her to rush through a brief private rehearsal, a change of clothes, and start out ostensibly for a shopping trip. Shortly after 1 o'clock Mme. Walska arrived at Mr. McCormick's home. At 3 o'clock the concert singer slipped out of a side door into a waiting limousine which carried her swiftly back to the hotel.

On her arrival at the La Salle street station Mme. Ganna Walska said she enjoyed having reporters interview her. "I do not feel as I used to," she said with a bright smile at the attentive group surrounding her.

Dressed for Cold Weather.

As one of the reporters remarked about her heavy woolen clothing she replied that after having once been in Chicago she had learned to be "prepared for anything." Her "cold weather costume" was augmented by a pink accordion pleated scarf, brown calf pumps, tan ribbed knit hose, and heavy leather gloves.

Carried carefully with both hands was a black box, which no porter or bell hop was allowed to handle. On her arrival at the hotel the singer went immediately to the safety deposit vault and left the box there. It was generally surmised that it contained her jewels, which she likes to have with her on tour.

Mme. Walska will appear in a concert tonight at the Auditorium theater. She is leaving Chicago tomorrow for New York, where she will sing at Carnegie hall Jan. 29.

Mme. Walska said she had notified Mrs. Howard Linn that she could not attend the opera intime last night at the Palmer house because she "never goes out the night before a concert."

WOMEN ADVISED TO GIVE VENT TO THEIR EMOTIONS

Psychologist Demands Less "Bunk."

In an address in which he discussed "Our Undiscovered Resources," Dr. David Seabury, New York psychologist, advised 650 members of the Rogers Park Woman's club yesterday that rage is an emotion to be proud of, that work doesn't make one fatigued, that Willie should not be allowed to express himself, and that indices of intelligence for the most part are "the bunk."

A jolly, heavy set man with a beard, Dr. Seabury put the more timorous matrons at ease by laughing heartily at his own jokes. He told them, too, something of his early psychological difficulties, confiding how, at the age of 15, he was sent home from a summer camp with a note signed by his instructors, declaring him to be feebleminded. Dr. Seabury's books, "Unmasking Our Minds," and "Growing Into Life," are now used in many universities.

Mental Closure Averted.

"Now, just suppose I had believed that," Dr. Seabury added. "Why, I would have had a mental closure. Think what limitations would have been set up!"

Having been introduced by the chairman "as a man who has a message that is going to help every one of us," Dr. Seabury launched into a discussion of obstacles that might be blocking the normal use of the mind, and urged the women to give vent to their emotions as a way of releasing some of their "hidden powers."

"You were taught that you should not give way to rage," the speaker said, "but rage is one of the most necessary of human powers. It should never go inhibited. It is the same emotion as courage. You should remember the Bible quotation, 'righteous wrath.'

How to Stay Fresh.

"As for fatigue, people speak of it as if it should result from toil. Work makes fatigue when one uses only the intellect without interest or emotion. People say to me, 'You should be exhausted after delivering three lectures a day.' But when I speak I let out my feelings and come out as fresh as when I started.

"The average person is afraid of emotion. I once knew a woman who would sooner be caught nude in the street than release emotion. We should not be afraid of the primary forces in our nature but set up a concept of guidance so that we may experience the real sense of fulfillment.

"You must dare to give vent to your feelings to want some of the things you really want. But you must remember to keep a normal balance between the emotional capacity and the power of guidance or you will not have the intellectual power functioning normally."

Forget Possessive Pronoun.

Dr. Seabury gave the women some pointers on how to obtain release from a "dammed up" capacity of the mind. First, one should learn to think of imagination, judgment, and reason as if they were good friends and to forget the use of the possessive pronoun. Second, one should keep relaxed or "learn to listen to the mind."

The speaker received vigorous applause when he observed that somebody ought to put a stop to little Willie expressing himself.

"Mrs. Seabury was making a call one time when a little girl came into the doorway and thumbed her nose. The child's mother said: 'O, that's my little daughter. I believe in the new ideas and never restrain her.' Well," Dr. Seabury added explosively, "that's all the bunk."

"It is also bunk psychology and nothing else," he continued, "when intelligence tests are given to boys and girls without other factors being taken into consideration."

CULTIST ABBATE IS SENT BACK TO INSANE HOSPITAL

Giuseppe Maria Abbate, head of a religious cult at 2021 De Kalb street and three times convicted of the rape of two 12 year old girls, was found insane yesterday by Circuit Judge William J. Fulton at Geneva. The cult leader, who styles himself "Celestial Messenger," was recommitted to the asylum at Elgin.

Abbate, 48 years old and former barber, was found insane in Cook county early in 1933 after he had been given a ten year sentence by a jury. He was then sent to Elgin and the record in Judge Michael Feinberg's court shows that a motion for a new trial was granted, thereby voiding the 10 year sentence. Another jury had given him a life sentence which the Supreme court set aside. In 1923 he was convicted of the rape of a little girl whose mother was a cult member and that time the jury found him guilty but insane. He served a year in the asylum in 1923 and was there again for another year until temporarily freed on a habeas corpus writ last December.

Dr. Charles F. Read, managing officer of the Elgin asylum, and four other psychiatrists testified yesterday that Abbate is still insane.

CWA Workers Restoring Relics of the 1893 Fair

The three Japanese tea houses which have given a picturesque touch to Wooded island near 59th street in Jackson park since the World's Fair of 1893 are being restored at a cost of $22,000 by CWA workers, it was disclosed yesterday.

EMPLOYES PAID BY COUNTY FOR LAST OCTOBER

County employés were paid their salaries yesterday for the last half of October, reducing their pay arrears to three months. At the same time installments were paid by County Treasurer McDonough on over due mothers' pensions, blind pensions, and jurors' fees.

County highway police did not share in the pay day and probably will receive no pay checks until the county starts paying for January or the 1934 budget is passed. The county board made no appropriation for the police for the last half of 1933.

Circuit Judge George Fred Rush issued a writ of mandamus ordering the county officials to pay the police for the last half of the year, but an appeal was taken from his ruling. An appropriation for the back pay is included in the 1934 county budget now being considered by the county board.

THREE FINGERED JACK WHITE IS SHOT TO DEATH

Assassins Kill Racketeer in Oak Park Flat.

hostility, probably by drawing their pistols, the struggle began. Furniture was overturned, the glass of a bookcase was shattered, there was a bullet hole in one of the walls of the living room. White, it was assumed, was shot in this room.

Body Found in Bedroom.

The body, however, was found in the front bedroom, next to the dresser, one drawer of which White had dragged open. He was unable to reach the two pistols that lay inside it. He had been struck twice, once in the body and once in the head, and supposedly the second wound was inflicted as he was about to reach his own armament.

Residents of the building said they heard three shots. Mrs. Lena Puetz and her son, Alfred Nickels, living on the first floor, said they had seen the two killers enter the building. Also they had seen them flee after the shooting.

Two Killers Described.

"They were dark men, wearing light overcoats and hats," said Nickels. "I can't be sure, but I think I have seen them call at the apartment before. They left in a small car, a coupé with a rumble seat."

White, being a fugitive from justice—the police were seeking him on an indictment charging conspiracy in connection with the activities of his Trucking and Transportation exchange (T-N-T)—had remained hidden in the flat. The name on the apartment's mail box was Henry J. Cerny, apparently an alias of White. The janitor of the building, Fred Bartz, asserted he had never seen White. Kelly and the two women, Bartz said, had frequently gone in and out.

The apartment, handsomely furnished, has two bedrooms. In the room where the body was found were a fur coat and clothing belonging to Mrs. White.

Diamond Watch on Dresser.

On the dresser was White's diamond studded watch and also a list of health rules, believed to have been drawn up for the gangster, who suffered from a stomach ailment. Another odd bit of furnishing was a suitcase stuffed with canceled checks, many of them made out to William White and having a variety of signers.

As to the motive for the crime, the Oak Park police and Supervising Capt. John Stege of the Chicago force held that it might have been any one of a dozen. One guess advanced was that White had been slain by friends of James [Fur] Sammons, his one-time associate who is now serving a life sentence in the Indiana prison at Michigan City as a habitual criminal.

Sammons has complained bitterly that his friends "let him down" and even looted his safety deposit boxes of money that could have been used in his defense.

But on this, as on other questions pertinent to the recent doings of White, his widow, her brother and the Anderson girl were silent. They professed to know nothing of his business affairs.

Kelly and his sister formerly were a vaudeville team. This they proved by a display of pictures found in the apartment by the police. These photographs, signed by entertainers and actresses, among them Bing Crosby and Fifi D'Orsay, bore inscriptions complimentary to the vivacious, red-haired Nancy Kelly.

Just entertainers, Kelly and his sister said they were, without knowledge of the deeper affairs of gangland. They knew nothing about the list of names with amounts in the hundreds of dollars—evidently a pay roll of some kind—found in White's belongings. The Club Royale remembered both the Kellys, and the regrets the patrons had when Nancy eloped with Three-Fingered Jack.

Fifteen Years of Crime.

The crime career of White dates back 15 years. He was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary in 1919 for robbery and was paroled April 1, 1925. He was arrested that same summer in Kansas City, but eluded the law. He was suspected of taking part, in 1926, in the $80,000 International Harvester pay roll robbery here. On Dec. 13, 1925, he shot and killed Policeman Edward Pflaume of River Forest.

Twice White was tried in the Criminal court for the murder of Pflaume and twice was convicted. Both times the verdict was overturned by the Illinois Supreme court and the case remanded for re-trial. Finally, in May of 1932, the case was not prossed. The state, with several of the witnesses missing, decided that it would be impossible to get a verdict that would stand up.

Only last May, however, White was convicted on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $300 by Judge James F. Fardy. That conviction is still dragging through the course of an appeal. The White record at the police bureau of identification shows that he was wanted by the police on two charges, one of vagrancy and one of conspiracy.

The latter is based on the state's assertion that White, with Murray Humphries and others of the old Capone gang, was instrumental in the formation of the Trucking and Transportation exchange, alleged to have extorted $500,000 annually from Chicago business men.

This organization, according to report, was managed by the White-Humphries combine through their control over teamster unions and contractors. To get the union labor and protection against hi-jacking and other crimes, an entrance fee of $10 was said to have been charged the members of the T-N-T and also a fee of $1 a truck a month. As 40,000 trucks, supposedly, were tied up by T-N-T contracts, the authorities assert that the organization was a source of unusual profits.

Exposed as a Racket.

But it was exposed as a racket. Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney started a lively war on the T-N-T several months ago, with the result that seventeen indictments against the alleged conspirators were returned. Thirteen of the defendants appeared before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court on Jan. 17, and the case was assigned to Judge Walter Steffen for trial. The latter set Feb. 16 for a hearing on preliminary motions.

Four of the defendants failed to appear. Among them was William [Three Fingered Jack] White.

SENATE SENDS BACK MYSTERY LETTER BY PINCHOT; ASKS CONTENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The mysterious sealed letter inclosed by Gov. Pinchot when he forwarded the credentials of Senator James J. Davis, Republican of Pennsylvania, to the senate in March, 1933, was ordered returned unopened to the governor late this afternoon. The senate took this action without debate on motion of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader.

When Mr. Pinchot sent the Davis credentials on March 2, 1933, he asked that the inclosed letter be kept sealed until after a verdict had been rendered in the trial of Senator Davis on charges of violating the lottery laws, or "until such time" as the senate deemed it "fit and proper" for publication. Davis was acquitted by a jury in New York some months ago.

Mrs. Pinchot Marches.

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, encouraged Brooklyn laundry workers to continue their strike. She urged them not to "retreat" when she addressed them today at their headquarters. Then she joined them in their picketing activities. Carrying a placard, she marched along a street. Last summer she was equally active against Pennsylvania sweatshops.

WAR OF SMALL BUSINESS MAN ON NRA GROWS

Many Blame Johnson for Favoritism.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The revolt of small business concerns against the domination of the NRA by big business has reached impressive proportions.

There is scarcely a member of congress who is not being deluged with complaints that small manufacturers and tradesmen are being forced to the wall by NRA code provisions written and administered by their giant competitors. Most of the complainants charge that prices are being fixed at the high level required by production costs in metropolitan centers thus depriving concerns in small places with lower production costs of the only advantage they possessed in competition with their larger rivals.

Nearly all cite all kinds of code restrictions and requirements alleged to discriminate in favor of the big corporations.

Some blame Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, for the betrayal of the small business concern, the flouting of the anti-trust laws and the subserviency of the NRA to the big corporations. Some demand the removal of Gen. Johnson. There is talk on Capitol hill of an investigation of Johnson's administration.

Council Studies Price Situation.

Many complainants assert that they have been placed at the mercy of NRA deputy administrators and other officials wholly ignorant of the business committed to their charge and that appeals for redress of grievances are ignored by the Johnson organization.

One angle of the situation—the high prices of commodities against which there is increasing complaint—was considered by the President's emergency council today. The council is considering the creation of agencies to hear such complaints.

An illustration of the operation of the codes is afforded by the experience of the navy department with purchases of armor plate for warships.

The navy calls for bids. The Iron and Steel institute fixes the price. All concerns bidding name that price in their bids. The name of each bidder is placed in a quinine capsule by the navy official in charge. The quinine capsules are placed in a tobacco humidor and shaken up. A capsule is drawn out and opened. The concern named therein gets the contract.

Complaints Pour in on Nye.

Some concerns that won contracts in this way were not sufficiently equipped to fulfill them and were compelled to relinquish them. Some plants that hitherto have obtained contracts because their lower overhead enabled them to bid lower than the big corporations, have not been lucky enough to draw a winning capsule.

From the hundreds of complaints received by Senator Gerald P. Nye [Radical Rep., N. D.], a leader in the fight on the monopolistic phases of the NRA, are culled the following excerpts:

FRANK A. BROWN, secretary Charles A. Briggs Lumber and Manufacturing company, Scottdale, Pa.—We have ample orders on our books and in sight to guarantee full time operation but the lumber czars at Memphis refused time and again to serve our appeal. We had strict orders to operate our plant on an hourly basis of 64 hours a month. How can men live if they work only 64 hours a month? Our sales were 100 per cent and they forced us to close down our plant, which permits the lumber czars to better dispose of their enormous surplus they had accumulated night and day full time before the code went into effect Sept. 7, 1933. They had their plans laid and were already to force their inferior manufactured product on the market. The first and proper move is to ask Gen. Johnson for his resignation. He is not big enough nor has he had the proper training for the job.

From New England.

CHARLES O. TREGGER, building material dealer, Bridgeport, Conn.—Here in Bridgeport seven big dealers have incorporated and between the seven they have secured the agencies of all the standard makes of materials and they tell the salesmen from the different factories that if they sell any materials to us little fellows the seven of them will not buy from them any more. That means we are compelled to buy from one of the seven at their price. Under no condition can that be fair competition.

D. R. SOUTH, manufacturing tailor, Bethel, O.—In the spring there are several weeks when my sewing machine output is more than my pressing machines can take care of in the same number of hours, and it has always been my custom to hire another presser for an extra shift of as many hours as necessary to keep my production equalized. Now comes section 4 of the men's clothing code and says I can only operate 36 hours a week in one shift.

Pressing machines cost $400 to $600 each, and I cannot afford to invest that much money for only a few weeks per year, and yet unless something is done I will have to buy a new machine or lose what little business there is to be had, for of course when the manufacturer wants his pants to ship he must have them, and if the little fellow cannot afford to equip his shop with machines so they can lie idle 16 hours a day he will lose his business to some large operator who can afford it.

Charges Chiselers Control.

H. C. McKENZIE, wood chemicals, Walton, N. Y.—The Wood Chemical institute is entirely dominated by the large factories, as is the code committee. This winter, while we are all trying to operate under the code, the Bardford, Pa., bunch under their sales organization known as the Manufacturers' Charcoal company have gone down to New York and cut the price of charcoal from 16 cents to 12 cents, so that now they and all others selling at this price will be losing money and it will mean the five small independent factories in Delaware county, N. Y., will be put out of business if they are allowed to continue this practice, which is just what they hope for.

I wrote Gen. C. C. Williams of the NRA and got back from his clerk a statement saying that when the code committee had established costs then no one would be allowed to sell below their cost of production and the matter should be taken up with the code committee; now as this code committee is controlled by the very people who are fighting us, you can see what sort of a chance we have to get any help from that source.

Before NRA became effective I had a very nice wholesale coal business covering a territory embracing a part of four states. Since the codes have become effective I have been compelled to relieve my men in this department and they are today without employment. In order to stay in business I fell back upon gasoline and petroleum products and took on some additional side lines, and it now seems that the national destruction act, under the direction of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, will drive us, as well as many other individual merchants, business men and manufacturers of a small caliber entirely out of the business.

Illinoisian Tells How.

R. C. DOAKE of the Chapman-Doake company, Decatur, Ill.—We think the situation has developed now where the large concerns of the country are, literally eating up the little concerns, due to the fact that the big concerns are able to absorb the additional expense where the little manufacturer is not able to do so.

P. H. HARRIS, hardwood trim, Newark, N. J.—Production is restricted too much. Salesmen I have come in contact with in all lines claim the little business man is being driven out of business. How can they be absorbed other than by the dole financially and by the Republican party politically?

E. J. RAMSEY, shoe manufacturer, New York City.—The boot and shoe manufacturers code gives all the advantage to the larger concerns who have a lot of cash, such as the International Shoe company, the Brown Shoe company, Endicott-Johnson corporation and similar concerns, as they can sell goods to the retail trade on a net basis and allow them as much as four to six months to pay, but the smaller man cannot afford to do this, as he has not the money to carry on the business this way. It is necessary that the smaller man be paid within thirty days after the date of shipment, and with this provision in the code it results in the smaller man not being able to get the business at all in competition with these big concerns.

Pennsylvanians Wax Vengeful.

L. I. COHEN, Spiers Bedding corporation, Philadelphia.—The financial strain that our large industries put on us by shortening terms of credit in their codes and by increasing the cost of raw materials as much as 100 per cent, whereas they actually should not be over 10 to 25 per cent, puts an additional strain on the medium sized manufacturer, employing 50 to 100 people, and unless you will put a curb on our great industries we will all go broke.

BERNARD SHOTKIN, dry cleaning, Philadelphia—In the dry cleaning and laundry business, which is one of life's necessities, our business has been dominated by the larger organizations—and the smaller enterprise or cash and carry stores who employ one manager have been compelled to raise their prices so high that they have lost their business—and in our case we had to close many of our stores, and put many of our employes who had many dependents out of their jobs—on account of code price fixing.

Sees Competitor as His Judge.

O. A. MOELLER, oak flooring, Orange, Va.—The man who had the most to say in writing the lumber code, Mr. C. Arthur Bruce, one of the largest manufacturers of lumber, receives a magnificent salary for acting with Gen. Johnson as the big lumber steam roller. There are 60 single unit oak flooring plants, employing an average of 40 laborers each, and through the activities of the large manufacturers, via the code, these 60 plants have been allowed to operate only 43 hours a month since October, 1933.

The average wage paid [code] is about 30 cents an hour, about $12.60 per month. This same big manufacturer, Mr. Bruce, code authority, has a number of multi-unit plants, which are allowed to run 32 hours per unit, and these multi-unit plants number 22 units, thus allowing Bruce's plants to run 704 hours per month.

Under the system of basing points established, the mills at Memphis and west of the Mississippi can sell their oak flooring in the east at the same prices as the mills located east of the Mississippi. This permits the large plants, who have been under a handicap in the past in the east, to drive the one unit plant out of its natural territory and put it out of business. A so-called hearing of complaints against the lumber code was held in Washington last week, and they were steam rolled to such an extent that not one of them was considered.

U. S. AND FINLAND TO SIGN COMMERCE TREATY THIS WEEK

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A treaty of friendship, commerce and consular rights negotiated between the United States and Finland will be signed this week.

Negotiations for a similar treaty with soviet Russia are to follow.

Nine such treaties covering commerce and consular rights have been concluded by the United States with Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Estonia, Latvia, Norway, Honduras, and El Salvador.

The Finnish treaty contains no mention of debts to the United States. Finland, the only debtor nation which has met payments in full, and the United States are at present discussing a reduction of the former's $9,000,000 debt.

Committee Limits Time to Three Years.

bill to make its formal appearance on the floor, but broke forth in the Republican ranks today where Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] fired the first broadside of what promises to be a vehement debate.

The Ohio senator denounced the monetary bill as striking at the "very foundation" of the federal reserve system. He assailed the "fugitive professors" whose theories are embraced in the measure.

He declared that the foundation of the federal reserve system was its currency issue, backed by 40 per cent gold reserves.

Fears for Reserve Notes.

Senator Fess declared the reserve notes issues would be seriously endangered. The gold certificate, he said, would be no better than scrip.

He described the proposed commandeering of the reserve gold as "dishonest" because, he said, it was proposed to take something of value without adequate consideration.

While conceding that narrowing the range of the dollar's fluctuations to between 50 and 60 cents was better than no stabilization at all, Senator Fess declared he disliked to be placed in the position of voting for this merely to avoid continuation of a worse situation.

"My God, if it's only a question of a promise," he shouted, "go on and issue your greenbacks and pay wour government debts with them."

Criticizes Wild Spending.

He criticized vigorously what he called the administration's "Wild spending," declaring that money was being ladled out by the government at the rate of $3,000,000 an hour on the basis of a ten hour day and a six day week.

TREASURER ASKS RECEIVERS FOR 20 PROPERTIES

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $170,788, making a total of $103,467,475 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Jan. 23	$ 5,760	$ 28,705
Uncollected	15,495,344	41,419,014
	1930.	1931.
Jan. 23	$ 44,920	$ 97,004

The day's collection of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $14,097.

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday filed twenty tax receivership petitions in the County court against properties owing $37,006 in taxes for 1928, 1929, and 1930. The petitions ask the appointment of the treasurer as receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act to collect the taxes. Among the properties named yesterday was a building at 4700-08 Winthrop avenue on which $5,170 is overdue.

TARIFF PACT SEEN AS HOPE FOR U. S. TRADE IN BRITAIN

Stress Need to Equalize Exchange of Goods.

This is the first of two articles by Mr. Steele on America's opportunities for increased export trade in Great Britain.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Can American exports to Britain be increased and to what extent?

What can America sell Britain that she is not selling now and what changes in American methods or American trade economy are necessary to bring this desirable consummation about?

Are American exporters asleep on the job or are they handicapped by governmental regulations and international rivalries?

What can the American government do to help and what can exporters and manufacturers do to help themselves?

These are some of the questions to which I have set out to obtain an answer and which I hope to develop from time to time in this correspondence.

Recovery Seen at Stake.

On the right answer depends much of the hope of recovery of American industries, for it is generally admitted that if full employment is to be provided for American workers, American manufacturers must secure their fair share of the world's markets as well as securing the protection of the American market for American workers.

These two objects seem contradictory and to a certain extent they are. Much depends on their reconciliation, and that, to a large extent, is the job of government.

In practically every European capital there is an American chamber of commerce. It is composed of Americans engaged in the American export trade—importers of American goods, agents of American manufacturers, managers of American branch houses, American bankers, and others. They are linked up through the chamber of commerce of the United States and their work is to do everything in their power to increase American trade in their area.

One of the most active of these chambers of commerce is that in London, which is composed of representatives of about 200 American firms and is constantly striving to increase its members' business in Great Britain. It publishes a monthly journal and from time to time special pamphlets dealing with special situations.

Optimistic Over Prospects.

The secretary of the London chamber is Donald Gill, who has had long experience in foreign trade on both sides of the Atlantic, and who is convinced that much can be done to increase American exports to Britain if the job is tackled intelligently and with a long view.

Right at the outset Mr. Gill makes it clear that the first article of his faith is—as it is with every one who has studied the subject—that international trade is mutual. It is not, as many superficial thinkers seem to suppose, an exchange of goods for money, but is an exchange of goods and services for goods and services. It follows, therefore, that if one country is unwilling to take goods and services from another, that other cannot take goods and services from it.

This truth is obscured somewhat by the fact that trade is not always bilateral. It is often multilateral. For instance, the United States may sell goods to England and, instead of getting paid by England, may be paid by Germany, which owes money to England and discharges its debt that way. Germany, however, must have credits in America for goods sold to be able to make these payments.

Bilateral Pacts Grow in Favor.

With the growth of economic nationalism, this multilateral trade is becoming more and more bilateral. Treaties, trade agreements and all sorts of international pacts are coming into being by which goods are swapped directly for goods.

The best examples of these are the series of trade agreements which Britain has made in the last year with the Scandinavian and Baltic countries. In these Britain agrees to take so many tons of butter, bacon, cheese, and other products from these countries, while they agree in turn to take so many tons of British coal, so many yards of British cloth, so many units of machinery and other British products. Another example is the negotiations going on between the United States and Britain for the exchange of Scotch whisky for American pork.

What this means is that some way must be found to overcome the tariff walls which restrict international trade. The United States cannot sell more goods to Britain unless it buys more goods from Britain, and Britain cannot buy unless it can pay with goods.

Raises Controversial Question.

This is raising, I know, a most controversial question. Farmers and packers who want to sell beef and pork to Britain would not mind seeing the tariff reduced on gloves or woolen goods in order that Britain might pay with them for American farm products. American automobile manufacturers might be unmoved by the farmers' loss of markets in Britain through the growth of supplies from the British dominions under preferential arrangements if the 35 per cent tariff on American cars coming into Britain could be reduced.

Some way must be found to reconcile these interests if any real increase in American exports to Britain is to be obtained. Some near balance of trade between the two countries must be reached before sound trading can be established.

But, it may be objected, trade between the two countries has always been unbalanced heavily in favor of the United States. The figures certainly seem to show that, and figures, it is said, cannot lie. Full figures cannot, but partial figures can present a picture very far from the truth, and that is what has happened in the case of Anglo-American trade.

Figures Are Cited.

For instance, the latest British Board of Trade figures available show that in 1929 the United States sold to Great Britain about £188,500,000 worth of goods and bought from it only £69,000,000. The pound sterling is worth approximately $5. In 1932 the United States sold to Britain about £23,500,000 and bought only about £21,000,000.

In each case there is a great discrepancy, but in 1932, and even more last year, the discrepancy, although apparently smaller, was really greater. The explanation is what is known to economists as "concealed exports."

These are payments to Britain which are hard to measure and for which there are few statistics. One important concealed export is shipping services, freight, and insurance. Another is the money spent abroad by American tourists. Another is the interest which comes from the United States on British investments there.

War Upsets Balance.

Before the great war, when the United States was a debtor country, the item of foreign investments was an important one in balancing international trade. The war wiped out a lot of that, although it is still a considerable factor.

Since the policy of subsidizing American shipping and seeking a greater share of the world's carrying trade began, British shipping has suffered, and by just so much has trade been unbalanced. This is not an argument against an American merchant marine. It is simply a statement of fact explaining why, to some extent, American exports of manufactured goods have suffered.

The American tourist trade has fallen off in the bad times. It may, of course, be resumed and play its part in enabling Britain to buy American manufactured goods and raw materials.

Obscured by Smoke Screen.

For several years after the war this situation was obscured by a smoke screen of extraordinary happenings. Chief of these was the rush of American money abroad for investments and loans. American bankers toured Europe urging foreign nations, municipalities, companies, and even individuals to borrow their money. The interest and profits came back in the form of goods, when they came at all, and so concealed the real fact that the United States was shipping to Europe much more than Europe could normally pay for.

Stream of Money Ceases.

Now, however, this stream of money has ceased and the unbalance is real. Most countries are trying to deal with it by high tariffs, quotas, and, in some cases, actual exclusion of American goods, not because they are American but because they can't pay for them. The United States is not the only sufferer from these policies.

The remedy, then, in the view of most American business men abroad, is a scientific review of the American tariff policy and perhaps the grant of power to the President, or to the treasury, or a tariff board, or some competent authority to make tariff bargains, as the British are doing now. If Britain wants access to American markets it must give the United States access to its markets and vice versa. In that way, it is believed, a substantial increase in American exports can be obtained without inflicting injury on domestic producers.

The theory behind this is, of course, that there are some trades fostered artificially in the United States by high tariffs. Such trades are making goods which can be made cheaper and better elsewhere and the people engaged in them now would be employed in making goods in which America excels to be exported in exchange for the products which they formerly made.

See Branch Factory Movement.

If something like this is not done, there is sure to be a development of the movement for branch factories abroad, which all patriotic Americans deplore.

Today there are in Britain, and mostly around London, more than 200 branch American factories. They range all the way from Ford's great works at Dagenham, in Essex, to little plants making tooth paste or toilet specialties. They are established with American money, but they give employment to no American except, perhaps, a manager or a foreman or two. All the United States gets out of them is the profits, which often enough are not sent home but are reinvested in Europe.

IRELAND TO FOSTER OWN INDUSTRIES TO KEEP OUT IMPORTS

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The minister of industry announced today that the Irish Free State is planning to establish a large cotton industry and to launch other pretentious industrial undertakings in 1934 which he said would tend to make the nation independent of foreign supplies.

Addressing representatives of the federation of Irish industries, the cabinet member said he hoped that within 12 months the whole of the Irish Free State's requirements for cotton piece goods would be woven at home from yarn spun in the country.

The minister said it is planned to manufacture, among other things, metal goods, cutlery, automobile, and cycle tires, footwear, pottery, industrial alcohol from potatoes, and nitrogenous fertilizers.

Refineries for extracting gasoline and other products from crude oil, and a development in the manufacture of peat blocks, aiming to make the country independent of foreign fuel, was included in the program.

ITALY DECLARES "WAR" ON U. S. 60 CENT DOLLAR

Mussolini Boosts Tariffs on American Imports.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 23.—Premier Mussolini's policy of boosting import tariffs was accentuated with publication tonight of another decree augmenting the duty on manufactured goods. It will especially hit imports of automobiles, it appears from first examination.

Effective today, a tax of 2,350 lire [about $200] per quintal [220 pounds] will be levied on automobiles weighing up to 500 kilograms. [A kilogram is equal to 2.2 pounds.] This means roughly $1 a pound. Automobiles weighing over 500 kilograms will pay a slightly higher rate.

It appears that the new decree will raise tariffs to about four times the price in the case of American cars.

Other Manufactures Hit.

Tractors and trucks also come in for boosted tariff schedules, as do sewing machines, automobile bodies and combustion engines.

Also hit by the augmented import taxes will be certain chemicals, boots and shoes, hats and also a list of agricultural products.

It is said here that the new tariffs are especially aimed as retaliation against the French trade restrictions levied on Jan. 1, but American commercial authorities also believe that the automobile imports from the United States would be heavily hit.

Result of 60 Cent Dollar.

That the new tariffs have also been devised through fear of what is called "dumping" as a result of the new Roosevelt 60 cent dollar is disclosed in various Italian press utterances. Giornale d'Italia, which speaks with authority about what is going on here, says:

"It is easy to predict that every country will try to protect itself with new tariffs against American dumping following the same policy which the United States itself followed formerly toward commerce with depreciated currency countries."

Giornale d'Italia lays the blame for the new tariffs on the United States monetary policy, saying that "international trade will be reduced, and this time it will not be Europe's fault."

Italy's export trade has been hard hit during the last six months because of the monetary policy in England and the United States, and government authorities recently stated that the only way Italian export trade could be augmented now would be to cut costs of production here, which is taken to indicate new wage cuts in the not distant future. Mussolini is said to be opposing this step, however, for the moment.

PUSH NAVY BILL IN HOUSE TODAY; ASK 380 MILLION

Roosevelt Backs Plan for Treaty Strength Fleet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Passage of treaty navy legislation at this session of congress was regarded as certain today as administration leaders prepared to bring the so-called Vinson ship construction bill before the house.

Tomorrow, according to their plans, the measure will be offered as a legislative rider to the navy department appropriation bill now pending on the house floor. Its acceptance by unanimous consent will provide President Roosevelt with authority to prosecute a definite five year naval building program, and funds for the beginning of construction will be supplied in a deficiency appropriation later in the session.

Big Navy Men Jubilant.

Should the house fail to accept the navy bill as a rider to the supply bill, however, Democratic leaders planned today to bring the ship bill on the floor under a special rule, probably within the week.

The sudden prominence of the treaty navy legislation was marked by an almost overnight change of sentiment on the part of congress, due largely to the administration's indorsement of the bill. Big navy advocates in the house were jubilant and confident that the end of their 14 year fight to commit the government to a planned ship construction program is in sight.

The Vinson bill, introduced by Chairman Carl Vinson [Dem., Ga.] of the naval affairs committee, provides for the construction of one aircraft carrier of 15,000 tons to replace the experimental carrier Langley now in service; 99,200 tons of destroyers to replace over-age destroyers now being used, and 35,000 tons of submarines to replace over-age underwater craft.

Calls for 102 Vessels.

In all, Mr. Vinson estimates that the tonnage program outlined in his measure will call for 102 ships, although the President is at liberty, under the terms of the bill, to vary the number of craft by building them at different weights. According to navy department experts who advised him in drafting the legislation, Mr. Vinson's bill will call for a total expenditure of some 380 million dollars.

The house today approved an appropriation of $227,593 to provide for the reopening of the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

PROTEST MOVING OF FLEET BACK TO ATLANTIC

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A strong protest against moving the fleet from the Pacific to the Atlantic at this time was made in the house today by Representative Dockweiler [Dem., Cal.].

Denying he was raising "the hue and cry of war," Dockweiler said, however, that "conditions are bad on the Pacific coast and in international affairs so far as the far east is concerned."

"These things can be done next year or when we find conditions are better," he suggested. "We have not settled the Philippine question. It is a serious situation."

HELD GUILTY OF ASSAULT.

British Naval Policy Is Discussed

BRITAIN OPENS IMPERIAL PACIFIC NAVAL MEETING

Admirals Map Far East Tactics at Singapore.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Admirals of the navies of Great Britain, Australia, and New Zealand today began the first conference they have held in 13 years to discuss questions of policy in the Pacific.

Presence of Australian and New Zealand naval chiefs at the meeting aboard the cruiser Kent was taken as an indication that a wide range of problems is being considered, especially in view of recent measures to make Australia independent of overseas aid in the event of war.

Significant Aspects.

Naval construction at Singapore, it was generally believed, was an important subject. An unconfirmed report of plans to complete the naval base here two years ahead of schedule preceded the opening of the conference.

(New work on the great Singapore dockyard and naval base was postponed for five years at the imperial conference in London in 1930.)

The warship parley, accidentally it was thought, coincides with two significant developments in the far east—the speech of Premier Hirota on Japanese policy and the launching of new warship construction proposed in a bill before the United States congress.

Allenby Reported Abroad.

Preliminary discussions by a special defense committee of high naval officers have been held aboard the Kent for the last week. It was reported that Field Marshal Viscount Allenby boarded the Kent today after a secret dash from Java to attend the plenary conference. Allenby is said to have studied various defense problems while in Java.

[Authoritative quarters in London described the meeting as "routine" and "automatic," but London newspapers devoted extensive space to reports of it. One said it was "an event of high imperial importance."]

Seven British men-of-war brought the commanders aboard the Kent, the flagship of Vice Admiral Frederic Charles Dreyer, commander in chief of the British China station.

Their agenda was secret, but is believed here to include discussions of Singapore's future as a naval center, the far eastern situation, general policies concerning the Singapore base, and progress of naval construction work here.

Claim Importance Exaggerated.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Reports that a naval conference in Singapore is of extreme potential importance in connection with far eastern developments were described in authoritative quarters here today as "exaggerated."

London newspapers, however, reported the meeting of the British, Australian, and New Zealand commanders at length. The Evening Standard alluded to "the vital necessity" of defending the empire's trade routes as "recognized by sensible men the world over," and added that "Japan understands that Singapore is no menace" to her.

Arrow points to Singapore, British naval base, where an imperial naval conference opened yesterday to outline a far eastern defense program.

AMERICAN ENVOY DENIES SPEECH THAT ROILED JAPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 24.—[Wednesday.]—The Japanese foreign office announced today that Edwin L. Neville, counselor at the United States embassy, called on the foreign office spokesman last night and at the request of Ambassador Joseph C. Grew denied the truth of cabled accounts of a speech made by Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the far eastern bureau of the American state department.

The Japanese spokesman had attacked the speech on the ground that it renewed the controversy over the Stimson doctrine of nonrecognition of Japanese conquests in Manchuria and that it represented an untimely danger to harmonious relations between the United States and Japan.

Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister, was informed of the matter this morning and is expected to have the foreign office spokesman retract his statement, in view of the American denial.

Doctor Orders La Guardia to Bed with Severe Cold

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—After fighting a cold for days, Mayor F. H. La Guardia went home and to bed at noon today upon the order of Dr. S. S. Goldwater, commissioner of hospitals, who called at city hall on other business and noticed that the mayor was running a fever.

JAPAN TO CURB WAR PROPAGANDA AIMED AT U. S.

Issue Raises a Storm in House of Peers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 23.—Assailing war propaganda, Count Yoshinori Futara, in a speech before the Japanese house of peers, today demanded that the government curb dissemination of views likely to inflame the minds of persons here and abroad.

Undoubtedly aimed at the flood of "war sca..e" articles aimed at the United States which are appearing in current issues of Japanese magazines over the names of prominent militarists, the speech attracted wide attention. It followed by a day the resignation of Lieut. Gen. Sadao Araki as Japanese minister of war, which is heralded as marking the downfall of the military dictatorship in Japan.

Plan Ban on Publications.

Count Futara's speech resulted in promises by Premier Saito and other cabinet members to guide Japanese thought in the proper channels.

Home Minister Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto declared that the government would control publications containing articles predicting war.

Count Futara urged propagation of the international spirit and declared that the present widespread "Nippon spirit" does not represent the true national feeling.

Premier Saito said he fully concurred in these views and would adopt appropriate measures. Mineo Osumi, navy minister, expressed similar sentiments.

Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, who succeeded Lieut. Gen. Araki as minister of war, today said:

"Army policies for coping with the emergency confronting the empire already have been determined and will not be changed."

However, political writers were almost unanimous in the opinion that under the new minister there will be less army interference in nonmilitary political matters.

COMMUNISTS WIN DAMAGES FROM LONDON POLICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A verdict for damages of $150 was given in the King's Bench court today against Lord Trenchard, chief commissioner of the metropolitan police, and two other police officers.

While small in amount, the award is considered immensely important as establishing individual rights as against the police and other government departments. The plaintiffs were Sidney Elias Emrhys Llewellyn, George James, and Walter Hannington, communists and leaders of the National Unemployed Workers' movement.

Some months ago the police raided the office of this organization following violent speeches by Hannington and carried off a number of documents. After the case against Hannington was finished they refused to return the documents on the ground that they disclosed evidence of a dangerous conspiracy. Justice Horridge in his judgment today held that seizure of the documents was improper and ordered their immediate return.

Now—Keep Breath Sweet All Day

You know what close contact with a person whose stomach is upset means in bad breath. Excess acids ferment foods, form unpleasant gases that rise and cause embarrassment. If the offending person realizes it.

As a well-bred person what you want is not covering up the odor with rinse or gargle, BUT ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

The way to get this is to make sure the STOMACH is always sweet. Your own doctor will tell you what to do: Take a teaspoonful of BiSoDoL in water morning and night.

This discovery—a blend of digestive remedies—is safeguarding thousands. It neutralizes excess acids at once. Keeps your stomach settled. You wake up with a clean pleasant taste in your mouth—no trace of faulty digestion—your mind completely at ease on the score of conspicuous breath.

Begin using BiSoDoL now. Take it, also, for gas, heartburn, or any stomach discomfort—the improved, quick, new-day remedy doctors everywhere prescribe. At all druggists.

Bobby's much better since he stopped having Colds

"HE used to lose a week from school a couple of times every winter, and that's pretty hard for a boy to make up. But we heard a celebrated doctor say on the radio that Mistol Drops used every day would prevent most colds—and now Bobby's at the head of his class!"

Colds, of course, are a germ infection, and the soft membranes of the nose and throat offer an ideal home for the germs to settle and multiply. If you can catch them at the spot where they start their work, you head them off before they have had time to grow and spread. You have dodged a cold.

That is exactly what Mistol Drops do for you. They go right to the spot where the cold germs first settle—right in the nose—and stop them from multiplying and getting into the system.

Many cold treatments are strong and harsh—too harsh for delicate membranes—but Mistol Drops are pleasant to use, fragrant, healing, soothing and entirely harmless. They contain no ephedrin.

When your throat is hot and burning, when your nose is stopped up from a cold, Mistol Drops give quick relief.

To help prevent colds—to relieve them quickly when they start—the safe way and the easy way is to use Mistol Drops. Get a bottle today!

CONSIDER PLAN FOR ABOLISHING MARINE CORPS

Suggest Naval Men Take Over Work.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—With the coast guard about to be absorbed into the navy, as a means of effecting increased efficiency and economy, a suggestion has now been made that the marine corps has outlived its usefulness and should be abolished.

The suggestion raised a loud wailing among both naval and marine corps officers, but it is expected to be reviewed during the coming months of the congressional session.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson is in the hospital with a persistent ailment, and the navy is being run these days, insofar as the admirals permit any "outsider" to run it, by the President's cousin, Assistant Secretary Henry Latrobe Roosevelt.

Former Marine Officer.

Mr. Roosevelt, out of his 21 years as a marine corps officer—he resigned with the rank of lieutenant colonel in 1920—views with exceeding distaste, even with pompous disgust, any move toward the discontinuance of the marine corps.

It was pointed out to Col. Roosevelt that the new policy of nonintervention enunciated by the President in a speech last month has eliminated the one essential excuse for the maintenance of a marine corps.

The corps has been used during past years to enter and occupy certain territories over which the United States has maintained a paternal surveillance and which got out of hand. The last landing of marines was in Nicaragua when that Central American nation burst into a tempest of political disorder.

But the President has now announced a policy whereby the United States will not enter its military into a foreign country under any circumstances except to protect American lives and property. He made it plain that he expects such instances would be rare.

Used to Police Sailors.

An independent survey of the duties of the marines led to the conclusion that except for its task of imposing discipline upon the sailors of the navy there are no functions which either the navy or the army could carry out without any change in training or organization.

It is presumed that the admirals could find some other means of policing the unruly sailors, even though their claim is that it has been tried without success. The admirals seem unable to explain how the army gets along without an independent police force, but it may be that the romance always attached to the jack tar, his great forte for forgetting to go back to the ship and having a "sweetheart in every port," may have something to do with the difference.

For its other duties, the marine corps guards and polices all properties of the navy on shore, a chore which the admirals could also solve probably, and it serves aboard ship to constitute a landing force in cases wherein an emergency seizure of some port or base is deemed essential to the war at hand.

Blue Jackets Possibility.

This last duty, it is believed, could be assumed by the navy itself, through the training of blue jackets in the art of these emergency landings, or by the army.

The marines were organized in 1775, when, along with other continental troops, two battalions of marines were authorized by the continental congress. The corps has been held intact ever since, except for one period at about 1800, when because of a shortness of cash the congress did not appropriate for any marines and the corps was momentarily discontinued.

During the 155 years of existence the marines have established an esprit de corps which has been their pride and joy, and it is this tradition of valor and victory which is recognized as the greatest objection to the abandonment of the corps.

The merging of the coast guard into the navy, which is being accomplished under the prodding of the President himself, is also resulting in some heaviness of heart.

Coast Guard Unwanted.

The admirals are said not to want the coast guard, and the coast guard is said not to want to be in the navy.

Until now the coast guard has been an arm of the treasury department, employed chiefly in the capture of smugglers, but also in the patrolling of certain waters and in maintaining rescue stations at many coastal points.

The navy has come to look upon the coast guard as a force of snoopers because of the coast guard's activities against rum runners. Recently, when Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau wanted some naval planes to prevent the landing of 40,000 cases of contraband whisky off the coast of California, he was compelled to get an order from the President before the navy would give them. The coast guard has had no flying corps of its own.

In the plans for merging the coast guard into the navy, President Roosevelt has laid stress on economies to be effected. Officers of the guard will henceforth be trained at Annapolis instead of at the coast guard academy at New London.

The President has not mentioned another point, which is that, under Volsteadism, the coast guard was enlarged to a greatly oversized bureaucratic unit, and it is hoped that the navy may succeed in deflating its size.

BAULER FAILS TO APPEAR IN COURT; ARREST ORDERED

Ald. Matthias (Paddy) Bauler of the 43d ward was ordered taken into custody yesterday because he failed to appear in the court of Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell on a charge growing out of the shooting Policeman John Ahearn in front of Bauler's saloon at 343 West North avenue on Dec. 19. Assistant Sheriff Frank Wright was wounded in that shooting affray.

DE PAUW TO DROP MILITARY DRILL AFTER NEXT JUNE

Enrollment Falls Too Low to Continue.

Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—De Pauw university will request the United States war department to withdraw the local R. O. T. C. unit at the close of the present school year. The board of trustees at the annual meeting here today voted the action, with but two dissenting.

The De Pauw unit has engendered factional difficulties on the campus since 1925. All through the administration of Dr. Lemuel H. Murlin students and faculty members tried to have it placed on an optional basis.

Maj. W. R. Orton, then professor of military science and tactics, objected. Although the faculty voted repeatedly to make military training optional, it remained obligatory until President G. Bromley Oxnam took office in 1928.

Since then the military department has declined consistently, and the board deemed it doubtful if the 100 students necessary to insure the unit would enroll next September. Barely 100 are now enrolled.

De Pauw university is the only Methodist college now having military training. The Methodist church has repeatedly taken a stand against compulsory military training and, in keeping with resolutions adopted by the general conferences of 1928 and 1932, the trustees acted today. Roy O. West of Chicago is president of the board.

Maj. Francis M. Brannan has been in charge of the unit for the last two years. Previously Capt. B. B. McMahon, a De Pauw graduate, was head of the unit for four years.

BARE $12,500 FEE FOR ROSNER AS AID IN LINDY KIDNAPING

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—A fee of $10,000, plus $2,500 for expenses, was paid by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to Morris Rosner for his fruitless efforts to find the kidnapers of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., it was disclosed today.

In the early days of the Lindbergh baby tragedy Rosner had appeared at Hopewell, N. J., and had persuaded the aviator to let him act as contact man.

Counsel for Mrs. Ethel Rosner, who is suing for divorce, revealed the $12,500 payments in the Supreme court.

"Rosner has large means to pay suitable alimonoy," Irving Lipschitz, attorney, told Justice Valente. "He boasted that he had money in vaults and that he never paid an income tax because he's too clever. He has $75,000 worth of Long Beach property."

TELLS SHIPLESS LINES FIGHT FOR THE OCEAN MAIL

Witness Says Reed (Pa.) Backed It.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—How Senator Reed [Rep., Pa.] spoke against time on the senate floor in an effort to permit the postoffice department to award an ocean mail contract to a line without a ship was described today to the senate committee investigating air and ocean mail contracts.

A. J. Ball, general foreign freight agent for the Pennsylvania railroad, described Reed's filibuster, which was made only a few days before the Hoover administration left office.

Interested in Mail Deal.

The Pennsylvania was one of three railroads interested in the Philadelphia Mail Steamship company, said to have been slated by former Postmaster General Walter F. Brown to receive the contract for a route between Chesapeake bay cities, Philadelphia, and northern Europe.

A resolution was introduced in the senate to block the award, pending investigation. Reed took the floor and held it until the bids were opened. The contract, however, never was awarded. Ball said the shipping board refused the company permission to buy two vessels from the United States lines.

Reed, in Philadelphia today, admitted he had filibustered, but said he was motivated by a desire to advance the interests of the port of Philadelphia.

At shipping board hearings preceding the filibuster, several persons interested in the Philadelphia line said they would have little chance to get the contract for a line operating out of a normally Republican city once the Democrats came into power.

Ball testified the Philadelphia Mail Steamship line was to be formed by the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio, and the Reading railroads and that it expected to get the two vessels from the United States lines to use in the service.

Ball added, that at the suggestion of Walter F. Brown, then postmaster general, a working agreement was drawn up with the American Hampton Roads line, and that the postmaster general promised the contract, provided the filibuster could be arranged.

Atterbury Also Questioned.

Chairman Black [Dem., Ala.] tried to draw from W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, information indicating a connection between the Pennsylvania and the Hudson and Manhattan railroad, of whose board Walter F. Brown is now chairman.

Atterbury denied any corporate relation with the Hudson and Manhatton, which he said was "put together" by Senator McAdoo [Dem., Cal.]. He explained an operating pact for use of some of the lines between Jersey City and Newark.

Atterbury denied he knew anything about Brown's joining the Hudson and Manhattan until it had happened.

ILLINOIS' CWA LEADER SECURE, HOPKINS WIRES

Hints Action Likely in the Harvey Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief and civil works head, tonight telegraphed Robert Dunham, Illinois CWA chairman, assuring him that the federal government has no intention of shaking up or taking over relief or CWA functions in Illinois.

At the same time, Mr. Hopkins, after a conference with President Roosevelt, announced that he will ask for another 350 million dollars from congress with which to carry CWA work through May 1. No other money will be requested, and the CWA relief throughout the country will cease on that date, Mr. Hopkins said.

Deny Rumors of Ouster.

Informed that certain newspapers in Chicago were printing reports that he was about to suspend Chairman Dunham and seize control of the Illinois CWA program, Mr. Hopkins immediately dispatched the following telegram to Mr. Dunham.

"Newspaper reports that we are considering taking over relief or civil works administration functions in Illinois are entirely false."

While Administrator Hopkins was indicating his satisfaction with the present Illinois CWA regime, it was learned that the federal authorities here expect to push ahead with prosecution of charges made against the handling of a CWA sewer project in Harvey, Ill.

Ickes Talks on Dues.

Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes, meanwhile, was guaranteeing workers on public works projects protection against enforced "dues" payments in unions such as allegedly has been collected among CWA street workers in Chicago. Public works investigators have looked into the Chicago situation, but no immediate action seemed to be pending.

Despite the Harvey incident, which is the only one into which investigators have gone thoroughly enough to collect full evidence and affidavits, Mr. Hopkins was reported tonight by one of his spokesmen as believing that the Illinois CWA staff has done a generally good job.

In the Harvey matter Frank Bruggeman, Harvey mayor, was accused of "mislaying" low bids and awarding contracts to higher bidders. There were charges that sewer pipe was bought at 6 cents a foot above the low bid; that wheelbarrows were purchased at 45 cents apiece more than the lowest bid, and that sand and cement were bought at prices above the "lost" low bids.

Meant Harvey Case.

In Chicago United States Attorney Dwight Green was quoted as saying, however, that after study of the charges in the Harvey case more evidence would be required to warrant federal grand jury action.

It was explained on Mr. Hopkins' behalf that when he declared yesterday something was soon to happen in the Illinois CWA investigations he was referring merely to the Harvey incident.

While Mr. Hopkins and his staff were working with administrative and fiscal matters, Representative Gifford [Rep., Mass.] raised in the house of representatives broad questions of CWA policy.

Gifford said he had asked Chairman Cochran to call a meeting of the expenditures committee in order that they might look into "whether or not it is a good policy to continue giving wealthy towns and wealthy states who are able to provide for their own more of the CWA money."

Refuses to Call Committee.

Cochran, according to Gifford, refused to call the committee and charged Gifford with wanting to "uncover graft and corruption" and with wanting "to start a cheap show."

"Towns with tax rates of less than $20, wealthy towns, with not a dollar of debt," Mr. Gifford added, "are taking money from the federal government with an indebtedness facing us of 32 billion dollars; and I had to vote here last Saturday to split the dollar in half and for other features of that bill because I must back my President, regardless of what may befall."

Representative Cochran [Dem., Mo.], defending the administration, said that in September 11 per cent of the people of the United States were on the unemployment relief roll, and something had to be done about it, and something was done.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, minority leader, wanted a meeting of the committee for "a general overlooking of the billions expended by various agencies which have not been in control of the appropriations committee."

DUNHAM TELLS PLANS.

Robert J. Dunham, Illinois CWA chairman, yesterday ordered establishment of a central registration bureau for hiring of CWA trucks in Cook county. There were charges that CWA project directors in the city and county governments had shown political favoritism in hiring trucks.

Under Mr. Dunham's order, all truck owners applying for CWA hire will be required to register and accept assignments given. Preference will be given to war veterans and truck owners liable otherwise to go on the relief roles, Mr. Dunham said.

INCOME TAX YIELD LOWEST DURING YEAR '33

720 Millions Then; 2 Billions in '29.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Income taxes which American citizens paid in to the federal government last year were the smallest for any year since the income tax was enacted during the war.

The treasury department revealed that today.

Slightly more than 720 million dollars was collected from income taxes of individuals and corporations in 1933, according to final reports from collectors of internal revenue throughout the country.

This is the smallest total on record, falling more than 84 million dollars below collections in 1932, the previous low year. The 1933 collections of 720 millions were less than a third of those reaped from the federal income tax in the peak year of 1929 when the government realized 2 billion 346 million dollars from the fat boomday incomes of 1928.

But Rates Were Higher.

The drop of the income tax to the lowest ebb in its history occurred in spite of higher rates which were imposed in recent tax legislation and which took effect for the first time in 1933. Failure of the income tax was in sharp contrast to increasing collections under excise taxes such as those on gasoline, cigarets, beer, and electrical energy.

Slump in the income tax yield despite higher rates demonstrates, the treasury admits, that even high rates cannot make up for the dwindling of taxable income which takes place in the depression.

Since the beginning of the depression the income tax has fallen off more than 50 per cent as taxable incomes shrank. In 1930 the income tax brought the treasury 2 billion 333 million dollars; in 1931, 1 billion 386 million dollars; in 1932, 785 million dollars, and in 1933, 720 million dollars.

Decline on Corporations.

The higher rates on individual incomes in 1933 brought a slight increase in the taxes collected from individual incomes, but the decline in corporation income taxes more than offset the gain among individuals. In 1933 the taxes individuals paid amounted to 375 millions, compared with 320 millions in 1932. The 1933 corporate taxes, however, yielded only 345 millions, against 464 millions in 1932.

Although the income tax formerly yielded 56 per cent of all the federal government's revenues, it is now bringing in only about 20 per cent of the total revenues. Part of the decline has been due to tax avoidance, but most of it is attributable to the decimation of incomes by hard times.

Leans on Excise Levies.

As the government has had to look elsewhere for revenue, it has leaned more heavily on excise taxes. In December, 1933, it collected 1 billion 216 million dollars in taxes, of which 900 millions came from excise taxes and processing levies, while the income tax brought in only 316 millions.

Offer CWA Jobs, But Can't Find Idle Person in Town

Lunenburg, Vt., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Picture this community's embarrassment today when no unemployed could be found among its 1,500 population. Yesterday the town voted to develop a new airport, using CWA funds, to give work to unemployed. The project was scheduled to begin today, but no eligible candidates could be found for the work. Scouts were sent over the deep snow on snowshoes to seek two residents of outlying sections who were rumored to be without employment. Location here of a newsprint factory is largely responsible for Lunenburg's fortunate economic condition.

CWA Worker Is Sent to Jail for Hitting His Wife

Municipal Judge Leon Edelman yesterday sent Joseph Mangle, 3252 Fifth avenue, a CWA worker, to the Bridewell to serve out a $100 fine for disorderly conduct. Mangle's wife, Marie, charged that he hit her over the head with a pan of eggs which were being fried.

Gone! That COLD—

When This Remedy Gets Busy!

A cold is no joke, and Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine treats it as none! It goes right to the seat of the trouble, an infection within the system. Surface remedies are largely makeshift.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is speedy and effective because it is expressly a cold remedy and because it is direct and internal—and COMPLETE! It does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. That's the treatment a cold requires and anything less is taking chances. When you feel a cold coming on, get busy at once with Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For sale by all druggists, 30c and 60c. Ask for it by the full name and resent a substitute.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it. Then, you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store (it won't cost you more than thirty-five cents, 35c), apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

SEAWAY HIT IN 2 HOUR SPEECH BY N. Y. SENATOR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Senator Copeland, who, with Senator Wagner, is regarded as the leading opponent to ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada, made the first organized attack upon the project in a two hour speech in the senate today.

In the course of his speech he reviewed all the advantages and disadvantages of such a canal to this country. As a transportation proposition, he declared the canal would be of little benefit to the farmers of the northwest. While objecting to completion of the waterway, he favored the construction of dams to produce power.

Rails Aided, Says Report.

In pursuance of his policy of bombarding the senate with reports from government departments and independent branches stressing the desirability of the St. Lawrence deeper waterway, President Roosevelt sent one to the senate today containing an analysis of interstate commerce commission data on the relation of land and water transportation to the projected waterway.

Prospective increases in transportation by 1950, this showed, should demonstrate that the railroads would not be adversely affected by the seaway development. Rather, it was argued, the railroads would be benefited through a coördination of their facilities with the waterway.

"From a navigation standpoint," Senator Copeland said, "this is not an American asset. I have said so many times, the scheme is a proposal for an all-British canal."

Urges Barge Canal.

"If it were essential to have a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea," he added, "it would be more useful to the country to take over the New York barge canal.

"Regarding this project, there always will be two schools of thought. The St. Lawrence route is held in high favor in the west, but many thinking Americans feel that, if the money of the nation is actually to be expended in canal building, it should be spent wholly within the borders of our own country.

"The American plan would involve an initial expenditure of more money, but it would be hundreds of miles shorter. It would be open for a slightly longer season, and, for the purposes of national defense, would be at greater service to the nation."

DELAYS HEARING ON PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL IN "SCOTTSBORO CASE"

Decatur, Ala., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Judge W. W. Callahan today postponed until Feb. 24 the hearing on motions for new trials for Heywood Patterson and Clarence Norris, sentenced to death in the "Scottsboro case" trials here several weeks ago.

The postponement was granted at the request of defense attorneys, who advised Judge Callahan they would be unable to complete preparation of briefs by Friday, the date originally set for the hearings.

Patterson was convicted for the third time and Norris for the second before Judge Callahan at the recent trials on charges of having raped Mrs. Victoria Price aboard a freight train in Jackson county, Ala., March 25, 1931.

HIGHWAY BRIDGE ACROSS TRACKS IS O.K.'D BY RAILWAY

Arrangements for the construction of a bridge on the Southwest highway over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks progressed yesterday when representatives of the state highway department and of the railroad appeared before the Illinois Commerce commission with the railroad's signed permission for the project.

Funds for the construction of the bridge are to be obtained from the federal public works administration. Assistant Commissioner Harry A. Barr, who accepted the railroad's permit, said the matter will be referred to the full membership of the commission for a decision. It is expected that the commission will approve the construction plans.

The commission also started hearings on a citation against the Chicago Surface lines, ordering its representatives to show cause why its service should not be extended from the intersection of Archer and Cicero avenues southwest to the city limits, a distance of three miles. Ald. John E. Egan [13th] and residents of the districts affected testified to the need of the service.

CAMPBELL, AUTO SPEED KING, WILL HUNT GOLD BY AIR

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's automobile speed record, and Sir Alan Cobham, noted British airman, will leave London shortly on an aerial quest for gold in the waterless Kalahari desert, between the Zambezi and Orange rivers, the Daily Mail announced today.

Stimulated by information from an African explorer whose name was not announced "that there might be a gold reef somewhere in the Kalahari desert," they planned to go after it. They proposed to alight in the desert and use the airplane as a base from which to explore on foot with the aid of a geologist whom they will take with them.

Aside from the gold hunt Sir Malcolm will seek somewhere in Africa a suitable place for a fresh attempt on his own speed record of 272 miles an hour, made at Daytona Beach in February, 1933.

"GIVE UP GAS HEAT? SAY, I'D RATHER GIVE UP MY AUTOMOBILE!"

What clean, automatic gas heat has done for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson and family, at 7328 Michigan Avenue

"Instead of a coal bin, we now have this little work shop in the basement where my son makes all sorts of things."

Mr. Anderson, and his son Arthur, in their newly acquired workshop in the basement. "We use the basement for lots of things it never could be used for before," says Mr. Anderson. "Because now it's just as clean as any other room. Instead of a coal bin, we now have this little workshop."

FREEDOM from furnace drudgery! A warm, cozy house day and night! And a long-wanted workshop in the basement, right where the coal bin used to be! . . . That's what gas heat has meant to the family of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Anderson at 7328 Michigan Avenue.

No wonder Mr. Anderson says that he'd rather give up his automobile, than lose gas heat. "I never have to look at the furnace from one month to the next," he says. "And it certainly is a relief to get rid of that job of early morning fire building, and hauling out ashes."

OVER 20,000 HOMES NOW ENJOY IT

The cost of heating homes with gas is now so low that thousands of home owners in the Chicago area are switching to this sootless, dustless, automatic heat. Gas heat spells the end of all furnace worries. It banishes forever the drudgery of shoveling coal, poking fires, sifting and hauling ashes. It is clean, safe, dependable. And all through the day—and all through the night—it keeps your house just at the temperature you want it. A little thermostat on the wall controls gas heat — automatically.

LOW RATES . . . YOU INVEST NOTHING

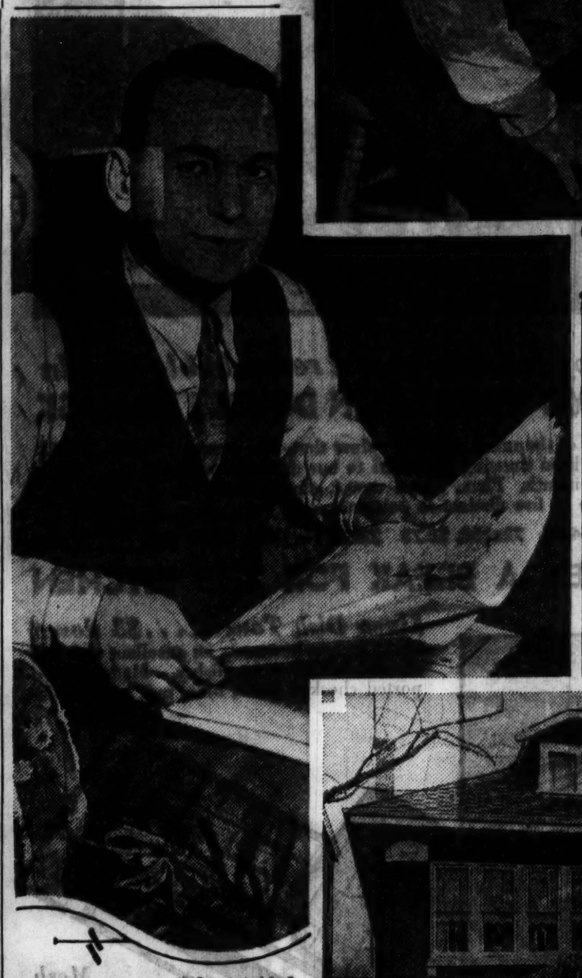
And—you can have gas heat without one cent of investment! We will install a burner in your present furnace or boiler at our own expense. You pay only the rental on the equipment, which amounts to $3 a month in the average home. You try it for a month, two months, a year. And if within the year you find that you are not completely satisfied with gas, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But—if you decide to keep gas heat—as we think you will—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

MAIL COUPON TODAY

Don't delay! It is pure folly not to investigate this liberal offer on gas heat when it brings so many comforts and conveniences. Mail the coupon, and get full information on the cost of heating your home with gas.



"It certainly is a relief to get rid of that early morning job of fire building and hauling out ashes," says Mr. Anderson.

Living Costs Are on Rise: Gas Price Remains the Same

Living costs are again on the rise but the cost of gas, so important in your household, is unchanged.

In good times and bad, the price-trend of gas service has been consistently downward and the use of it has been constantly increasing. People do not constantly use more and more of something that is over-priced.

The prices of clothes, food, furniture, rent, amusement, all living costs—are constantly fluctuating. The past dosen years they were mostly going up or staying up, until the depression became acute, but the price of gas service was repeatedly reduced during the same period.

Used for cooking, heating your water and heating your home, gas remains the most reasonable item in your general household budget.

GEYER SAYS AAA WANTS TO TAKE ALL THE CREDIT

Awaits Praise for Price Raise, He Asserts.

The agricultural adjustment administration was accused last night by Don N. Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, of standing for a low farm price for milk so it could assume the credit in case an increase in price occurred. Geyer spoke before 800 Kane county farmers at Plato Center for the annual meeting of members of the association's district No. 9.

Geyer read a telegram sent by Chester Davis, administrator of the AAA, to Henry A. Pfister, president of the PMA. The communication had been turned over to him for the purpose of reading it at the meeting.

Reason for Refusal.

Davis stated, Geyer said, that the reason the AAA couldn't accept the price of $1.85 per hundredweight as fixed by the arbitration board was because if it did it would then be without a policy in dealing with the other major milk sheds.

"Apparently we have to be chastised for trying to do something for ourselves," Geyer commented, "the AAA might change shortly and accept the price of $1.85 but it would want first to set the price at $1.70 so it could take the credit for any increase."

He pointed out the need for the enforcement of a price is seen in reports that some milk dealers and producers were buying and selling milk at prices lower than those they had agreed to abide by during the truce.

Wanzer Heads Council.

Stanley Wanzer, 38 year old vice president and general manager of Sidney Wanzer & Sons Milk company, was elected president of the Milk Council, Inc., organization of large milk distributors, at an election held last night in the council's headquarters in the Builders' building.

He will replace F. D. Walmsley, chairman of the board of the Borden company, whose term expired. Wanzer is considered a progressive operator with alignments neither with the large nor small distributors.

NO BEER IS FOUND WITH MORE THAN 4.2 PCT. ALCOHOL

Tests of 104 brands of beer made in the United States since the 3.2 per cent alcohol limit was removed show that none has more than 4.2 per cent alcoholic content. The tests were made at the Siebel Institute of Technology, where the brewing of beer and other malted beverages has been taught for almost half a century.

All the tests showed more than 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight, the lowest being 3.3, according to Dr. Frederick P. Siebel, head of the institute. The beer best in regard to palate fullness, foam stability, specific gravity, and which was the most normally fermented, had only 3.6 per cent, or 4.5 per cent by volume.

Harry D. Garrett, acting head of the federal food and drug administration in the midwest, said no survey is being made at present to determine whether beer contains less than the amount of alcohol stated on the label. This would be a violation of the pure food and drugs act, subjecting the brewer to a fine of not more than $500 and imprisonment up to one year for each offense.

"We are interested only in labels used in interstate commerce," Mr. Garrett explained. "If proof or complaints are submitted to us of such violation, and the discrepancy is material, we will proceed against the violator."

Part of Nova Scotia Made Destitute by Snowstorm

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Several settlements in northern Victoria county, isolated by a driving snowstorm, were reported today to be "almost destitute." Coastal ships have not been able to enter Victoria ports for weeks and merchants are without stocks. Many people have no flour, kerosene or other winter supplies, it was reported.

FRANK KELLY SLATED TO SUCCEED M'COOEY AS BROOKLYN LEADER

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The election of Frank V. Kelly, public administrator, as Democratic leader of Brooklyn to succeed John H. McCooey, became almost a certainty today. Sixteen district leaders of the McCooey wing of the borough organization have entered into an agreement to stand together against all outside interference and to name Kelly.

The decision to accept Kelly is based upon two principles. The first is that Kelly as head of the Kings county Democracy will break definitely with Tammy hall and John F. Curry. The second is that the old line leaders backing Kelly will not in any circumstances accept any of the five recovery party district leaders for conspicuous posts in the revamped organization.

Kelly's selection will perpetuate the McCooey old line democracy in Brooklyn, but with a new deal for borough autonomy. His election will be acceptable to Washington and the Roosevelt Democrats, whose main purpose is to oust Curry and reform Tammany.

PLAN TO BRING NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW TO CHICAGO

Seek State Funds to Pay Prizes.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Leaders in the nation's dairy industry were completing plans yesterday to bring the National Dairy exposition in Chicago next October. It is estimated that the show would bring 100,000 or more people to the city then and in succeeding years.

A delegation of the exposition's officials returned yesterday from Springfield, where they discussed with Walter W. McLaughlin, state director of agriculture, the possibility of obtaining funds from the state's revenues from race tracks with which to pay for prizes and agricultural exhibits. Mr. McLaughlin presented a counter proposal that the National Dairy show be held at Springfield in connection with the Illinois state fair.

Prefer Chicago for Exposition.

The exposition officials said last night that they preferred to establish the exposition in Chicago, as the center of the dairy industry and as the leading agricultural city of the nation. They hope to make the show as prominent in its field as is the International Livestock exposition held here each December.

Charles L. Hill, agricultural commissioner of Wisconsin, is president of the dairy exposition, which has not been held in Chicago since 1919 and 1920. The last dairy show was held in St. Louis in 1931. With Mr. Hill on the steering committee are C. L. Burlingham, chairman, Dr. H. E. Van Norman, chairman of the executive committee, Dr. O. E. Reed, chief of the federal dairy bureau; John Carroll, Illinois breeder; and C. B. Schmidt, general manager of the De Laval Separator company of Chicago.

Would Bring Show on Contract.

According to the committee's proposals, the dairy show would be held here under a three or five year contract, and would be conducted on a more extensive scale than has been attempted in previous years. Several locations for the show have been under consideration, one being Soldiers' field in Grant park, it is said.

ALDERMEN TO GET EARLY START ON BUDGET PAVING

Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the city council finance committee, yesterday set next Friday for the committee's first session on the 1934 corporate budget.

The committee has until March 31 to prepare the budget, but Ald. Clark urged an early start, warning that the aldermen may have to cut approximately $4,000,000 out of the $43,767,518 budget submitted to them by City Controller Upham. In comparison the 1933 budget totaled $47,883,195, and the 1931 budget, the last one compiled under a former Republican mayor, $63,052,079.

The committee decided to make no recommendation to the council at its session today on what action it shall take on the court injunction ordering the city to repay salary cuts, totaling about $325,000, to municipal judges and city officials.

U.S. MUST KEEP UP HEAVY SPENDING, OFFICIAL SAYS

Cabinet Aid Speaks Before Road Builders.

BY HAL FOUST.

Future heavy appropriations of federal "easy money" for public works were described asa necessity last night by Oscar L. Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior and executive secretary of the special board for public works. He spoke before delegates to the American Road Builders' association annual convention attending a banquet in the Stevens hotel. The audience received his message as expressing President Roosevelt's policy.

Mr. Chapman opened his address with a colorful description of the crisis that faced the nation last March. He continued by telling of progress that has been made toward economic recovery, emphasizing benefits from $3,300,000,000 PWA fund created by congress last year.

"U. S. Must Continue Aid."

"But now," he concluded, "the problem of depression, and of unemployment, and of relief, and of public works is still nation-wide in scope. Consequently, now and for some time to come, the federal government must continue its aid to the states and subdivisions for public works. In that direction lies the straightest and quickest road to real recovery."

The speaker said that the economic crisis last March was an even more critical period in American history than the time between the end of the revolutionary war and the adoption of the constitution.

"Was this breakdown the disastrous result of some untried experiment?" he asked. "Not at all. The near catastrophe of last March was the result simply of continuing in the so-called 'good old ways.'"

Discusses Roosevelt Measures.

Then Mr. Chapman discussed President Roosevelt's experiments, the NRA measures for raising minimum wages, distributing employment and reducing cutthroat competition. He told of the $3,300,000,000 PWA fund and said virtully all of it had been allotted.

"Over and above that sum," he continued, "there are applications for projects pending with the public works administration and in the several state engineers' offices aggregating more than $2,500,000,000, or in other words, almost as much again as was originally appropriated.

"When you think of the cost, please remember that we spent $30,000,000,000 in the war when as a nation we were not in any real danger."

Jail General for $300,000 Warship Deal Discrepancy

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The former Russian general, Lebedievi, has been arrested in connection with an alleged $300,000 discrepancy between the price paid by Peru for Estonian warships and what Estonia received. Lebedievi, who handled the transaction, has been extradited by Estonia. It was reported police found $70,000 in the general's house here.

UNITED MINERS' CHIEFS PRAISE NRA IN REPORT

Request Power to Move to Washington.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Praise for objectives of the NRA appeared in the joint report of the international officers of the United Mine Workers of America to the miners' 33d biennial convention which 1,700 delegates opened here today.

"Organized labor is a single unit in its approval of the objectives of the act," the report said. "Labor may differ with the national recovery administration in its interpretation of the policies, but as to the act itself, the support of organized labor, in a fundamental sense, is without reservation."

The report declared the principles embodied in the recovery act "represent America's chief hope not only for economic recovery but for a better economic and social life in the future."

Lewis Attacks Progressives.

The document recommended that the convention authorize the international executive board to remove headquarters from Indianapolis to Washington if deemed beneficial.

"Four years ago," President J. L. Lewis said on taking the gavel, "a group of designing men in Illinois decided to form a new union to supersede the United Mine Workers of America. They did not succeed. They destroyed themselves and their own self-respect. This convention is a living testimonial that the United Mine Workers of America are greater and stronger today than ever before."

Gov. McNutt Commends Union.

Lewis referred to the benefits that have accrued to membership of the union under provisions of the national recovery act. He said the reason the miners had fared better than other groups under the Blue Eagle was that they foresaw the benefits under the recovery program and had taken advantage of the opportunity to organize.

T. N. Taylor, president of the Indiana Federation of Labor, aroused the convention to cheers when he described Lewis as "standing like a rock to beat back the unscrupulous operators in drafting a code for the bituminous industry."

"This state is friendly to organized labor," Gov. Paul V. McNutt asserted. He commended the miners for the "splendid support organized labor has given the government."

Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of the United States Department of Labor, will address the miners Jan. 30. Hugh S. Johnson is also expected to speak. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and C. B. Huntress, secretary of the National Coal association, are to talk.

16 HOUR SERVICE, COAST TO COAST, STARTING IN APRIL

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Sixteen hour coast to coast service is to be established in April by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. That was announced today by Richard W. Robbins, president of the "Lindbergh line." The announcement was made following the placing of an order with Douglas Aircraft company at Santa Monica, Cal., for forty-one new all-metal transports, which will cruise at 180 miles an hour.

The planes, now under construction at Santa Monica, will replace the equipment now in use. Test pilots of the company have been trying the first of these planes for the last six months. The order totals $3,500,000, inclusive of the engines.

Under the supervision of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, technical adviser to the air line, rigid tests were conducted before the selection of 700 horse power Wright Cyclone engines was made for the fleet of new air transports, officials of the company said. The engine is the same as the one that powered the plane Col. Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic on his recent survey trip.

The new planes carry fourteen passengers, two pilots, and a cargo of 600 pounds of mail and express. They have a range of 1,000 miles, and their cruising speed of three miles a minute is with but two-thirds of the available horse power.

CHARGES JOLIET UNION HAS FINED BREWERY $2,000

Agents of the federal division of investigation, it was learned yesterday, are investigating charges made by officials of the Porter Brewing company of Joliet that the Central Building and Trades council of Joliet has boycotted saloons selling Porter beer in an attempt to obtain $2,000. The brewing company is headed by P. F. [Packey] McFarland, former lightweight boxer.

Harold A. Wallace, vice president of the brewing company, charged that the demand of the union grew out of a squabble over the employment of nonunion labor when the brewery was remodeled when beer was legalized. He said union labor was substituted on the job after the union officials protested.

After the job was completed, Wallace said, a business agent of the union organization informed brewery officials that they had been fined $3,000 for starting the work with nonunion labor. Later, he said, the union agreed to reduce the fine to $2,000, which the brewery refused to pay. He said the boycott declared by the union is effective in saloons in Joliet, Gary and East Chicago.

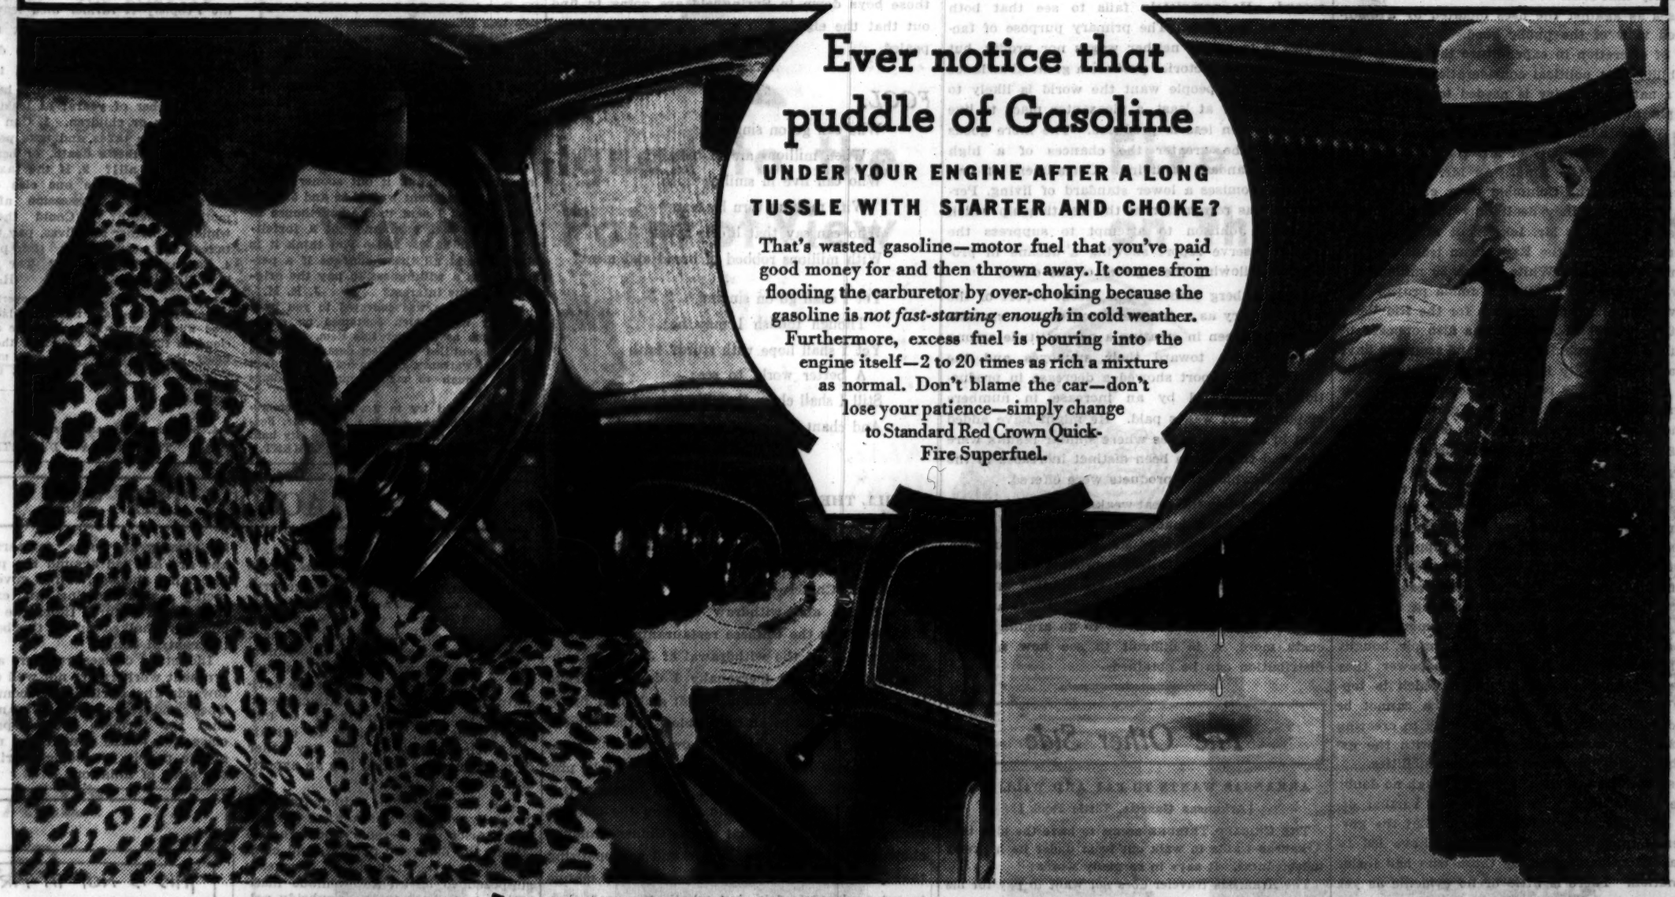
GET GOING FAST—and stop throwing gasoline away!



Ever notice that puddle of Gasoline
UNDER YOUR ENGINE AFTER A LONG TUSSLE WITH STARTER AND CHOKE?
That's wasted gasoline—motor fuel that you've paid good money for and then thrown away. It comes from flooding the carburetor by over-choking because the gasoline is not fast-starting enough in cold weather. Furthermore, excess fuel is pouring into the engine itself—2 to 20 times as rich a mixture as normal. Don't blame the car—don't lose your patience—simply change to Standard Red Crown Quick-Fire Superfuel.

STANDARD'S 1934 WINTER GASOLINE

REDUCES AMOUNT OF FUEL USED IN STARTING, 30% TO 50%

STARTS COLD ENGINES FASTER... Catches hold almost immediately when you punch the starter—cuts down chance of flooded carburetor—saves costly grinding-down of battery.

DEVELOPS FULL DRIVING POWER QUICKLY... Holds that fast start—sends the power evenly into every cylinder from the very jump-off—lets you go into gear and away without waiting, and with minimum use of choke.

GIVES YOU MORE MILES FOR YOUR MONEY... No excessive waste of gasoline in starting—no burning of excess fuel to warm up the motor. That means practically all the gasoline you buy is converted into actual mileage.

NOTE: Standard's gasoline price is one-half cent per gallon lower since January 1st. This is made possible by a reduction in the federal gasoline tax, which we are glad to pass along to the motorist.

IMPORTANT! No gasoline—no matter how fast-starting it may be—can get you going properly if the wrong oil is dragging on your cold engine. Here's an oil that is specifically made to help things along in winter—doesn't get heavy and sticky in severe cold—always gives your engine free play:

NEW WINTER GRADE ISO-VIS "D"
The Anti-Sludge Motor Oil, 10-W Pours at 20° Below Zero

A TRUE STORY
By A FARM MOTHER who learned in 1922 how to keep her family well with the doctor miles away

COMFORT, Texas, is real farm country. The nearest place of any size is San Antonio many miles away. Read this letter from Mrs. Lena Gewalt Saur, who tells how she keeps her family well and happy.

"We have been Nujol users since 1922," writes Mrs. Saur, "because in that year Nujol set my aged father back on the road to normal health after a serious operation.

"Now we are on the third generation, so far as Nujol is concerned. My small Bunny and Tinker (Fred and Richard Saur) know very little of medicine, and they never know how often Nujol and orange or tomato juice go down together. Being a farm mother, miles from a doctor's aid, I have learned how essential regularity is in avoiding those ailments where a doctor is needed. We haven't the time, money, or desire to be sick.

"Our own isn't the only Nujol story in the family, either. We have a young cousin who works in an office, and who has no chance for exercise. Nujol has become a health habit with her. There is our grandmother, too, who in later life found to her surprise that constipation was not necessary, thanks to Nujol.

"So we are using it still, and this little firm of We Us and Company will continue to use Nujol so that our physical engines may run smoothly and efficiently."

Nothing we could say would add anything to Mrs. Saur's letter. Her story uncovers a health history that goes back nearly twelve years, and shows how Nujol keeps all the members of her family well—herself, her children, and her own parents. Three generations of Nujol health.

If so many people have found Nujol such a simple, sure, easy way to be well, why don't you try it? Give it to your children, to make them regular as clockwork. It can't hurt them, because it is perfectly pure, and it forms no habit. Nujol comes in two forms, plain, and Cream of Nujol, which is flavored and often preferred by children. Get Nujol today at any drug store.

What is your Nujol story? If you have been using Nujol for ten years or more, if you are bringing up your children on it, tell us. Address Stanco, Inc., 2 Park Ave., New York City.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

SCANDALS IN THE MAKING.

The President's efforts to purge the Democratic national committee are no doubt sincere and will accomplish some good; still it would be a naïve observer, indeed, who concluded that as a result of these efforts all likelihood of the conversion of political influence to personal profit had been removed.

Some time may elapse, to be sure, before the facts are revealed, just as a considerable time has elapsed since the postal contracts now under investigation were negotiated by Postmaster General Brown in the Hoover administration. The general principle which governs in these matters is that when politicians have public money to spend they will seek to spend it to political advantage. The more they have at hand the greater the probability that some of it will be diverted to political uses as against the uses dictated by a disinterested view of the public good. The wider the range of discretion in expenditure the greater the probability that political considerations will enter.

No senatorial inquiry is needed to disclose this principle at work in the appropriations of the Public Works administration, despite the unquestioned personal integrity of Mr. Harold Ickes, the administrator of the fund. As Mr. Henning recently reported, the Columbia river gang got nowhere as long as they dealt only through Democrats and only with Mr. Ickes, but after Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, paid a personal visit to the White House 20 million dollars was earmarked for the Columbia project. The somewhat smaller appropriation for the Rio Verde irrigation project in Arizona was also opposed by the Public Works administration and seems to have been authorized only in response to political pressure. Here, too, the politicians scored against engineers and economists. The Tennessee valley scheme makes no sense until it is examined in the light of its political implications, when it becomes crystal clear. The administrators can hardly be unaware of the fact that they are repeating in the Tennessee valley most of the sins which are properly charged to the utility holding companies. They are creating an oversupply of power, not, to be sure, at the expense of the investors, but of the taxpayers, who are even less able to protect themselves; they are financing the purchase of electricity-consuming equipment pretty much as Middle West Utilities, for example, bought up mills in New England to buy its power; they are setting up a capital structure which is top-heavy and upon which a fair return cannot be earned. They are, finally, on the way to creating a maze of interrelated corporations with the expectable confusion of personal responsibilities.

These matters are already clear, though no doubt future senatorial inquiries will reveal further details. What is not so clear today is that the government's maneuvers in devaluation have led to substantial private profit by those who had inside information. There is little or no evidenle as yet that any such profits have been made, but a great inherent probability that they have been made. Too many people were in the secret from time to time to have kept it inviolate. The temptations were too great. As it was the government's purpose to raise prices, any one who bought the day before the government took action to raise prices was only doing what the government wanted done. Beating the gun was therefore at worst a peccadillo, or so the conscience-easing formula would put it.

The use of the taxpayers' money to buy congressional approval for more appropriations and the diversion of at least a part of these subsequent appropriations to the same political end is the pattern for much of what has happened and much that will happen. There is no end to this process short of national bankruptcy and the breakdown of the moral fiber of the citizens and their representatives. The danger that the process will run its full course is inherent at all times in the very nature of politics and particularly of democratic politics, but has been immensely aggravated, of course, by the existence of an emergency with its seeming justification of expenditures on an unprecedented scale, accompanied by expansion of the activities of government into new fields.

Men in office commonly delude themselves with the notion that their use of public money for political advantage is a necessary evil, required to keep out of office an opposition much less able and much less devoted to the general welfare. Once in a blue moon a Cleveland emerges who fears his opposition less than he fears his own active conscience. The Clevelands are the exception. The rule is that politicians will constantly seek excuses to widen their spheres of activity and increase their appropriations of the taxpayers' money. The cost is high. It is observable in what has happened to the railroads, the banks, the shipping companies, the land banks, the farm board, and a score of other activities invaded by government.

From the history of the extension of government into the fields of private activity it ought to be pretty clear that the interests of the nation as a whole are best served when the government is most strictly limited in its activities. It ought to be clear, but it isn't as yet, to a substantial section of the population. Their education is proceeding apace, and all of us must pay the tuition bill.

SCOTCHING THE KIDNAPERS.

Again criminals who tried kidnaping as a get-rich-quick business have been found guilty. Souder and Swolley, the downstate gangsters who kidnaped James Hackett, have been sentenced to life imprisonment by a Cook county jury. The case was admirably conducted by the state's attorney's office and so well prosecuted by the assistant attorneys, Coghlan and Moynihan, that, as one of the defense attorneys remarked, the defense didn't have a limb on which to hang a hat.

Not long back the people were wondering if it were possible to find a protection from this terrible form of criminality from which no one suspected of being able to pay a heavy ransom could feel himself safe. The people were not to be blamed for fearing that their law officers would be unequal to the responsibility. The attack was upon the security of life and property in a most violent form. It can now be said that the law has had a success exceeding expectations.

The laws themselves were strengthened, the police work, both federal and state, has brought detection and supplied the evidence, the prosecutors have prepared cases for conviction and juries have stood up. The crime has not been completely stopped, but it has been scotched to an extent which may not be entirely perceivable. Kidnaping was becoming a matter of business.

If the law had been unequal to the situation there is no telling now what sort of a terror might be loose in the United States. The criminals, if they could, would have not only levied tribute on their victims but they might have so intimidated them and their families that silence would have been the price of future immunity. Society faced one of its very gravest dangers. There is reason to believe that it is already considerably allayed, and for this great benefit credit must be given to such officials as Mayor Kelly in the direction of police work against gangsters, and such prosecutors as Mr. Courtney in the preparation and trial of the cases.

MR. RICHBERG'S INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS.

The address of Mr. Donald Richberg, general counsel for NRA, before the classes in contemporary thought at Northwestern university was even more instructive than Mr. Richberg thought it would be. His speech was intended to present the philosophy of NRA; in fact, it exposed a fundamental error implicit in the NRA scheme.

Mr. Richberg takes the position that the first purpose of industry is to provide jobs and wages, while profits and dividends are secondary. He is obviously trying to pick a quarrel with those who may believe that profits come first and wages second. He completely fails to see that both positions are false. The primary purpose of factories is to create neither wages nor profits, but goods. When factories produce a great abundance of the things people want the world is likely to be, materially at least, a pleasanter place to live in than when less is produced. The more goods produced the greater the chances of a high average standard of living. Curtailment of production promises a lower standard of living. Perhaps it was recognition of this relationship which led Gen. Johnson to attempt to suppress the federal reserve report showing a decline in production following the signing of his codes.

Mr. Richberg pointed to a recent report of the steel industry as a demonstration of how successful he has been in creating a new attitude among business men toward their employés and the public. The report showed a decrease in production accompanied by an increase in numbers employed and wages paid. He might have added that in most industries where similar results were obtained there have been distinct increases in the prices at which the products were offered.

Quite possibly the great weakness in our economic system has been inadequate distribution; but it remains to be seen how Mr. Richberg's [and Mr. Wallace's] schemes to lessen production and raise prices will achieve a wider distribution of goods than we have known in the past. If, as a result of their efforts, there is less to go around and it costs more, it is difficult to see how a wider distribution can be obtained.

The Other Side

ARKANSAS WANTS TO PAY AND WILL PAY.

[Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock.]

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE seems to have the idea that Arkansas wants to walk out from under its highway indebtedness. It says in so many words:

The Arkansas traveler does not want to pay for his roads.

Before undertaking to indict this state and its people on such a charge THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE should have informed itself of the facts. Had it done so, it would have found that as a result of a slump in highway revenue, brought by the depression, Arkansas was placed in exactly the same position as a number of the country's great railroad corporations. The operating revenue of these companies shrank until they could not pay the interest on their bonds. Some of them were forced into receivership. Others were saved only by RFC loans.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE might just as logically, and with just as little truth, say that those embarrassed railroad companies don't want to pay for the tracks and terminals and other facilities and equipment they bought with their bonds as to say that Arkansas does not want to pay for the highways and bridges it bought with bond issues.

There is no feeling in Arkansas any more than in those railroad corporations that bond creditors are not entitled to their money. There is no disposition in Arkansas, as the Chicago newspaper insinuates, to charge the creditors with "turpitude of the worst sort" because they want their money. On the contrary, there are behind this refunding special session months of sincere effort to work out with the creditors arrangements acceptable to them and within the power of the state to carry through without further defaults.

What THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE does not take into account when it virtually charges Arkansas with "repudiation morality" is the fact that the highway indebtedness includes $47,000,000 of road district bonds that are liens on the homes, farms, and other property of the people in 64 of the 75 counties. If Arkansas should continue in default of its highway obligations this $47,000,000 of debt would go back directly on the affected property owners, who therefore are as much interested in an acceptable refunding of the entire debt as any of the creditors can be.

"FIRST SHIPMENT of Japanese Whisky Comes to United States."—Headline. There are lots of horrible things that I can conjure up in my lonely moments, but somehow Japanese whisky seems among the most terrible. Maybe it's Japanese Scotch! Could anything be more like a nightmare, more horrific in every sense of the word, than Japanese Scotch? It drags in visions of the Japs wearing kilts, playing on the doodlesacks, and saying "hoot mon" as they walk around in their stills making Japanese Scotch. Personally, I formerly believed in the stork; for a long time I had a firm faith in Santa Claus; I have even held to the idea that NRA would end the depression. But I cannot, I will not have any faith in Japanese Scotch. There is no such animule!

LADY POETS.

Feminine poets are painfully smart
In everything but their affairs of the heart;
Tears and heartaches their favorite topic,
A lost love can make them wax lyric and tropic.
If they can't seem to capture the male they adore,
They get mournful or flippant or wistful or sore.
It's tough to be victim of a one-way passion,
But worse to broadcast it in iambic fashion;
They ought to exterminate each rhythmic dame . . .
Excepting, that I am exactly the same!

IT MUST BE GREAT to be an American tourist in Paris now. It looks like there's going to be a crisis, and sunrise in the Alps, the Coliseum by moonlight, and a French crisis are three wonderful things I want to see before I cross the Styx. There was a good curtain raiser for a crisis in Paris Monday, mobs running up and down the boulevards shouting "A bas la Chautemps!" The à bas this or that always comes first in a French crisis. The next step is to go over and pull down the Vendome column. Then the Parisians just break loose and à bas everything and build barricades in the streets until morning, when they go over to the markets and eat onion soup. Oh la la la, vive la France!

THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE is still wrangling over the state liquor control bill. Some day those boys down in Springfield are going to find out that the eighteenth amendment has been repealed.

FOOL.

Who can go on singing
When millions are in tears?
Who can live in smiling faith
With millions torn by fears?
Who can say that life is sweet
With millions robbed of bread and meat?

Yet I shall go on singing,
Though foolish I may be;
Yet I shall hope with sturdy faith
A better world to see;
Still I shall claim that life is good,
And chant my creed of brotherhood.

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

STILL THE WAR TALK involving the U. S. A. and Japan continues. We might be able to stand a war with Japan, but we never should go to war with China. If we did China might issue an order to the loyal Chinese in America to retire to internment camps and withdraw chicken chow mein sub gum from the Chinese restaurants. We could easily withstand the withdrawal of Japanese hundred year old eggs (personally I don't like eggs that are even a few months old) and fried flying fish, but it would be an awful blow if the Chinese took away from us chicken chow mein sub gum. Chicken chow mein sub gum when properly prepared should be an enduring bond between this country and China. I could tell you the Chinese restaurant in Chicago that makes Chinese chicken chow mein sub gum so delicate and so appetizing that the angels would throw away heavenly manna to get a plateful of it—but what's the use? You were brought up on ham and eggs. The very name of chicken chow mein sub gum would make you turn white and scream for the police.

How often did the sunlight pass
Through this to set a room aglow
Before I came on earth to see!
No matter! Now it gleams for me!

MARIHUANA SMOKING.

MARIHUANA smoking received a mixed bill of health at the hands of a commission of army surgeons convened for the purpose of investigating the prevalence of the habit among soldiers in Panama, and advising the authorities as to what should be done about it. The report was definitely against the drug on three points. It found that, from the medical standpoint, the habit is detrimental to health; the habit is growing in prevalence; it causes intoxication and rapid pulse, and a mild drunken sleep follows as the second stage. These are points that will be considered as of importance by physicians, health officers, students of racial degeneration, and the commanding military officers.

Another finding is liable to be of greater interest to those who have the habit or who are headed toward it. This conclusion was that the people who have the habit are either morons (23 per cent) or psychopaths (62 per cent). In other words, if a man is found to be a marihuana smoker the chances are about six to one that he is a weakling mentally.

The report says that smoking marihuana does not cause mental deterioration. At least, the investigators found that these young men had not been harmed mentally by using it two years or less. It did not make them nitwits. They were that way in the first place. If this report is accepted it means that people will come to think of marihuana smokers as either morons or psychopaths, and the tagged people will not be happy about that.

Some other findings are, in a measure, orchids that offset the scallions in this bouquet. Smoking the drug does not cause criminality or moral or mental deterioration. The investigators found records of only four arrests for which marihuana using was credited with responsibility. These records did not show any unusual disobedience or any particularly offensive misbehavior.

The drug is not habit forming in the sense that opium is. It creates no cell hunger. The physiologic effects were, first, mild intoxication and a sense of well-being. This was followed by a desire to sleep. Smoking improved the appetite.

A great majority of the users said they preferred to use tobacco. They smoked the hashish just to kill time, to satisfy curiosity, to be amused, to be happy, to be satisfied, for pep. The urge was not a strong one. So feeble was it that any man of reasonably good sense should be able to recognize the folly of it and refuse to indulge.

The report saw no reason for the administrative officers to take extraordinary measures for controlling the use of the drug.

DIET CHANGE MIGHT HELP.

Mrs. J. M. B. writes: A 4 year old girl who once had pyelitis now wets the bed nightly. Her urine is ammoniacal. It is so strong it blisters her skin. Has no trouble in the daytime. Is tall and large.

REPLY.

A great many children do not get over enuresis until they are older than 4 years. To hold on to an infancy habit until beyond that age does not argue that anything is wrong. However, what you write about scalding, ammoniacal urine indicates one reason for the enuresis and suggests the cure. Have the urine tested carefully for degree of acidity or alkalinity. If ammonia is present, how much. What is the bacterial life in a fresh specimen. In most cases ammoniacal urine can be overcome by changing the diet. The new diet should contain very little fats and greases such as butter, cream, olive oil, gravy, fat meat, yellow of egg, not much meat. It should consist largely of skim milk, skim milk cheese, cottage cheese, buttermilk, cereals without butter or cream, bread without butter, and jam, jelly, molasses, sirup, and fruits. In some cases it is well to have the underwear thoroughly rinsed in plain water after being washed in soap and water. In other words, no soap is to be left in the cloth. It may be that this will be the only treatment required.

WINTER RED NOSE.

J. H. D. writes:

1. What makes one's nose so red in the wintertime when out in the cold for a short time?

2. Is there any cure for it?

REPLY.

1. The direct cause is exposure to cold. Probably your cheeks also get red. Since the nose is the most outstanding feature the cold gets a fine chance at it. Since it warms up the air of respiration, cold air gets a double chance at it. Among possible contributing causes are digestive derangement due to drinking whisky, improper eating, and constipation.

2. Correct your habits as they need it. Harden your face and especially your nose by washing daily in ice water and warm water in alternation and by massaging the face and nose gently every day with ice.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. On June 4, 1932, I bought two lots from a real estate firm, and on the deed it read the lots would be free of encumbrance when paid up. These lots were paid for two months later, and now I find there is a special assessment forfeiture for water main, forfeited on Jan. 4, 1932. I asked them to pay this and was refused. Can I hold them to this, as the forfeiture was six months old before I bought the lots? Is this my loss for not finding it out sooner? The original assessment was $1.60 and 5 cents interest, and I sent to the courthouse to see if this was paid and got a forfeiture bill for $6.52. 2. Do you think it is right to add all these charges if a person shows a willingness to pay the original tax plus interest? J. E. M.

1. If the title was conveyed to you by a warranty deed which contained no exceptions, such as to cover this item, then you would be entitled to collect damages for the breach of warranty, but the amount involved is not enough to make court proceedings worth while.

2. You might try to work out a compromise by taking the matter up with Mr. Peacock in the controller's office in the city hall.

UNPAID TAXES.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A farmer died leaving his property to his children, but they do not take possession until the death of their mother, who lives with them on the property. Taxes have not been paid for a number of years; at least not by the mother or children. 1. Can an outsider pay the taxes and take possession after the mother's death, or before her death [if at all]? 2. If the taxes have been paid by some one else can the heirs still gain possession after the mother's death? 3. Could the heirs, while the mother still lives, pay the back taxes and thus clear the property? 4. Can anything be done? The property is in Illinois. R. E. O.

1. Under Illinois law the property would be sold for taxes, and two years later a tax deed would issue which would be a serious cloud on the title, but ordinarily the grantee under the tax deed would rely merely on clouding the title and would not take possession.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile.—The government has crowned a long series of efforts in behalf of the farming community by assuming control of wheat exports. President Arturo Alessandri signed a law, passed by both chamber and senate, which empowers the agricultural export board, a state concern, to intervene in the market, "to buy and sell wheat, all kinds of cereals and their derivatives, and any other farming produce which has an exportable value."

The law subjects shipments to a quota system, assures a fixed government price for cereals and produce left in the domestic market, and commands the central bank, formerly supposed to be an autonomous institution, to finance the new subsidy policy. The state agrarian bank must also cooperate, according to the law.

Article 5 of the law states that a minimum price of 16 pesos per bushel will be paid by the state for exportable wheat. Making all allowances for depreciated Chilean currency and the four varying rates of exchange, official, officially sanctioned nonofficial, barter and bootlegged, this works out at about $1 per bushel.

The harvest, which occurs in March and April, is estimated to produce 36,000,000 bushels of wheat and, as the government has allotted $8,000,000 to finance the export board's operations, it is assumed that it will allow no more than 8,000,000 bushels to be shipped out of the country.

In previous years farmers, induced by the heavy premium on foreign currency when Socialists set the printing press to work, shipped away all available grain, causing a domestic famine for two winters in succession. Much of the government's gold bullion was afterwards used up to pay for imported flour to feed the people.

The quota system will prevent a repetition of this scandal and at the same time placate the farmers, because the export quotas at $1 per bushel will be distributed proportionately among agricultural producers. The law allows for a slightly lower price, averaging 80 to 85 cents, for wheat sold to home millers.

All state institutions linked with the agricultural industry are charged with the duty of reporting infractions of the price limits imposed by the law. Anybody buying or selling at lower rates will be fined 25 cents for each bushel involved in the transaction.

The proceeds of foreign sales of grain will not be permitted to enter the country in cash form. Their value must be translated into goods, which will be restricted to classes vital to the country's crisis needs.

The proceeds of agricultural exports are already known as "farmers' bills" and are hawked around the principal importing houses, the government tacitly acknowledging an exchange rate which is three times the amount officially chalked up on the boards of the central bank.

Industrial classes, retailers and government workers are not well disposed towards the agricultural community. They and their press organs claim that the farmers are a pampered class, for whose benefit the majority of the people are being sacrificed on the altar of inflation.

NO EXPORTS WITHOUT IMPORTS.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—I have read with interest Mr. Arthur Evans' article in Thursday morning's TRIBUNE and it is quite true, as he states, that the drop in the value of the American dollar has stimulated the export trade, but he overlooks to mention the fact that it is equally a hindrance to our import trade.

The only way a foreigner can obtain dollars, either to pay an old debt or to buy fresh American goods, is to ship something into this country. We will lend them no more. In fact, we are sorry we loaned them so much. However, just as soon as they ship goods to us in increasing quantities somebody runs to Washington to increase the tariff or to put the country on a quota.

In 1929 the United States packers shipped to Cuba 80,000,000 pounds of lard and to the Republic of Colombia 22,500,000 pounds of lard. In fact, the money that we were loaning those countries left our ports in the shape of lard, automobiles, and a thousand and one other articles and we were practically lending these countries the money with which to pay for these goods. In 1933 the export of lard to Cuba was approximately 12,000,000 pounds and to Colombia practically nothing, the reason, of course, being that neither of these countries has any dollars with which to buy our surplus commodities, and when Cuba tries to pay its debt in sugar we insist on a duty of nearly 300 per cent to stop Cuban sugar from coming into this country, while admitting sugar from Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands free of duty. GEORGE MARPLES.

THE DOCTOR'S FEE.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—People have adopted the attitude that the doctor is somehow able to get along without payment and that since his services are so vital to society, money should not be a consideration. Did it ever occur to them that the doctors must also pay rent and grocery bills? Where are they to get money to pay their bills? Why should they be expected to advance credit when nobody expects the shopkeeper to do so?

If a man is badly frozen we would all expect a doctor to take care of him, free if necessary. But if this same man went into a cloak shop and asked for an overcoat so that he should not freeze to begin with, how many would say that he be given the coat free? No doubt, very few. We sit by and allow a man to freeze and not believe it necessary to give him a coat free, and yet expect the doctor to care for him gratis after he is frozen. F. H., D. D. S.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Hampshire, Ill., Jan. 18.—Mayor Kelly won in his fight for cheap milk. What will this mean? It means that over 20,000 dairy farmers have lost their buying power. It means that over 20,000 farmers cannot buy farm machinery, paint, clothing, or any of the manufactured goods that Chicago is turning out every day. It looks as if Chicago is holding the penny so close to her eye that she cannot see the dollar ahead. REUBEN H. BEAN.

NOW HERE'S A LAW.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—It has been suggested to the writer that the new deal congress might bolster up one of the weakest spots in its recovery program—namely, the lack of demand for and consumption of capital goods—if the members now in session would pass a bill substantially along the following lines:

AN ACT to stimulate the consumption of capital goods within the United States and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America as follows:

Section 1. That on and after April 1, 1934, and up to and including April 1, 1935, within the United States and its possessions, arson shall not be legally or otherwise adjudged or construed to be a crime or misdemeanor.

Section 2. That during the period of time set out in section 1 the treasury of the United States, through a bureau to be organized under the terms of section 3 hereof, shall unreservedly guarantee the payment of any loss covered by any fire insurance policy issued by any company doing an interstate business, provided any such company shall be incorporated under the laws of one or more of the several states or possessions of the United States, and provided further, that any such loss shall occur within the boundaries of the United States or its possessions.

Section 3. That, to carry out the provisions of sections 2 and 4 of this act, there shall be organized, under the direction of the treasury of the United States, a bureau to be known as the federal fire insurance guarantee bureau, hereinafter referred to as the FFIGB. The secretary of the treasury shall appoint an administrator of the FFIGB, whose salary shall be $15,000.00 a year.

Section 4. That there is hereby appropriated the sum of five billion dollars, to be expended at the discretion and judgment of the administrator of the FFIGB in carrying out the provisions of section 2 of this act.

It was suggested further to the writer, should such a law be enacted, that Ed Wynn would make an excellent administrator of the proposed FFIGB, could he be persuaded to accept the honor.

PIOUS WISH.

Lombard, Ill., Jan. 13.—A man living in Chicago had a little dog given him yesterday—a lovely little fellow who wanted a home and some one to love him, and who in return would give all the faithful devotion of his little doggie heart. Today that man is driving out to one of the western suburbs to "lose" that dog. All I can say is that my prayer is that that man may some day lose some one very near and dear to him in punishment for this act of cruelty. C.

APPRECIATION.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Permit me to express my sincere appreciation for the article written by your Warsaw correspondent, Mr. Donald Day [CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE, Jan. 14].

The keen insight of Mr. Day into the past and present European affairs is most worthy, as also is the simplicity of style with which he embraces in a short article so many facts. ANTHONY H. MILKOWSKI.

BATTLE OPENS TODAY ON NEW STATE RUM BILL

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Ten weeks of battling brought a multiple amended liquor control bill to the floor of the Illinois house of representatives tonight where tomorrow it faces a vote amidst shoals of disapproval.

The measure might receive 77 votes which, if the less belligerent senate was willing, would make it effective July 1. That it will garner 102 votes and become operative immediately was much less likely. In any event storm clouds of Republican opposition followed the sunset and it remained for tomorrow's roll call to show whether Gov. Horner's ideas of liquor regulation will prevail now or in midsummer.

Bow to Horner's Demand.

Gov. Horner won a major victory in the joint senate-house conference committee tonight. His influence struck from the bill the Devine amendment which would have allowed unrestricted sale of beer over bars. Representative John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon] had the amendment adopted yesterday in the interests of merchants in his district who did not wish to go "into the restaurant business in order to sell beer."

As presented to the house the bill prevents the sale of liquor over bars save in establishments where the serving of food is at all times the principal business. This was the governor's idea and he added the further suggestion that in these establishments the bars be made counters by cutting their height to 40 inches. However, the conference committee took no action on that point and none seemed likely on the floor tomorrow.

The governor's objection to the Devine amendment came just as the committee thought it had a bill which had a chance of passage. From his sick bed in the executive mansion where he is recovering from a severe cold, Mr. Horner informed Senator R. V. Graham [Dem., Chicago], the chairman, and Senator L. O. Williams [Dem., Clinto] that he would veto the measure unless the amendment was stricken. Devine and Speaker Roe made a hurried trip to the mansion and the committee marked time.

Amendment Tabled.

They returned in an hour and Devine announced that he was satisfied with the bill as it was written. He stood "pat."

There were some false starts toward reconsideration of the amendment but finally upon Graham's motion the roll was called. There was much talk. Devine declared he believed he was expressing downstate sentiment by his amendment. Senator J. J. Earbour [Rep., Evanston] characterized that statement as a "specious issue" and proposed reconsideration and tabling of the amendment. Senator R. J. Barr [Rep., Joliet] stood with Barbour while representatives L. M. Green [Rep., Rockford] and F. W. Rennick [Rep., Buda] opposed him.

When it was all over it was found that the committee had voted to reconsider by a vote of 12 to 5 and then upon Barr's motion the amendment was tabled.

Devine Agrees to Sign It.

Mr. Devine proved himself a good sport by arising to state that although he thought the amendment was good and had done his best to keep it in, he would sign the conference report and support the bill.

Green, Rennick, and Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], the house minority leader, refused to sign the report and they composed the focal point about which the opposition rallied. The house received the report and set 10 a. m. tomorrow as the hour of debate and roll call.

Aside from the Devine amendment, the bill, as it is now written, fulfills most of Gov. Horner's desires and it also has the home rule feature which Mayor Kelly and the Chicago delegation insisted upon.

This alone is enough to insure some downstate opposition because of the separate control commissions—one for Chicago and another for the remainder of the state. Representatives Green and Schnackenberg are leading this revolt.

License Fee May Cause Fight.

Another point which may cause dissention concerns the license fee for importing distributors of liquor. While this was cut from $1,000 to $250 this morning—with the governor's consent—many members regard it as still too high. At the same time the fee for local distributors was raised from $50 to $150, and that, too, may bring attacks.

On a par in importance was the much discussed Powers amendment struck out yesterday which would have forced distillers to label as "imitation" all whisky not containing 75 per cent of liquor aged four years in oak. A substitute was adopted today on motion of Senator Mark A. Penick [Dem., Quincy].

While the exact wording was still in a state of formulation as the report was made ready for the house, the Penick amendment did assuage the objections of the farm bloc by providing that all liquids labeled "whisky" or "gin" and sold at retail must be a distillate of fermented grains. This took out the four year 75 per cent clause which the farmers insisted would injure their crop markets by forcing foreign importations.

CATHOLICS DEFY HITLER; BISHOP BANS NAZI BOOKS

Leaders of Church Spurn Regulation by State.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The conflict between officials of Chancellor Hitler's government and the Catholic church in Germany grew more bitter today.

The bishop of Aachen recommended that two books written by Nazi officials be placed on the Catholic index because they "endanger Christian morality." One of the books is Alfred Rosenberg's "Myth of the Twentieth Century." "It is most upsetting to find this book in the hands of school children," the bishop said.

The other book is a manual on the Hebrew problem by Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior.

Archbishop Defies Nazis.

The archbishop of Breslau also openely defied the Nazis. He urged his flock to enforce observance of the Hitler-Vatican concordat, under which none of the existing associations of Catholic faith can be dissolved by Nazi or any other temporal power in Germany.

The archbishop also forbade the ringing of church bells for any other than church purposes and ordered that halls of Catholic buildings be used only by church groups. This order is intended to make it impossible for Nazis to use Catholic bells and halls.

The Bayerische Kurier, a Catholic organ in Bavaria, today quoted Catholic leaders as asserting emphatically that they do not intend to relinquish any of their traditional prerogatives and will continue to issue instructions for the guidance of their flocks regardless of Nazi regulations.

Nazis Are Angered.

The Nazi newspaper Voelkische Beobachter today launched a broadside against Prof. Karl Adam of Tuebingen university for his speech yesterday before Stuttgart Catholic Youth associations.

Prof. Adam denounced the Nazis for attempting to capture the youth of the country for their own purposes. He claimed that German history has known no men of the greatness of St. Peter and St. Paul, eulogized the greateness of Jewish history, and attacked the Nazi German Christians as "superstition mongers." He said he saw in the resistance of Protestants to Nazification of their church proof of a "new community of Catholics and Protestants."

It is expected the authorities will take drastic action against Prof. Adam.

The Rev. von Schwarz, pastor of the 700 year old cathedral at Brunswick, and two other Protestant parsons were expelled for failing to conform to the wishes of the Brunswick state church, which is Nazi German Christian.

Bavaria Wars on Catholics.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MUNICH, Jan. 23.—Hans Stemm, Bavarian minister of education, whose appointment was not well received in Bavaria in view of his well known bias against the Catholic church, today declared open war on certain priests in Augsburg.

"The government," he said, "is well aware that the Nazi state still has numerous enemies in economic life, in the confessional, and elsewhere. I won't rest until these malignants are destroyed, root and branch.

"Two Christian churches accept God but not the race. Only when they understand the German nation from a racial viewpoint will they be able to present to the people a conception of God which will satisfy them. We, therefore, cry out to both churches: Do as the German people have done. Just as the German nation has opened wide the door to the idea of race and racial community, you must also open the door and admit the nation as a racial community."

NAZIS ESTABLISH COURTS TO TRY NEWSPAPERMEN

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Special professional courts to discipline newspapermen, who are public officials in Germany, were created today. Civil, criminal, and treason cases will not be tried in the press courts but if a verdict against a newspaperman is reached in a regular court, proceedings will start against him automatically in the professional tribunal.

Penalties the latter may inflict range from fines to dismissal from the Nazi journalists' list, which would bar the defendant from journalism.

The courts, set up under a decree of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, and Franz Guertner, minister of justice, replace the press law applied last fall. Under the measures freedom of the press, as generally construed abroad, has been eliminated.

AUSTRIA MAY APPEAL TO LEAGUE FOR HELP AGAINST HITLERITES

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—An Austrian appeal against an alleged German attempt to creat a Nazi régime in Austria, as a step toward political absorption, was foreseen by league of nations officials tonight as a supreme test of the Geneva peace machinery.

As reports circulated that such action was contemplated, a movement began to give Austria the kind of neutrality accorded Switzerland, in the interest of international peace, and to ask European powers to adopt a "hands off" policy regarding Austria.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria may invoke Article XI. of the league covenant, which provides that any threat of war is a matter of concern of the whole league and if any member complains a council meeting shall be immediately summoned.

Baron Pflugl, the Austrian delegate to the league, explained that Chancellor Dollfuss was ready to appeal to the council if Germany does not give a clearcut pledge to respect Austrian sovereignty.

MACDONALD ASKS SPEEDY ACTION TO STABILIZE MONEY

Seeks Another World Trade Parley.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Prime Minister MacDonald, speaking at Leeds tonight, said his government was watching for every opportunity to get the world together again in another attempt, by means of the economic conference, to restore the blessings of unhampered trade.

Referring to the American dollar, he indicated that he was eager to open immediate currency stabilization negotiations with the United States.

"One of the essential things is to get the great nations to come to agreements about the international exchange values of their currencies," he said. "We are never going to have full free trade unless we know what the relation is between the dollar and sterling, the dollar and the franc.

Impatient Over Delay.

"Let us build up the machinery of a coöperative world, and one of the first bits of the machinery will deal with the question of how the various coinages are going to be exchanged. I confess that I am impatient with the slowness of nations to stabilize currency. The mills of the gods grind slowly.

"Regarding coöperation, we are watching every opportunity to enable us to get together again with that agenda prepared by world experts at Geneva and get the governments to come to agreements which will remove unnecessary barriers and increase the stream of international trade that will flow to fructify all the nations of the world."

Politicians Are Puzzled.

The prime minister did not develop his thought concerning currency beyond the passage quoted, but even those few words were declared by British politicians to be puzzling unless explained as a bit of rhetoric put into a political speech without consulting Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer.

The chancellor and all the other members of the government would, of course, like to see the exchange inequalities ended, but experts of the treasury and the Bank of England are agreed in opposing any negotiations to stabilize the currencies of the two countries while the dollar is at its present level, which the British consider far too low. They want a $4 pound and might consider a $4.50 one, but certainly not a $5 pound.

FRENCH RIOTING GROWS; PREMIER, 5 AIDS ACCUSED

Crowds Fight Police Over Stavisky Scandal.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 23.—France's epidemic of riots in the wake of the $80,000,000 Stavisky scandal broke out with renewed violence on five fronts tonight. The disorders spread to two large provincial cities, Nancy and Marseilles. There were three separate battles between police and demonstrators in Paris.

When calm was reëstablished at a late hour, at least 400 arrests had been made and scores were injured, including 12 policemen.

While the street riots were in progress, the chamber of deputies itself was putting on a private riot of its own during a debate on the Stavisky scandal. The disorderly scenes in the chamber were touched off when Deputy Philippe Henriot named Premier Chautemps himself and five of his ministers in connection with the scandal, in which the late Serge Stavisky peddled $60,000,000 worth of fake bonds.

Ministers Are Named.

The five ministers named are Air Minister Cot, Minister of Justice Raynaldy, Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour, Finance Minister Bonnet, and Minister of Commerce Laurent-Eynac.

Pandemonium broke loose when Deputy Henriot made his charges. The deputies began pounding desks, shouting epithets and shaking fists. After half an hour of this the chamber gave Premier Chautemps a vote of confidence, 386 to 201. It was the third vote of confidence the government has obtained since the Stavisky scandal broke.

The streets of Paris where the riots occurred looked like veritable battlegrounds. They were covered with shattered glass, uprooted trees, broken wooden benches and strewn with paving stones and iron sidewalk grills.

While thousands of Royalists were battling police around the chamber of deputies quarter and their old battleground, the Boulevard St. Germain, a mob of Reds was engaged in bloody combat with steel helmeted mobile guards on the Montparnasse, opposite the famous Dome cafe.

Taxpayers March on Chamber.

At the same time a throng of taxpayers tried to march on the chamber from the Place de la Concorde to demonstrate their anger over the Stavisky scandal.

Traffic was tied in knots for hours as benches, trees and grills were hurled into the streets and trolley grooves were jammed with whatever the demonstrators could lay their hands on.

The Nancy riots started at a hall where neo-Socialists were trying to hold a meeting. These clashed with diehard Socialists who were planted there as well as with police, who finally cleared the hall only to have the battle resume outside. A score of injuries and 50 arrests resulted.

Civil servants staged a demonstration in front of the prefecture in Marseilles, agitating against salary cuts and clamoring for action as a result of the Stavisky affair. Police charged and finally succeeded in dispersing the demonstrators after seizing the ringleaders.

FASCIST STATE BORN IN ESTONIA; DICTATOR RULES

TALLINN, Estonia, Jan. 24 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A new Fascist state was born at a midnight cabinet session and was hailed with a salvo of 21 guns.

In accordance with a plebiscite last October, Prime Minister Constantin Paets assumed the functions of the president of the republic until he is officially elected.

Under the new Estonian constitution, he is empowered to issue laws by decree and veto any laws adopted by parliament. He can also dissolve the diet.

HITLERITES JAIL HEAD OF ESTATE FOR HIS TREATMENT OF LABOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Count von der Goltz, Nazi labor trustee for Pomerania, today ordered the arrest of the administrator of a Pomeranian estate for "scandalous treatment of farm hands."

A number of workers on the estate, it is alleged, were forced to share their beds and towels with their comrades. Lard instead of butter was handed out to the laborers in used envelopes. The laborers complained to the labor trustee, who immediately took sharp measures against the "unsocial elements which must learn that a new era has started."

"The reactionaries are trying to get fresh again," the editor of Deutsche, speaking at a press conference, today said. "They should not overestimate our patience. The very next days will show whether we can continue to tolerate the activities of reaction."

SPANISH CABINET IS REORGANIZED; POSTS SHIFTED

Rico Avello, minister of the interior, resigned and was made high commissioner of Morocco. Diego Martinez Barrios, minister of war, took Avello's place as minister of the interior.

Two radical Republicans, Abad Conde and Diego Hidalgo, were named president of the council of state and minister of war, respectively. Conde replaced Pita Romero as president of the council of state and Romero, it was understood, is to be named ambassador to the Vatican for the special work of drawing up a concordat with the church.

WESTERN CHINA PROVINCE SETS UP OWN REPUBLIC

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Sinkiang province, on the remote western borders of China, has declared its independence of China and established a new government at Kashgar, said reports reaching here today via the Tass [Russian] news agency.

The new government, ruling over nomadic tribesmen and farmers in one of the most isolated regions of Central Asia, was reported to be supported by Hotan Emir, whose domain lies close to the border of India. His protégé a merchant named Savit Domula, heads the new government.

The reports said a delegation headed by the assistant minister of war had been sent to Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, to negotiate for a pact of mutual recognition between the two countries. The delegation later was planning to go to India. Savit Domula was said to be inviting Turkish emigrants to populate the country.

Sinkiang has an area of more than 500,000 square miles and a population exceeding 2,000,000. The population is mainly Mohammedan and Buddhist in religion and Turkoman by origin.

BRITAIN MAY ACT IN FRANCO-NAZI ARMS QUARREL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—When the British cabinet meets tomorrow it will have before it the German reply to France on disarmament proposals and the German reply to a series of British questions on the same subject. In addition it will have to make up its mind on the German invitation to intervene in the matter as a third party. Public opinion here is inclined to be against mixing in the Franco-German quarrel. Leading politicians, however, convinced that world trade revival depends on disarmament, are inclined to take part.

Sinclair Lewis Turns, Defends Business Man

"Work of Art" Is Satire on Creative Writer.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Work of Art," by Sinclair Lewis. [Doubleday-Doran.] Published today.

THE publication of a new novel by the only American recipient of the Nobel award for literature is an event. The publication of a new novel by Sinclair Lewis [even if he hadn't received that award] would be news. The publication of "Work of Art" is one of the major news events of the publishing season [perhaps the four star final!].

SINCLAIR LEWIS.

"Work of Art" might be called the other side of the "Babbitt" medal. In it Mr. Lewis turns the tables on the "typical" business man and his sharp satire away from instead of toward his hero. Myron Weagle, hard-working elder son of the sloppy, drink-soaked proprietor of the American House of Black Thread, Connecticut, is a poet born. His brother Ora, composing heroic verse on the hillsides to which he has escaped to save himself the trouble of filling the kindling box, is a poet self-made.

The story of their two lives—of Myron's especially—is the theme of "Work of Art" . . . a "Horatio Alger story," Ora characterizes his brother's rise in the unpoetic business of providing sheets and hot water and crepes suzette. Dedication to a muse Myron feels his passion for making the perfect hotel. And whether the declared poet or the housekeeper more nearly achieves the exaltation of creative fire the reader is not left to find out.

In "Work of Art" for the first time Mr. Lewis frankly comes out for the man of business as against the man of the professions and the woman of ideals [either those of Carol Kennicott or of Ann Vickers]. In "Dodsworth" Mr. Lewis had definitely mellowed in his attitude toward the American business man, who was so brilliantly, so cruelly, so gorgeously satirized in "Babbitt." In "Work of Art" he has frankly come out as his champion.

The struggles of Myron Weagle are never satirized by Mr. Lewis. With one supreme gesture the author gives his hero that mirth provoking monjiker, and then wholeheartedly for 452 pages tells the story of a man fanatically devoted to the art of creating. As contrast for that divine afflatus Mr. Lewis records the chicanery of the devotee's brother, who embodies all of the most objectionable characteristics of cupidity, venality, rapacity, and self-aggrandizement that as an author Mr. Lewis has encountered among his more unpleasant fellow craftsmen.

"Work of Art" is the story of the urge to create, the longing for the realization of a dream that is usually associated only with the protagonists of the creative arts. Mr. Lewis translates them into the terms of hotel making and keeping. After taking the American business man apart before the eyes of his readers in "Babbitt," Sinclair Lewis puts him together again in "Work of Art," tacitly declaring that the man who yearns for abstract perfection in plumbing is often more of an artist than the one who attains kudos in the more obvious and conventional forms of creation.

Another novel about a business genius with something of the same idea as "Work of Art" will be published tomorrow, Margaret Weymouth Jackson's "Kindy's Crossing" [Bobbs-Merrill]. It is the story of the rise to power [and the sudden debacle in the depression] of an inventive genius. It covers a large canvas of three generations, but the "artist" in "Kindy's Crossing" is Bert Inness, who loves machines not for what they can do but for what he can do with them—for the creative power which he can expend upon improving them. His urge to create creates a city from a hamlet with the popularity of the automobile, but neither money nor national power gives him satisfaction . . . it is the artist's urge and fulfillment that gives him joy.

After years of being the human target at which the skillful literary knife throwers have hurled their weapons, the American business man seems suddenly to have emerged from the ordeal, leaving the perfectly defined outline of himself in those knives, but wholer and haler than ever.

Throng Cheers Italian Night Opera Program

BY EDWARD MOORE.

When an opera company announces a gala evening it is a sure sign that the season is about to end. The Chicago Grand Opera company made the coming close extra emphatic last night by putting on about as elaborate a series of scenes as could be compressed into one evening.

It was an Italian performance, given under the auspices of the royal Italian consul-general, Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio. The program began with the prologue to "Pagliacci," sung by Carlo Morelli, this number, however, being preluded by "The Star Spangled Banner," the "Marcia Reale," and "Giovanezza," all under the direction of Leo Kopp.

The first two acts of "Aida" followed, with Rosa Raisa, Coe Glade, John Pane-Gasser, Mark Love, who made a good debut as the king, Chase Baromeo, Mr. Morelli, Hilda Ohlin, and Giuseppe Cavadore. By this time Gennaro Papi had taken the baton, and he held it for the rest of the evening.

Other debuts were also on the list. One was made by Mildred Gerber, who with Hazel Sanborn sang the recitative and cavatina from the first act of "Lucia di Lammermoor." Another came when Barbara Darlys appeared as La Gioconda in the opera of the same name, second scene of the third act, in company with Ada Paggi, Mr. Pane-Gasser, Mr. Morelli, and Amund Sjovik. This is the scene which includes the "Dance of the Hours," and the leaders in this ballet scene were Ruth Pryor and Bentley Stone. The audience was large and well disposed toward warm applause.

Following the "Aida" performance Mme. Raisa was awarded the medal of the Italian Order of Knighthood by Dr. Castruccio. In her speech of acceptance she pointed out that this was the twentieth anniversary of her operatic singing in Chicago. Mayor Kelly added a few words of congratulation.

The last of the opera intime series was given at the Palmer house last night under the direction, as in the preceding evenings, of Karl Krueger. The bill consisted of two short operas, the first of which was a novelty, "Savitri," by Gustav Holst.

Sung by Kathryn Witwer, Oscar Coleaire, and Reinhold Schmidt, with four more voices behind the scenes used as part of the orchestra, the piece is drawn from a Sanscrit story telling how a faithful wife begged and succeeding in obtaining her husband's life from the god of death. Fantastically staged and costumed, the piece was effective, though it hardly represents Holst's best efforts in composition.

After the intermission Wolf-Ferrari's gay little "Secret of Suzanne" was sung by Irene Williams and Mr. Schmidt, with Philip Fein taking the part of the acting but speechless servant.

Mischa Elman, violinist of high merit and renown, came to the Chicago Symphony orchestra as its soloist yesterday afternoon, being the eleventh season in which he had appeared in that capacity. He will also appear in the pair of concerts tomorrow night and Friday afternoon.

For yesterday's appearance he chose the concerto by Mendelssohn, a work which he played with the masterful authority, the beautiful tone, and the superb finish that have always marked the best of his performances. Conductor Stock led up to his appearance with an orchestral program, also beautifully played, of the Rameau Suite in the Mottle arrangement, Mozart's Symphony in D, and John Alden Carpenter's "Sea Drift." In the coming concerts Mr. Elman will play the Beethoven Concerto.

Young Men's Jewish Charities Complete Year Without Deficit

The summer camp and two clubs they operate for underprivileged boys were conducted last year without a deficit, the Young Men's Jewish charities announced last night at their annual meeting in the Convenant club. The clubs, the American Boys' Commonwealth and the Deborah Boys' club, and Camp Wooster, Lake Wooster, Ill., were conducted at a cost of $44,602. Income was $44,642.

Approximately 3,000 boys held membership in the two clubs and 1,600 had summer outings at the camp last summer, according to the report of Philip E. Ringer, outgoing president. Gov. Horner, a past president of the club, sent a message of congratulation.

Henry E. Moser was elected the new president.

Sellout House Sees Last of Operas Intime

But Ganna Walska Fails to Appear.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

With a dinner and opera invitation to a Polish diva, Ganna Walska, the former wife of Harold F. McCormick, Mrs. Howard Linn sold out the grand ballroom of the Palmer house last night for the third and last of the intimate operas she has sponsored this winter for the benefit of her favorite charity, Olivet institute.

Mme. Walska didn't show up. Instead she retired at seven, expressing surprise that Mrs. Linn should even have expected her on the eve of her concert tonight in the old Auditorium. But the hundreds of fashionables who had hopes of seeing her first hand, perhaps meeting her, were there. And so was Harold McCormick.

"Mme. Walska accepted my invitation," explained Mrs. Linn in answer to the many queries addressed her. "Then she wired—no she phoned when she arrived—that she couldn't risk her voice by coming to the party. Afterwards she did send me some sweet flowers and a note declining."

A tinge of disappointment that the prima donna had chosen sleep to intimate opera was somewhat apparent during the early part of the evening, but it was soon dissolved in the gay festivity of the occasion. Mr. McCormick, in his usual gallant and pleasing manner, was the target of as many reporters and cameras as might have been focused on Mme. Walska.

To the regret of his many friends, however, he came only for dinner in the shadow lighted ballroom foyer and the first few measures of Gustav Holst's "Savitri," one of the two operas on last night's double bill. Then he excused himself and returned in his gray limousine directly to his Rush street mansion.

Mr. McCormick was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers—Mrs. Rogers stunning in forget-me-not blue satin. Others in the party included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman, Col. and Mrs. Ralph H. James, and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ames.

Mrs. Linn, wearing a becoming gown of mulberry crêpe with a raspberry ruffle following the low décolletage, was thinking last night in terms of "futures." And well she might. With "opera intime," one of the most successful charity enterprises of this season, she sees no reason why it should not be repeated again next year.

Although society likes its opera in the grand manner for a steady diet, she knows that the old world flavor of a foyer dinner, a three foot stage, and scene shifts minus a curtain is appealing as divertissement.

Mr. and Mrs. Linn had an interesting party in their center balcony box. There were the Arthur Bissells, Mr. and Mrs. Marco Androgna, Mrs. Farwell Boston, who is a Chicago visitor; Mrs. Edward Harris Brewer, Morton Newhall, and William E. Clow Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank with the John Alden Carpenters, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Frank, and Mr. and Mrs. William A Nitze arrived just in time for the opening measures of the first opera. The Fairbanks' daughter, Janet, came earlier with Shepard Vogelgesang.

Mrs. Charles H. Swift, professionally recognized as Claire Dux, was exchanging opera notes during the intermission with Sigird Onegin, the noted star of the concert stage whom she and Mr. Swift were entertaining with her husband, Dr. Fritz Pentzoldt, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed.

Places in Mrs. Merrill Hubbard's box were occupied last evening by Miss Eleanor Holden, smart in a baby ermine wrap cut almost like a tweed swagger coat; petite Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer with Mr. Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, and Austin Niblack. The Charles F. Glores, Lake Forest neighbors of several members of this party, came for dinner but left, Mrs. Glore attributing their premature departure to "a touch of the flu."

The debutante generation were the only ones prooving themselves unappreciative of intimate opera. Eight of the prettiest buds of the season sold gardenias and cigarets during the dinner hour, but they left almost immediately after the beginning of the performance, favoring the movies with their best beaux to opera. There was Miss Virginia Thatcher, lovely in aquamarine blue crêpe; Fleury Leonard, in a royal blue gown with a heavy matching necklace; Miss Patsy Keith, in a crackling black taffeta corded at the bottom; tall, graceful Peggy Hixon; Frances Canfield, in a startling purple lamé dress (it had an extremely low décolletage, but sleeves); pretty Mimi Orr, and Nancy Morse and Jean Hyman, one as popular as the other.

Mrs. Winston Elting wore one of the most striking gowns—a black crêpe decorated with a matching cape scarf edged with a wide white ruffle. A red diadem and red flowers tucked snugly under her chin were a color note in the mauve satin formal dress worn by Mrs. R. M. Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Adams sat with Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey and Mrs. Francis Johnson.

Mrs. Philip B. Maher, wearing an unusual gown of gray crêpe trimmed with black and white ostrich feathers close to the hemline in the back, spent more of her time behind the scenes than she did in the audience. Mrs. Maher is in large part responsible for the scenery and costumes that have added to the interest of each one of the intimate operas.

Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock Hostess at Tea.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

If George Gershwin had been able to stop over long enough in Chicago yesterday—he was here for a few hours in the middle of the day—to go to Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock's tea for the women who are working so hard to make a great success of the concert he is to give at the Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 4, for the benefit of the Red, White and Blue club, I'm sure this popular composer-pianist would have received inspiration for another composition that would compare with his "Rhapsody in Blue" or his "American in Paris."

The various noises that are neard when a group of women and men gather in an American drawing room or dining room around 5 o'clock could be woven into a symphony by such a master as Gershwin, I'm sure, and it would be distinctively American and modern.

The tinkle of fragile cocktail glasses as the empty ones are put down on silver trays; the sound of a silver spoon being balanced on a delicate saucer holding a cup of tea or coffee; the constant murmur of voices—some of those yesterday with charming Polish accents—and above all the out-of-doors sounds that one hears in an apartment building on the Lake Shore drive such as the one at 1120 where the Gowenlocks reside.

The conversation was all about the concert and about how splendidly the boxes and seats are going, for the group that works for the club at 1338 Wade street in the heart of the Polish district is made up of enthusiastic and energetic women, all heart and soul "sold" on the work the club is doing.

The Poles of the city, too, are helping to make this an outstanding benefit and yesterday the Polish consul general, Titus Zbyszewski, and his vice consul, Edouard Kulikowski, and his charming sister, Mme. Yoanna Mariea de Higersberger, and the popular Polish orchestra conductor, Prof. Bojanowski, were there to meet the board members and to make suggestions.

Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, whose health does not permit her to take an active part any more in philanthropic work but who in the years she was active in such enterprises did enough for half a dozen women, was at the tea, too, for she is the honorary president of the board of the Red, White and Blue club.

Mrs. Gowenlock is the president.

Mrs. Frederick Reeve, Mrs. Edward R. Fineld, Mrs. Ernest Byfield, and Mrs. d'Orsay Palmer are in charge of the sale of boxes and Miss Mary Glenn, Mrs. Charles K. Corsant, Mrs. Loring W. Coleman, Mrs. Roy D. Keehn, and Mrs. Charles Frankenthal are on the ticket committee. Tickets may be obtained by telephoning Wabash 6534.

Chicago Hadassah Opens 'Give and Get' Campaign

The annual "Give and Get" campaign of the Chicago Hadassah which is to end in a dinner where each person attending pays at least $50 to the Palestine medical organization budget of the club, was opened yesterday with a meeting attended by 800 women at the Palmer house. The time and place of the dinner are to be announced later, according to Mrs. S. H. Soboroff, chairman of the campaign.

Front Views and Profiles

GEORGE GERSHWIN, who was in town for a few hours yesterday, relayed a neat—if cruel—wisecrack about the much touted Gershwin—Service—Summary—Greeting—appearance of Miss Katharine Hepburn in the legitimate drama. One of the wiseacres in New York in commenting about her work in "The Lake" said that she ran the whole gamut of emotion from A to B.

* *

MR. GERSHWIN, browned by the California sun, stopped in town long enough to have luncheon with Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock, president of the Red, White, and Blue club, and to make final arrangements for the benefit concert at which he will play Feb. 4. Then, after dashing in to see his friend, Ernest Byfield, caught a train for Milwaukee, where he was playing last night. He is hard at work on his first full opera, which will be a version of the Negro play, "Porgy," by De Bois Heyward. Recently he spent some time in Charleston familiarizing himself with the gullah dialect.

WINNETKA is pretty proud of the police service it gives its residents. For instance, when a Winnetkan leaves town, if he notifies the police department and explains how long he will be away, a special watch is kept over his residence. Instead of merely sauntering by, the policeman on duty tries both front and back doors and is on the alert for any signs of activity inside the house. Well, the other evening a Winnetka resident arrived back in town earlier than he had expected by a week or so. The policeman on duty saw a light inside the house, notified some brother policemen and surrounded the house before two of them went in to demand roughly of the occupant what he was doing there anyhow.

"But I live here," meekly explained the Winnetkan.

"Well, you'll have to prove it," said the sturdy officers of the law.

It was a little hard to do, but after a half hour or so the Winnetkan persuaded the watchdogs of the law to withdraw so he could go to bed.

MAYBE you've heard it, but we pass it along anyhow—as relayed by Doris Dunlap. Prof. William Lyon Phelps, speaking at a banquet, told about the young man who, asked if he had read "Anthony Adverse," said no, he hadn't, because he was waiting for it to come out in the Reader's Digest.

A FRIEND writes from a dreary hotel in a little town in Mississippi, a hotel which he characterizes as a dump. It is so bad that, given a choice between spending Sunday in that hotel or in one in another town a few miles away, he had decided to take a chance on the other one. In his hotel room he found a card printed with the following greetings:

"TO YOU:

"We may never see you, never get to know you, but we want you to feel that this is not a soulless institution, but a human house. . . . May you rest well, full of sweet dreams from head to foot. May you be healthy under this roof. May good news come from those you love. May every letter, telegram, or telephone call make you happier. . . . We are all travelers from the port of birth to the port of death, sojourning between two eternities. God bless you, Stranger. God prosper you, Friend. God make your sojourn in this hotel a happy reminiscence."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Being the jittery type that is all unwound at the end of the day and looks every frazzled bit of it, quick pick-me-ups fascinate us. We try them all. Would you like to hear about our latest? Not new, but we just got around to it. It's an herb ointment that makes a pickup mask and it's an angel.

When you're simply sunk with weariness and need to be pepped up—or at least look as though you were, so the man who buys your dinner won't wish he'd stayed home with a good book instead—wend your way tubward. Fill the tub with warm water—and a dash of your favorite bath salts or oil will help the cause along. Just before you step in, get after the day's accumulation of grime on your face with a good cleansing cream. Wipe it off, then smear this herbal ointment on forehead, cheeks, nose, chin, and neck. None around the eyes—a special eye cream there, instead. Resolve not to whistle in your bath because the ointment when dried makes a pretty taut mask.

Pop in the tub, do your scrubbing, wring pads of cotton out in hot water, slap them over your eyes, lie back and relax. Don't think or, if you must, figure out in rosy detail such things as what you'd do with a million dollars and a seagoing yacht—very good for low spirits, this.

After twenty minutes run cold water into the tub as a bracer, hop out for a brisk rub down and a dusting with your favorite body powder, and then remove all traces of the mask with a towel wrung out in warm water. You'll be a different girl. Then the makeup foundation — perhaps the cream that is product of the same salon—smooth and satiny and faintly redolent of water lilies. After that your makeup as you like it—and take it from us, you're feeling and looking like that cool million you'd been dreaming about.

And all this transformation, mind you, in the course of half an hour. Ain't science marvelous?

Freshman students at Rockford college fear unpopularity more than anything else, according to a recent psychological examination given them. Listed among their "chief fears" were suspicious looking men, dark streets, horses, mice, snakes, and spiders, firecrackers, dating, drunken people, being hit in the eyes while wearing glasses, traveling alone and not getting off at the right station, living too long, and what happens after death.

Inducing anger in the first year students were: Being told how to play a bridge hand or drive a car, filing finger nails, noisy eating of soup or drinking of coffee, chewing gum, giggling, clucking noises made with the tongue, cracker crunching, an 8 year old boy's laughter, a narrow minded grandmother, a critical brother, clumsy people, people who say "what" habitually, people who say "he don't know," gossip, teasing, artificial sophistication, and repetition of current slang words.

Society Plans Week-end Trips to Skate Tests.

Championships to Be Held at Oconomowoc.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH the North American ice skating championships scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at Oconomowoc, plans are brewing among our fashionable folk for a three day winter sports' week-end at the Wisconsin resort.

The Stanley Zarings will pack their nobbiest woolens, their skates, and their snowshoes and go north on Friday night. And so will Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Packey J. Dee, and the Edward Gueroults, who will join forces in one large and gay party.

Beginning with the new year there have been Chicago visitors at Oconomowoc. The Botsford Youngs, who celebrated New Year's eve there with the George Moseleys, the young Charles Lindsays, and several more of their friends, are now hoping to go up for the championships with Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Le Forgee. Evan an accident in an ice boat—she was tossed some 100 feet—the last time has not dimmed Mrs. Young's enthusiasm for this variety of fun.

Robert R. Bakers Hope to Hold Party.

A winter season at the resort would be incomplete without one of the large and interesting house parties for which Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Baker [Marjorie Ward] are known. Just back from six months in the east, they are hoping to have a week-end at their French country place there before they leave for California or Florida the middle of February.

The Bakers have a sheiter fitted out with comfortable seats and this they move on to the ice for their spectator friends.

With the anticipation of a Lincoln's birthday celebration, amounting to three days on snowshoes and ice skates, midwinter examinations have lost their unhappy flavor for the 50 subdebutantes enrolled in the high school grades at the Girls' Latin school.

According to custom Miss Elizabeth Singleton, the Latin school principal, is chaperoning a party of her pupils on a winter outing at Oconomowoc the week-end of Feb. 12. The young women will leave town the afternoon of Feb. 9 and return the morning of the 13th.

Between now and then their athletic points will be carefully graded and permissions asked of their parents, the two requirements for places in the party.

Reveal Marriage of E. I. Gardiner.

Imagine our surprise when we received a note yesterday from a New York hotel with the names Mr. and Mrs. Edwin I. Gardiner as among the Chicagoans stopping there, for we hadn't known until then that "Ed" Gardiner had a second wife. His sister, Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr., furnished the information that he and Mrs. Beulah Claney of New York were married very quietly in Chicago last

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Brawne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring, though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Laurie leaves and Barbara makes her presence known to Rance. She asks him to marry her.

INSTALLMENT IX.

JEALOUS DOMINATION.

In her way, Barbara understood her father. The one thing he would resent would be the feeling that she could love any one else better than she loved him. She would have to play a comedy, a difficult comedy. He must believe that she was marrying to marry, if there was to be any hope of winning his friendship for Gregory. She ardently wanted her father, too, to share in the happiness that had come to her. She had not the slightest doubt in her power to eventually win him over. Only every move must be thought out to avoid mistakes.

The next morning he came into her room, closed the windows, and let in a flood of sunlight.

"Sleep well?"

"Wonderfully," she answered, though she had scarcely closed her eyes.

"I've got a consultation on in Albany. Mr. Disbrough is coming to luncheon. Want to run over with us?"

"But, father, Uncle Tony's party!"

"Well, is that so important?"

"Why, father, Evangeline is announcing her engagement."

He shrugged his shoulders, frowned and moved uneasily about the room.

"At least I hope we've not got to go through that nonsense about Laurie again," he said abruptly, raising his head and looking at her sharply.

"Now, really, father—if you weren't so ridiculous I should be quite angry!"

"Humph! Well, understand one thing—I haven't changed."

"Wait," she sat up in bed. "It's time we understood each other. I'm twenty-two years of age, I'm not a girl any longer. I want to know——"

"What do you want to know?"

She drew her hand over her eyes.

"No, it's too serious to discuss this way—when we are irritated. This is not the way——"

"What do you want to know?" he persisted.

"Are you determined to keep me from marrying?"

"Don't you know what I want to talk over with you?"

"I have my suspicions!"

"Father, can't you give me a direct answer, without trying to put me off."

"Well, what?"

"Are you determined to keep me from marrying?"

"What? What's that?"

"Do you want me to live and die an old maid?"

"That is absolutely ridiculous!" he cried with a simulation of anger to disguise the surprise into which he had been thrown. "I knew it! It is Laurie."

"Laurie Chiswick has nothing to do with it," she answered calmly. "I've asked you a direct question affecting my whole life and you won't answer me."

"Because your question is absurd."

"My dear father, because I don't get angry don't think that I am not terribly serious," she replied. "I have been wanting to talk to you for months—for years, perhaps."

Alarmed by the unexpected authority in her manner, warned by his intuitions, he was consumed with anxiety.

"There is a man back of it, of course," he thought and changing his manner swiftly he said, forcing a smile, "Come, let's hear what dreadful complaints you have against your father."

"Are you ready to listen to me?"

"I am ready."

"Father, you have kept me like a child all these years. You watch every movement I make. Every time I go out, I come back to face a cross-examination. I am not even permitted to visit my friends——"

"So that's it."

"Part of it. Why did you refuse to let me visit Helen Lantry?"

"Because I do not approve of a girl who defies her father and sets up a separate establishment. It's indecent. I object to your associating with a girl who has no standards and no loyalties."

She sat up and said sharply:

"And why did she do that? Because her father treated her as you are treating me."

"Barbara, you are impertinent."

"No, no, I can't be shut off like this. I asked you a direct question. Do you want me to marry?"

"At the proper time. When you are capable of a reasonable judgment."

"When?"

He was silent.

"At twenty-five? At thirty?"

"When you are capable of a reasonable judgment," he repeated obstinately. "You forget certain episodes. You are of an impulsive, romantic nature like your mother."

"Like my mother?" she cried in astonishment.

"Like your mother's family," he said hastily. "When you were seventeen you wanted to run away with Laurie Chiswick. Two years later you imagined you were in love with a perfectly worthless scamp who made love to you on the steamer. Was I right or wrong in breaking that up?"

"That was three years ago——"

"And you are exactly the same today——"

"Do you wish me to marry without love?" she cried angrily. "Are you trying to suppress every natural feeling in me?"

"Love is only a small part of marriage. Mutual respect, the proper background, the right standards——"

"Are you going to choose my husband for me?"

"You could do worse," he retorted.

A sudden suspicion struck her.

"Is there someone you have picked out? Someone you are keeping in the background? I wonder. Is there?"

"Absurd! I haven't the slightest idea of your marrying now, or for many years to come."

His disclaimer did not convince her.

"Then at some future time you do wish me to marry?"

He frowned, avoiding her eyes and began to fidget.

"Well?"

"Well?"

"What I see clearly in all this," he said in a low voice, "is that you are unhappy here."

"You know that is not true. Of course I am happy here—in my home—with you." But the moment she had said this, she felt how weakly she was avoiding the issue for fear of giving pain. Yet that was the only way to assert herself. "I have had a wonderful childhood. You have made it, father. But now I am here, happy only as a child is happy—and I am no longer a child. Won't you understand?"

"I understand that you are unhappy!"

"Well, yes, I am, because we never can talk to each other. I want to know what you really think. It's so hard to understand you. Do you want to leave me alone, without knowing what is going to happen to me?"

"You talk as though I were already dead," he said querulously. "Surely you could wait a little longer—until you are twenty-eight or thirty, if you have to wait that long."

"Now he is falling back on his weakness because he knows that is the one thing that will sway me," she thought. But to his surprise this time she did not waver. "If you feel this way—which you don't, you are only saying it to make it harder for me—I cannot understand why you should not feel just the opposite. Why don't you want to know that I am secure, to see me happy in my home, to see your own grandchildren."

At this thought he could not repress a shudder. Children? But that meant the surrender of all the loveliness which had filled the vision of his eyes all these years, the surrender to the possession, the brutal possession of a man.

Good Morning!

What every doctor knows is—that a pleasing bedside manner will carry him a long, long way. But a bedside manner minus knowledge is like unto a lame nag soon destined for the glue factory, as Louis Brown, alias "Dr." Martel, finds out.

Louis isn't a doctor and his name isn't Martel. He's an X-ray technician. He's had three years at medical school, and a pretty nurse who adores him lends him money to finish his course. She has faith in his ability and her shrewd observation of his "way" with those he X-rays has convinced her that he's bound to make a successful practitioner once he has the essential grounding.

On his way to the city, where he's to complete his studies, Louis loses his money in a train poker game . . . He becomes a hospital orderly, and, as such, runs up against the dope addict wreck of one who had once been a great doctor and to whom he had once—unethically—administered morphine . . .

He buys the man's diploma and establishes a clinic, where trained people do the work he couldn't do. The "doc" devotes his time to pampering pretty patients and getting publicity. Man, what a publicity agent Allen Jenkins makes . . . ! Martel's office nurse is the girl who had lent him the money and who believes he had finished his course and is on the level. He gives her a smooth explanation for his change of name, etc. A lot of etc's. Ho hum.

As you can imagine, things don't go on thus forever . . .

The story is chaotic and utterly unconvincing.

Without its excellent cast this picture would be my idea of so much trash. But Warren William, David Landau, Allen Jenkins, et al., do their customary conscientious and creditable work. Jean Muir is the charming Scotch girl who, after making a hit on Broadway in "Grand Hotel" and other plays, was summoned to Hollywood. [I do get so blooming mad at producers for wasting talent the way they do!]

See you soon.

'Popular' Girl Does Not Merit Beau's Pursuit

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What to do, when your grande passion turns out to be one of those girls you have to date weeks ahead because of her large masculine following?

What to do, when said girl takes all this popularity for granted, and shows little appreciation for the expenditure of your hard earned dollars?

What to do, when you're so jealous of those other chaps on the girl's list that you can't sleep nights or act sanely?

And, finally, what to do, when the girl rubs salt on your wound with mention of the good time she had out with one of the rivals?

For idyllic peace of heart and soul we'd recommend a girl not so spoiled. But who would take such advice? Not the youth madly in love with the minx. Not a boy with any fight in his soul. The girl might not be worth the agonies of heart and mind, but if the boy thinks she is, that's his romance. None other will suffice.

There's the consolation for the temporarily disheartened suitor that the girl with the longest date list one season may be not so popular the next. If he has the courage to bide his time he may be rewarded. But that's asking too much of hot headed youth!

But how about applying a bit of the same principle of unattainability, young man. To that type girl it's the male trick that intrigues, just as the spoiled darling of the male sex is piqued by a show of female indifference. Put on jealous scenes, show that you mind mention of rivals' names, be hurt over ingratitude, and yours is a lost cause with the spoiled type of either sex. But act as if he or she were only another person, whose idiosyncracies deserve a laugh, and you've got them cornered, if it's possible to corner them at all.

Miss Venable Will Plead to Stay in Movies

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Evelyn Venable left last night for Cincinnati where she will visit her dad, a college professor. Her departure took place the day a story appeared in print here stating that Evelyn had been holding hands with a cameraman, Hal Mohr.

Evelyn, 18 years old, a student of the classics and of the drama and considered one of the best young "finds" of the movies during the last year, was on the verge of tears and Mohr also was no end disturbed, saying. "All I did was to buy Miss Venable a lunch in the studio café."

Explaining that the teapot tempest over the Mohr incident had nothing directly to do with her temporary withdrawal from Hollywood, the actress, whose father caused insertion into her Paramount screen contract of a clause providing she must not be kissed in movie scenes, said she was going home to plead with her parents against his idea that she should quit the movies.

She recently finished "David Harum" with Will Rogers at Fox studio, and before that was leading woman with Frederic March in "Strange Holiday" made at Paramount but not yet released.

For Hard Coughs or Colds That Worry You

Creomulsion is made to give supreme help for coughs or colds. It combines 7 helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is for quick relief for safety.

But careful people, more and more, use it for every cough that starts. No one knows where a cough may lead. No one can tell which factor will do most. That depends on the type of cold.

Creomulsion costs a little more than lesser helps. But it means the utmost help. And it costs you nothing if it fails to bring the quick relief you seek. Your druggist guarantees it. Use it for safety's sake.

Society Plans Week-end Trips to Skate Tests

Championships to Be Held at Oconomowoc.

Wednesday and that they were in New York for a week on their way to Pittsburgh to live.

Arrange Two Dinners for Italian Visitors.

In recognition of the arrival of S. E. Piero Parini, minister plenipotentiary of the king of Italy in Chicago this week-end, cards are in the mail for two dinners for him. The Italy-American society will entertain for him Monday evening at the Casino, while the Dante Alighieri society will have a dinner and reception Sunday evening at the Drake.

Another Italian coming to Chicago this week-end is Signora Carla Orlando Garibelli, the daughter of Italy's war prime minister. Signora Garibelli is living now in New York, where she is the executive secretary of the New York Italy-American society.

An hour with the stars is in store for the juniors of the Alliance Francaise when they gather at a quarter to 3 today in the Adler planetarium to hear Prof. Fox lecture. Miss Jean Wilhelm, president of the juniors, and Miss Louise Dewey, the vice president, are the hostesses and they will serve tea after the lecture.

Opera Party Tonight for Marguerite Foster.

Miss Marguerite Foster, who acquired two cook books at the book shower Miss Margaret Quan gave for her Monday afternoon, will be entertained with her fiancé, Leopold S. Fetcher, at an opera and supper party this evening by Arthur M. Barnhart. Mr. Barnhart is taking his twelve guests to hear "Martha" with Tito Schipa, Coe Glade, and Edith Mason. Afterwards they will have supper at the Tavern. Miss Foster's and Mr. Fetcher's wedding will be at 4:30 on Saturday afternoon at the Astor street apartment of Miss Foster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Foster.

The Arts club has cards out for another of its delightful Sunday evening buffet suppers on this coming Sunday at half after 7 o'clock. Sisley Huddleston, for whom the supper will be given, will speak on "Famous Men and Women I Have Known in Paris." Mr. Huddleston is the London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor.

Club Will Hear a Lecture Duet.

A duet that is a lecture, not a musical, is the treat in store for the members of the Woman's Athletic club at 11 o'clock the morning of Feb. 1. Dr. Harry A. Overstreet and Mrs. Overstreet [better known perhaps as Bonaro Wilkinson Overstreet], are to give their talk on "Wisdom in Living." Dr. Overstreet will take the first half hour and Mrs. Overstreet the second.

Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, and Frederic Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, will be the only other speakers besides Harold Willis Dodds at the dinner the Princeton club of Chicago is giving tonight at the Drake hotel for Dr. Dodds, who is the new president of Princeton university. President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago is vacationing in Georgia, so he cannot be present at the dinner.

All the wives of the members of the Princeton club have been invited.

Immediately preceding the dinner James F. Oates Jr., president of the Princeton club, and Mrs. Oates will receive the guests with Dr. Dodds and several alumni trustees and their wives. Dr. Dodds is staying at the Chicago club and is leaving tomorrow for Detroit.

Mrs. Robert White Jr., who is doing such a splendid job boosting the Junior league's Saturday morning children's theater, can wear a very broad smile this week, for the Studebaker theater is practically sold out now for the performance of "Peter Pan" next Saturday. One of the interesting parties in the audience will be the fifteen boys and girls Mrs. Edward J. Kelly will be entertaining, among them her own twins.

Marionettes Will Benefit Arden Shore.

There is a delightfully juvenile morning in store for the friends of the Lake Forest Arden Shore committee Saturday at the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest. The Sue Hastings Marionettes are giving "Hansel and Gretel" at 10:30 and all of the proceeds are going to help support the Arden Shore camp at Lake Bluff. Mrs. George F. McLaughlin is assisting Mrs. Phelps Kelley, chairman of the Lake Forest committee, with the arrangements.

From our Palm Beach correspondent comes word of some of the Chicagoans who are wintering or just paying short visits in that fashionable resort. Miss Francise Clow, who with a maid motored from Chicago to Florida, stopped in Palm Beach for a brief visit with Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick at her Villa Today, where John Cromelin and David Leavitt are paying an extended visit. Miss Clow was on her way to Miami, where her mother, Mrs. William E. Clow Jr., went by rail.

Those two attractive cousins, Miss Jean Schweppe and Miss Mary Reed, and their mothers, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe and Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, will leave for a winter vacation at Nassau in the Bahamas early next week.

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick and Mrs. Brooks, the middle one of her three sons, have left to join Mr. McCormick in Miami, where they plan to remain until May. Deering and Roger, who are at school in the east, will join their parents for their spring vacations.

Two Leave for California.

Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall and Mrs. Charles W. McNear left last week for California where the former will visit friends in various places and the latter will join her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. and Mrs. Warren Towle, at March field at Riverside. Lieut. Towle has been transferred to Bolling field in Washington, D. C., and he and his wife will be going there soon via the Panama canal. Mrs. McNear will bring her little grandson, Charles McNear Towle, home with her and keep him here until his parents are settled in their new home.

Mrs. Oren E. Taft has joined Mr. Taft in Arizona and they will not return until after the first of March.

Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm is taking a train to Phoenix, Ariz., today to see her young son, David, who is in a school near there. Mrs. Wilhelm will be away two weeks. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, are going to Pasadena to spend two months, leaving some day this week.

Mrs. William Burry Jr. and her two sons, William III, and James Michael, have gone to Arizona to spend a month on a ranch.

The Denis L. Harmons and their tiny daughter, Denise, who had been visiting Mrs. Harmon's parents, the H. Stillson Harts, in Barrington, have sailed for their home in Swithzerland.

Oil-for-Oil Home Treatment Is Recommended for Greasy Hair

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Recently I met up with one of those intense sufferers with oily hair who eventually found relief in a simple enough remedy. Her case was so extreme that for months she wouldnot take her hat off away from home. She got to such a point that she was washing her hair daily and ruining it further, experimenting with every recommendation made.

Finally she heard of the oil for oil treatment, combating oily hair with oil. She tried olive oil first and saw some improvement. Then some one told her to mix the olive oil with castor oil, equal parts, and when I saw her at Christmas time her hair looked fine. She used one-half ounce each of olive and castor oil, leaving the whole ounce on the head overnight, washing the hair in the morning. Three washing in soapy warm water were required. The soap was liquefied, of course, and much rinsing in clear, warm water followed the shampoos. It certainly worked beautifully on this one head of which I speak. It was fine, glossy hair that I saw.

People who suffer with this condition complain bitterly about it. Just what causes it is not known other than it is traceable to glandular disturbances of some kind. Mothers of girls in their early teens frequently are confronted with the oily head. The olive and castor oil remedy is worth trying, for it cannot do any harm, and the principle of combating oil with oil has been in successful practice, in hair dressing salons, for some time.

In an emergency, in which one has not the time for an oil treatment, there is the old bran help. Sprinkle bran over the hair, with a fairly heavy hand, and get it down on the scalp, too. Then brush it all out. The bran soaks up some of the oil. Some people use cleaning fluid for emergency use, and find it pretty satisfactory. But care must be exercised if one is a smoker, for one case of disaster of a lighted match held too near a fluid cleaned head came to my ears.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Garrity of 5554 Wayne avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Dorothea, to Thomas W. O'Brien, son of William T. O'Brien, of 5838 Glenwood avenue.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at dinner tonight, the occasion being one of a series of Tuesday night parties.

Mrs. Roosevelt was entertained at luncheon today by Mrs. Harold L. Ickes of Chicago, wife of the secretary of the interior, whose other guests were the following cabinet hostesses: Mrs. Morgenthau Jr., Mrs. Dern, Mrs. Homer Cummings, Mrs. Swanson, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Roper; Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. William Phillips, wife of the undersecretary of state; Mrs. R. G. Tugwell, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, Miss Marion Trumbull, and Mrs. Alfred Tyler of Evanston, the last a house guest of the hostess.

BY MARY MEADE.

Muffins! Popping with hotness, studded with mysterious hummocks of this or that, positively delirious with their own oven fragrance and the chunks of golden butter melting in their little insides. Name me anything more deserving of odes and paeans on a shivery Chicago day!

But on second thought don't bother. You couldn't possibly convince me. And such being, let's tack up as the day's slogan, "Mix Up a Muffin That Melts in Your Mouth," and proceed to discover how perfectly these family favorites can "make" a meal out of the most meager of menus.

Probably the smartest mixers-up these days are seeing to it that they have in their heads or lined up in a handy file one good, reliable recipe for simple white muffins. That, plus a medley of suggestions such as I'm showering upon you today, plus a few extra specials which don't quite seem to go into any class, and you have a most engaging array of prize winners from which to choose. So just as a very prosaic starter let's check up on your standard recipe as a point of departure:

PLAIN MUFFINS.
(With an Eye to Variations.)

2 cups flour
3 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
2 tablespoons melted butter

Sift the dry ingredients together, with the exception of the baking powder. Mix the milk and egg and add to the first mixture with the melted butter. These may be turned in practically all at once. Now mix, but only just enough to stir in all the dry ingredients. Don't stir until the mixture is smooth, as this leaves a tunneled muffin and a smooth top. (It should be slightly rough and bumpy.) Have the pans well greased and, just before turning in, stir in the dry baking powder with as few strokes as is possible to blend. Spoon the batter into pans and bake in a moderately hot oven (410 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes for small muffins and half an hour for the big fellows.

So now for the variations. For bacon or sausage muffins add one-quarter cup of chopped and fried bacon or minced and fried sausage meat with its grease to the plain recipe, just before turning the batter into the pans. Omit the fat in the recipe.

Date muffins use this identical recipe, simply adding one-half cup of sliced dates, stirring them into the flour mixture. Prune muffins follow this same pattern. For raisin spice muffins sift three-quarters teaspoon of cinnamon with the dry ingredients and add three-quarters cup of chopped raisins to the flour mixture before adding the liquids.

Orange muffins happen when we substitute orange juice for half the milk in the plain muffin recipe, add an additional egg and one tablespoon of grated orange rind. And have you ever met cocoa date muffins? Use the recipe for plain muffins, doubling the amount of sugar and adding one-half cup of cocoa and two-thirds cup chopped dates.

Or have you sour milk arriving tomorrow or resulting from a bit too much intimacy of sweet milk with warm places? Then make it sour milk muffins, glorious with slathers of apricot jam! Simply substitute sour milk for sweet in the plain muffin recipe, adding one-half teaspoon of soda and decreasing the baking powder by 1½ teaspoons. Sift the soda with the dry ingredients, adding the remaining baking powder as before, just before pouring the batter into the pans.

And finally for a crusty, luscious number that I count well up among the better things of life we have:

HONEY BRAN GEMS.

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups bran
¼ cup each chopped nuts and raisins
¼ cup melted butter
½ cup honey
½ cup sugar
1½ cups milk

Sift together the first four ingredients, then stir in the rest, mixing just enough to blend. Spoon this into buttered muffin pans and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for about twenty to thirty minutes.

New Umbrella Can Be Put in Large Handbag

Lower Prices Good News to Slender Budgets.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Conscientious objectors to umbrellas in any form, and especially the tricky variety, will undoubtedly change their minds after a short but complete inspection of the new models that are practically perfect as well as foolproof.

They are slick! They fold or collapse every time you press the button into ten inch tubular affairs that will fit in large sized handbags, if you really want to hide them from sight . . . or they will also do the closing act and stay sleek and neat in a specially designed silk cover that can be dangled from your wrist.

You can find them in stunning shades of gray and black, or brown and beige . . . the best news comes last . . . heretofore any and all such tricky push button trifles were imported and consequently priced rather beyond the average allowances, but this year the price tags will make you rub your eyes unbelievingly.

When these ten inch tubes are inflated you have the full eighteen umbrella that will cover all the smart small hats and perky shoulders of your fashionable costumes.

There are some new chiffon dinner and dance dresses that will melt the stony heart of the most hardened shopper . . . lovely clinging things of high colored blue or red chiffon . . . the red is that luscious red seen in the sets of the "Chauve Souris," a flattering new shade that will achieve good fashion history! The [illegible] sleeves are layers and layers of chiffon, with underlayers of white chiffon for cool contrast.

The high blue chiffon beauties are made in much the same simple manner, and the gentian blue is almost as irresistible as the eye-filling carmine red. They are particularly lovely worn with short evening wraps of velvet . . . red with the blue and blue velvet topping the long red dresses.

Green Is Paris' Leading Shade for Spring Ensembles

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS, — [Special.] — Greens are appearing all over Paris, springing up all of a sudden at the end of winter. The union of dark and light green in one ensemble is the latest trick of the chic Parisienne, and it looks as though this color scheme would be smart in early spring as well.

The Molyneux ensemble in our sketch gets a lot of its cachet from the union of the greens. The dress and the cape are made of dark green wool, and the belt, gloves, and hat are of light, almond green satin. Even the fur has a greenish cast. It is gray fox, but the long hairs have a tinge of almond green. Experts give it that hue by spraying the fur, so they tell me. Anyway, it's awfully effective.

The fur in this ensemble is all mobile. You can wear it or leave it at home. The collar is a necklace of fox, thrown around the neck, and worn with the long loop at the back. The fur cuffs slip on and off, too.

MIDDLE AGED HAIR IS YOUTHFUL AGAIN

"I'M DISGUSTED WITH MY HAIR. IT'S ALWAYS SO DULL, LIFELESS AND OLD LOOKING. HOW DO YOU KEEP YOURS SO LOVELY?"
"MY HAIR WAS THAT WAY UNTIL I USED GERAL THE ORIGINAL MAKE-UP FOR THE HAIR. WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT?"

Doing one thing now makes dull hair gleam with lustre

If you would like to see your dull, faded hair take on a lustre and beauty it has not had in years—just do this one simple thing. Comb your hair with Geral—the original make-up for the hair. Geral is not a dye, bleach or henna. It contains no oil. Geral beautifies the hair as rouge, powder and lipstick beautify the face. No matter what the color of your hair—blonde, auburn, brown, brunette or gray—no matter how lifeless and dull, Geral will impart NOT an artificial look but the natural life, sheen and softness of youthful girlhood. Obtain Geral at all good toilet counters and drug stores.

Mothers Must Brave Frowns of Neighbors

Shouldn't Mind Tsk-Tsking of Sex Education.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

For some time I have been meaning to take up here a subject upon which mothers have been writing me ever since this column started. I may have touched on it, but I want today to devote all my space to it. The problem is put briefly in this letter from a disturbed mother:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Please send me the booklet on the 'Story of Life' to be told to four and five year olds. What possible way is there to avoid them discussing the matter with other children? Other mothers in our neighborhood are going to resent it if my children repeat what I tell them. I hate to tell them not to talk about it, for they're so apt to get the impression that it's something to hide."

"May I have your Sex Educational booklet?" writes another woman. "There are some things I want to clear up for myself to help me in explaining things to my little girl. She knows a number of things I think she should, as I answer her questions quite frankly, and she knows where babies come from. But what bothers me is this, the other mothers in the neighborhood don't believe as I do, and if my little girl talks about these things, the other mothers will be down on me and be shocked or indignant—or they may even tell their children not to play with mine. Yet if I tell Mary Jane not to talk about these things she will think it is all something to hide. What shall I do?"

I'll give my opinion. I'd rather take a chance on the displeasure of the other mothers than give my daughter the impression that she must be secretive about these natural things. That would do the one thing we don't want to do in sex education—which is to set aside this kind of knowledge in a niche all of its own and quite different from other information. I think one has to be courageous about it and stand by one's guns.

It has been my own experience that children raised from the beginning with naturalness toward their bodies and the knowledge of reproduction don't talk about it with other children.

There is, however, one thing that I believe helps children greatly— and which is a protection to them. It is this: Even to a little boy or girl you can say, "It's a funny thing, Mary Jane, but there are lots of mothers who don't explain everything to their children and who don't talk things over with them the way you and I do. They think babies are brought by a stork or are found under cabbages. If you hear things you don't understand or that sound very mixed up, just come and tell me about it, and I'll explain them to you.

Princess Elizabeth Enjoys Her First Visit to Circus

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Princess Elizabeth today went to the circus for the first time. She was accompanied by her parents, the Duke and Duchess of York. The royal visit was secret, but they were recognized and cheered by the audience. Like other children, the little princess clapped at the animals and laughed at the antics of the clowns. Next week she will see her first play, attending "Ever So Long Ago" at the children's royal matinee.

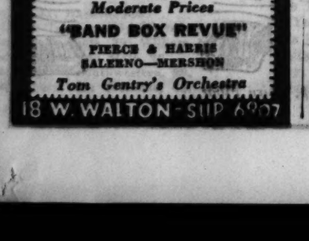
This Block Stages Comeback for the Quilter of Today



Sea Shells.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This is one of the oldest and loveliest quilt blocks of which we have any record. It dates back to 1800. Difficulty in piecing the quilt probably accounts for its decline in popularity after 1818. "Sea Shells" has been revived, but is used more frequently in quilting than in piece work. This quilt is made of blue, white, and a blue and white print.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

50 TERRORIZED BY ROBBERS IN OFFICE HOLDUP

Manager Fights Gun Battle with Bandits.

Eight bandits executed a brutal and carefully planned raid yesterday on the offices of the B. A. Railton company, wholesale grocers, at 363 West Erie street, and took $5,000 after holding up 50 employés and mistreating several of them.

John R. Railton, general manager and son of B. A. Railton, president of the company, fought a revolver battle with the fleeing robbers. One of the bandits' bullets ricocheted from a ceiling and wounded John De Young, 18 years old, 1643 South Morgan street, an office boy, in the hand.

The bandits made their raid ten minutes before a Brink's express truck was expected to pick up the money, and kept possession of the company offices for twenty minutes. All of them masked their faces with handkerchiefs.

Order Employés to Lie Down.

Three of the robbers entered the general office of the company, on the second floor. The leader, carrying a sawed-off shotgun, shouted to the employés in the big room:

"Close your eyes and lie down. This is a stickup."

Miss Kathleen Holtz, 1323 Addison stret, the switchboard operator, tried to dial the central operator. The click of the dial was heard in the sudden quiet of the room, and one of the robbers ran to her side, put a gun against her body, and tore her headphones from her head.

The bandit leader and a companion then entered the cashier's cage, where John Wilson, assistant cashier, was working. They ordered him to open the vault.

Wilson was knocked down with a gun butt when he said he didn't know the combination. Miss Gertrude Schossow, the cashier, was working near by, and the bandits dragged her to the valut and made her open it. They took $2,500 from it.

They then dragged Miss Schossow to the office of John Railton, where two others of the gang had forced Railton, James Hill, a wine merchant, and Pierre Page, a caterer, who were negotiating business with him, and Miss Anna M. Kehoe, 6344 South Campbell, the office manager, to lie down on the floor. They had beaten Railton and kicked him in the face and ribs when he said he did not know the combination of another safe in his office.

Threatens to Shoot.

Miss Schossow said that she did not know that combination, either, whereupon one of the robbers said:

At that Miss Kehoe arose and opened the safe, from which the robbers took another $2,500. They then departed, walking to the street and north in Sedgwick street. They were joined by a sixth member of the gang, who had been guarding the rear entrance of the offices.

John Railton then got a revolver and started firing from the window at them. The bandits turned and returned his fire, and then fled to two automobiles, driven by the remaining members of the gang, who were waiting for them at Sedgwick and Huron streets.

PRISONER CHOKES TO DEATH.

Charles R. Morrow, 39 years old, a prisoner at the Illinois State penitentiary at Statesville, choked to death yesterday while eating his noon meal at the prison. Morrow was serving a sentence of one to 14 years for assault to commit murder.

BABE HERMAN'S SALARY CUT; REFUSES TO SIGN

ROSS BATTLES PETROLLE IN N. Y. RING TONIGHT

Expect 12,000 to See Nontitle Bout.

BILLY PETROLLE.

They are to battle ten rounds. The match was originally scheduled for the Christmas season, but was deferred through two postponements.

A crowd of about 12,000, the capacity of the Bronx arena as it has been laid out for the occasion, is expected to witness the match. The receipts may reach $30,000 net. Announcement was made today that the advance sale approached $20,000.

Title Not at Stake.

Ross' title will not be involved, because the lightweight class maximum of 135 pounds is being ignored. The weight for the fight is 142 pounds.

Betting on the contest finds Ross the favorite to win at odds of 7 to 5. Petrolle, however, has plenty of supporters and is being heavily backed to score a knockout if the fight ends before its ten rounds have been covered. In a previous encounter Ross defeated Petrolle after a stirring battle. On that occasion the claim was set up by Petrolle's manager, Jack Hurley, that making 138 pounds, an unnatural weight for him, sapped Petrolle's fighting strength.

Tomorrow night, however, Petrolle enters the ring at his strongest, the veteran whose imposing knockout list claims such fighters as Bat Battalino, Eddie Ran, Justo Suaez, Billy Townsend, Bep Van Klaveren, and Stanislaus Loayza, and who is remembered here for the shock he provided when he floored the redoubtable Jimmy McLarnin, today was reported in shape and confident his destructive hitting power will overcome the speed and boxing fury and youth of Ross.

Thinks Ross Made Mistake.

Many followers of boxing say Ross made a mistake to permit Petrolle to fight at his natural weight. The champion, however, has the confidence born of a previous triumph to justify his compliance in this regard to handle whatever situation Petrolle presents.

A defeat for Ross, while not affecting his championship standing, will, nevertheless, have a detracting influence. He is being sought to meet the winner of the Tony Canzoneri-Cleto Locatelli lightweight bout in Madison Square Garden Friday night, and a setback now would not improve his boxoffice worth for a defense of his crown. Petrolle, on the other hand, wants to meet McLarnin for the welterweight crown and expects a victory over Ross to send him right into the 147 pound title chance.

Five Others on Card.

Supporting the handicap bout is a preliminary card that promises plenty of action. In four six round bouts the principals will be: Mike Belloise vs. Al Roth, Irving Eldridge vs. Joe Kowleski, Johnny Bonito vs. Johnny Gaito, Lou Fox vs. Patsy Lorocco. Davey Day and Danny Rosen are scheduled for four rounds.

SCHMELING SIGNS TO BOX BAER ON COAST IN APRIL

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The signature of Max Baer, the boxing's song and dance man, was all that was needed tonight to give Los Angeles a return bout between the Californian and Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion.

BAER WANTS $75,000

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ancil Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, said Baer would sign a contract to meet Max Schmeling in Los Angeles "if they will guarantee us as much as they got in New York last summer."

He said Schmeling received approximately $75,000 for that bout, which Baer won, and that he would be unwilling to take less.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

DISHONESTY IN BASEBALL.

ORGANIZED baseball has no parole board. Once adjudged guilty of offense against the honesty of baseball the culprit stays guilty, no matter how much public or private sympathy he may receive. Therefore Commissioner Landis' refusal of reinstatement to Player Joe Jackson of the Chicago Black Sox of 1919 was in the natural order of events.

While perusing the decision, our memory suggested we once had read a graphic story of an earlier event in baseball when four players were expelled and reinstatement never granted. It took considerable search to find it, so we pass it along as of probable interest to present day fans. The quotation is from "America's National Game," written in 1911 by the late A. G. Spalding, who at the time sent us an autographed copy of his book:

"The most sensational event of the period between the formation of the National league [1876] and the opening of the next decade was the expulsion from its ranks of four players of the Louisville club in 1877. These men were A. H. Nichols, William H. Craver, George Hall, and James Devlin.

"Evidence of their guilt was so strong that, when confronted with it, Hall and Devlin confessed, implicating Nichols and Craver. Upon being summoned before the club directorate all but Craver signed an order on the telegraph company for telegrams alleged to have passed between them and the sporting fraternity. Craver was at once expelled. Upon receipt of copies of the dispatches, showing conclusively the guilt of all, the other three were summarily dismissed in disgrace and never reinstated, although many appeals, in every conceivable form, were presented, backed by petitions, entreaties, and sometimes accompanied by threats.

"I shall never forget a scene I witnessed one day in the office of President Hulbert of the National league as a sequence of the expulsion of the Louisville players. Mr. Hulbert's office was en suite, consisting of rooms connected by folding or sliding doors. I was sitting in the reception room and Mr. Hulbert was at his desk in the inner apartment when the door opened and a sorry looking specimen of humanity entered. It was midwinter and very cold, but the poor fellow had no overcoat. His dust covered garments were threadbare and seedy. . . .

"The man was Devlin, one of the Louisville players. He had been a personal friend of Mr. Hulbert, and, knowing that man's kindly heart, had felt that if he could only see him face to face his friendship and the memory of former days would cause him to relent in his purpose of punishment. How Devlin reached Chicago I do not know. There was everything in his appearance to indicate he might have walked all the way from Louisville.

"Devlin was in tears. Hulbert was in tears. . . . I heard Devlin's plea to have the stigma removed from his name . . . for the sake of his wife and child. . . . I saw the great bulk of Hulbert's frame tremble with the emotion he vainly sought to stifle. I saw the president's hand steal into his pocket as if seeking to conceal his intended act from the other hand. I saw him take a $50 bill and press it in the palm of the player.

"Then I heard him say as he fairly writhed with the pain his own words caused him: 'That's what I think of you personally, but, damn you, Devlin, you are dishonest; you have sold a game and I can't trust you. Now go, and never let me see your face again, for your act will not be condoned so long as I live.'"

RANGER SEXTET HANDS OTTAWA 5 TO 2 DEFEAT

Five Veterans Celebrate 400th Game Together.

Hockey Scores

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Canadiens, 6; Americans, 2.
Toronto, 8; Montreal Maroons, 4.
Detroit, 3; Boston, 1.
New York Rangers, 5; Ottawa, 2.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Rangers' five "originals," who came to New York when the club was organized, took the leading rôles tonight as the Blue Shirts celebrated their 400th game with a 5 to 2 victory over the Ottawa Senators. By winning, the Rangers held a tie with Detroit for first place in the National Hockey league's American division while keeping Ottawa at the bottom of the Canadian section. The victory of the Rangers and Detroit dropped the idle Chicago Blackhawks to third place in the American section.

Bill Cook and Frank Boucher, who, with Bun Cook, form the Rangers' first line now, as they did in 1926, shared the scoring honors. Boucher added 4 points to his total with 2 goals and 2 assists. Bill Cook sank 2 tallies 16 seconds apart to put the game on ice in the third period, when Albert Leduc was in the penalty box, and assisted in one of Boucher's tallies. A couple of newcomers did the rest. Vic Ripley scored the other New York goal and Cecil Dillon collected three assists.

The other veterans of eight seasons, Murray Murdoch, Bun Cook, and Ching Johnson, did their usual steady work. Manager Lester Patrick and Trainer Harry Westerby left the bench only to join the ceremonies after the first period.

Desse Roche did all of the Ottawa scoring.

DETROIT, 3; BOSTON, 1

Boston, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings remained on even terms with the New York Rangers, with whom they share the American division lead, by killing off the Boston Bruins' desperate closing attack for a 3 to 1 victory tonight before seven thousand at the Boston Garden.

The home club, playing their last game without the much needed services of Eddie Shore, their suspended defense star, was outskated and outplayed until the third period. Cooney Weiland, former Bruin, scored the Wings' first goal in the first period and late in the second frame, combined with Herb Lewis, who accounted for the second and third scores. Lewis' second goal, with only two seconds to go, was fired into an empty cage.

The Bruins scored after five minutes of third period play, Nels Stewart from Joe Lamb.

CANADIENS, 6; AMERICANS, 2

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A three goal barrage within the span of less than two minutes in the third period tonight gave the Montreal Canadiens a 6 to 2 National Hockey league victory over the New York Americans. The result left the Canadiens holding second place in the Canadian section of the league and the Americans in fourth.

After Ronnie Martin had put the Americans ahead early in the opening period, the Canadiens broke loose for two goals, by Johnny Gagnon and Aurel Joliat, in 28 seconds. Gagnon tallied in 14:02 of the first period and Joliat in 14:30. After nearly nine minutes of play in the third session, Leo Bourgault counted the third Canadien goal and Jack Riley and Armand Mondou followed with two more in quick succession to clinch the victory. Eddie Burke scored the second American goal in 16:20 of the third period, Mondou counting the final goal of the game 2½ minutes later.

TORONTO, 8; MONTREAL, 4

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Another dazzling attack led by Charley Conacher and Harvey Jackson carried the Toronto Maple Leafs to an easy 8 to 4 victory over the Montreal Maroons tonight. The victory left the Leafs, pace setters in the Canadian section of the National Hockey league, still leading their nearest rivals, the Montreal Canadiens, by 14 points.

Good News, Novices! Champs Will Make Trip to New York

The eight Novice Golden Gloves champions in the tournament sponsored by THE TRIBUNE will be rewarded with a trip to New York for the intercity matches in Madison Square Garden March 28. This decision was made yesterday by tournament officials, who believed that the amateur boxers who prove their ability against the ever growing field of contestants should receive equal consideration with the winners of Open tournament, in which thirty-five cities are coöperating.

They Will Not Fight.

This decision does not change the rules concerning the Tournament of Champions. Twenty-four boys—the same number as in previous tournaments—will compose THE TRIBUNE'S intercity squad, which fights the New York team. This team will be composed of eight champions, eight runnersup, and eight alternates, selected from the Tournament of Champions. These boys receive the Golden Glove set with a diamond, the Silver Glove with an emerald, and the Bronze Glove with a ruby.

The eight Chicago Novice champions will be added to the team, however, which will give the squad sufficient boxers for training purposes. The Novice champions are not eligible to fight in the 16 bouts in New York, unless injury prevents members of the regular squad from competing, or in a rare instance where a Novice champion might develop until he would materially strengthen the Chicago intercity fighters.

Finals at Stadium.

The Chicago tournament was divided into Open and Novice classes last year and the response of the Novice boxers has made this section of the competition far larger than the other division. Since a Novice champion will fight more bouts than quali-

105 More Take Examinations for Golden Gloves

One hundred and five Golden Glove candidates appeared at Trafton's gymnasium last night for physical examinations, another remarkable turnout. Only three were rejected by the staff of four physicians, one less than on Monday, the first night of the examinations. The examinations were conducted by Drs. Edward H. Rategan, Charles T. Plaut, E. R. Stoehr, and Thomas Dwyer.

Credit for being the most confident of boys who appeared goes to a chef on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, Louis Montgomery, south side welterweight. When asked if he expected to go far in the tournament, he exclaimed: "What's that? Say, ah'm a cinch. Ah's goin' to New York. That's how far, sir."

Al Derwich, 190 pounds of brawn and muscle, who calls Chicago his home town, though born in Buffalo, N. Y., 24 years ago, traveled all around the world while serving four years in the United States navy, yet he never has been in New York. So he plans to win the Golden Gloves title in his class and go east with the Chicago team.

Edward Jones, Negro light heavyweight, believes in the old saying, "If once you don't succeed try again." He qualified for the Tournament of Champions on the west side at the Stadium last year and was eliminated in his first battle.

Herbert Cyrus Goldman will represent the Hong Gong Lei Chinese fraternity in the coming tournament.

NATIONAL THREE CUSHION TITLE TO MATSUYAMA

Kenney Must Play M'Court for Second Place.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Kinrey Matsuyama, of New York, won the national three cushion billiard championship tonight by defeating Alfredo De Oro, also of New York, 50 to 31 in 42 innings.

Matsuyama got away to an early lead, making ten points in the first five innings, while De Oro went scoreless. The Cuban, however, cut Matsuyama's lead to three by the end of the next 15 innings, the score standing 23 to 20, De Oro having scored four runs of three, three singles, and a five.

Matsuyama Piles Up Points.

Matsuyama came back strong in his half of the 24th with the high run of seven and a single billiard two innings later to lead, 31 to 23, in the 30th frame.

From then on it was easily Matsuyama's game. He scored 19 points in the next 12 innings, while the best De Oro could produce was a total of eight, including a run of four in his last trip to the table.

Receives $460 Check.

Matsuyama received a check for $460 as first prize and a diamond medal emblematic of the championship, donated by the National Billiard Association of America, sponsors of the tournament.

Len Kenney, of Chicago, and Charles McCourt, of Cleveland, wound up their competition with five victories and two defeats each, and must play off for second place. Matsuyama's record after tonight's game was six victories against one defeat. De Oro had four conquests in seven starts.

Kenney led the play for three days early in the tournament. He also made the tournament's highest run, eleven. Standings:

COAST PROMOTER ASKS $250,000 IN TILDEN SUIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23.—Norman L. Sper of California, today filed a suit for $250,000 in superior court against Ellsworth Vines and William Tilden, professional tennis stars, who now are on an exhibition tour. Sper charged the pair failed to go through with an agreement they made to have him manage their tour.

Tilden, who was in Denver, Col., where he was playing Vines tonight, refused to discuss the suit.

"I have had no dealings with Sper and have nothing further to say in the matter," Tilden said.

Sper asks $25,000 for services rendered; $125,000 for damages for the alleged breach of contract, and $100,000 punitive damages.

VINES EVENS SERIES.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines defeated Bill Tilden two out of three matches here tonight to even their cross-country professional tennis tour at four victories each. The scores were 6-2, 1-6, 12-10.

Johnny O'Brien Named Coach at St. Edward's

Austin, Tex., Jan. 23.—(AP)—John O'Brien, former Notre Dame football end and assistant coach at the Naval academy at Annapolis, was named coach to succeed Jack Chevigny, resigned, at St. Edwards's university, Texas conference champions, tonight. O'Brien, an exceptional pass receiver, was known as "One Play Johnny" and won several games for the late Knute Rockne, notably against the Army.

COMPLAINS CUBS USE CLEAVER IN SLICING HIS PAY

Goes Into Hiding on Coast.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Babe Herman's 1934 Cub contract has bounced back to Chicago from Los Angeles without those graceful flourishes which form Mr. Herman's signature. It is said the Babe does not feel he has been done right by in the matter of proposed stipend, not by many hundreds of dollars.

BABE HERMAN.

Herman, who is at his home in Glendale, Cal., in discussing the document mailed to him from Chicago on Jan. 15, had this to say about the document:

"They didn't just cut my salary; they took a cleaver to it. So I sent the contract back to them."

Disconnects His Phone.

Babe, however, refrained from any bitter talk about the Cub nabobs, though it was said he has had his telephone disconnected to obviate the possibility of being cajoled by long distance conversation from Chicago. The only communication he craves is another contract with considerably bigger numbers on it.

Holdouts among the Cubs for years have been as rare as good lefthanded pitchers on their roster. If the difference between what Babe thinks he's worth and what the Cubs desire to pay him continues as vast as it now is said to be, Herman may become the first honest to goodness holdout the Cubs have had in years and years.

Knows Holdout Technique.

Herman has a record as a determined practitioner of the holdout technique. After batting .393 for Brooklyn in 1930 he held out briefly and got a contract for 1931 calling for $19,000. He sank to .313 in 1931 and in January, 1932 he fired back a contract calling for $16,500. He was still a holdout when the Dodgers surprised him by trading him to the Cincinnati Reds on March 14. He held out a week, but on March 22, 1932 signed with the Reds for an amount never disclosed.

Herman has no .393 batting average to fortify him in his present clash, however. Last season, his first with the Cubs, Babe batted only .282, the lowest mark, save one, in the eight years of his major league career. Herman batted .319 in 1926, his first year with Brooklyn, but in 1927, when he played all year as a first baseman, he dropped to his all time low, .272. The next year he devoted all his time to the outfield and finished with a batting mark of .340.

Slips After Holding Out.

In 1929 he batted .331 and the next season he finished with .393, after having been above .400 for a good part of the season. After his holdout in the spring of 1931 he tapered off to .313, and in 1932 he found himself with the Cincinnati Reds. He batted .326.

Then came his purchase by the Cubs on Nov. 30, 1932, for $75,000 and four ball players, Johnny Moore, Bob Smith, Rollie Hemsley, and Lance Richbourg.

Last winter the late William L. Veeck went out to California to sign Herman. The ceremony was conducted before a battery of movie cameras. The salary figures never were divulged, but the amount was said to be some place between $18,000 and $21,500.

Conscientious About Playing.

With the Cubs' purchase of Chuck Klein observers joined with Manager Charley Grimm in predicting a comeback for Herman, who will be spared the blinding glare of the spotlight, which will be turned on Chuck instead of Babe. Herman probably sees the possibilities of the psychological reasoning and wants to be paid on the prospects of what he will do this season rather than on the basis of what he didn't do last season.

It is said the Cubs front office will take steps for an early adjustment of relations with Herman. Contract difficulties are highly distasteful to the club and a public debate over the issues in the Herman matter is not held to be likely.

At the time Gabby Hartnett signed recently, President William Walker said that "none of the regulars" had been asked to take a cut. He did not mention Herman's status specifically, however.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

MANAGER CHARLEY GRIMM of the Cubs is a member of the St. Louis local of the Painters' union and once talked that organization out of declaring a boycott on the Browns. . . Charley never played for the Browns, but for several seasons sold peanuts and such in the old St. Louis park. . . Two coaches who have made good in the Big Ten got their start at Luther college of Decorah, Ia. . . . They are Ossie Solem of Iowa and Frank Cappon of Michigan. . . William Harley, manager of the Mills semipro baseball team, has sent three players from last year's club to the majors. . . They are Dave Goodman, outfielder, and Eddie O'Connell, first baseman, to Cleveland, and John McCarthy, first baseman, to Brooklyn. . . The "salute" of the Illinois band in its concert over W-G-N tonight will be to Wisconsin. . . Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, will return from Miami Feb. 1. . . NELSON 12TH TO SIGN

Lynn Nelson, Cub pitcher, yesterday joined the list of Cub players not willing to trust his contract to the United States mails. Lynn drove here from Kansas City in order to call on President William Walker and sign his 1934 document.

Nelson was the twelfth Cub to sign. Of the twelve Grimm, Klein, English, Bush, Hartnett, Tinning, Tate, and Nelson came to Chicago to borrow President Walker's fountain pen for the signature affixing ceremony.

NRA TO ASSIST IN RESTORATION OF GAME AREAS

Conservationists Worried by Wild Fowl Decline.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The duck that annually wings his way from the north woods of Canada to the southern climes to furnish sport for 1,000,000 hunters is to be included in President Roosevelt's recovery program.

A four point program to help the duck, and incidentally his hunter, was outlined today at the American game conference by Thomas Beck of Wilton, Conn., who recently was appointed chairman of the special United States committee on wild life restoration.

"There is evidence of a critical and continuing decline in our wild life resources, especially migratory water fowl," said Beck. "This is due to the destruction and neglect of vast natural breeding and nesting areas by drainage, the encroachment of agriculture and the random effort of our disordered program towards an undefined goal."

Ask Restoration of Preserves.

Beck, who with Prof. Aldo Leopold of the University of Wisconsin, and J. N. Darling of Des Moines, will present a report to the President, propose to make use of some of the 50,000,000 acres of land which will be withdrawn from agriculture.

"Our report will propose the restoration of migratory water fowl nesting areas by purchase of a large number of such areas in the states where these birds naturally multiply if given proper environment and food," Beck told the 600 delegates from practically every state in the union and province of Canada.

"We should also include a nation-wide upland game restoration program with specific projects. We have gone past conservation. It is now restoration."

Hear Beck's Report.

Beck's report of the progress of the committee, appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, was the high point of a program that included a general discussion of wild life.

Hoyes Lloyd, supervisor of wild life protection in Canada, told of the decline of ducks in central and eastern Canada, due to the droughts of the last few years and lack of feed. In contrast, from the west coast came reports of increased flights, indicating that the ducks of the eastern part of the dominion, unable to find suitable breeding grounds, had flown westward.

Dr. W. B. Bell of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey, agreed with Lloyd that there had been a large decrease in wild fowl over the last four years. Robie W. Tufts, chief federal migratory bird officer for the maritime provinces, estimated the number of brant and Canadian geese in those provinces last fall was only 5 per cent of what it was under normal conditions, three or four years ago.

Endorse Tax on Hunting.

The delegates, ranging from members of the Audubon society to commercial organizations, endorsed the bill now before congress calling for a tax on duck hunting. The bill would allow each duck hunter to buy a $1 duck stamp from the United States government to be affixed to his state hunting license. The revenue, estimated at $1,000,000, could be made available for the restoration work, augmenting the plan proposed by President Roosevelt's committee.

New Trotting Club to Make Plans Tonight

BY FRENCH LANE.

One hundred members of the newly organized Chicago Riding and Trotting club will gather in the Crystal room of the Sherman hotel at 6:30 o'clock tonight to map out activities for the coming season.

A week of Grand Circuit trots already has been arranged for early September. In addition there will be matinée racing throughout the summer on Saturday and holiday afternoons. Aschedule for these special events will be made tonight.

Chicago Owners Join.

Many Chicago owners of thoroughbred horses have joined up with the trotting horse people in the new organization and will race a few trotters and pacers here in what promises to be the busiest harness race season in Chicago in many years.

Sportsmen are coming from Rockford, Peoria, Cleveland, Lexington, and Indianapolis for tonight's meeting. The directors of the new club will meet this afternoon and elect officers.

The annual election of officers of the Chicago Business Men's Racing association, which controls Hawthorne, is to be held on Friday, but not even a stockholder or director of the organization will even venture a guess as to who will be the successor of the late John Schank, who was president of the association until his death last June.

Reports have been heard that nearly all the principal stockholders are ambitious to succeed the late Mr. Schank and that because of this situation they are all at a loss to know where the balance of power in voting strength might be.

The election was originally scheduled for Jan. 16, but was postponed because Gov. Horner had delayed the naming of the new Illinois Racing commission.

Tom Kearney, the proprietor of the big store which features a futyre book on the Kentucky Derby, has a wholesome respect for the filly Tatanne, which won the Jefferson Derby—the first Derby of the year—in New Orleans last Saturday.

In the most recent odds he quotes he makes Tatanne equal first choice with Mata Hari at 15 to 1. Tatanne's owners are said to have wagered quite heavily on her Kentucky Derby chances late last week which caused Mr. Kearney's hands to become very shaky while erasing the original 50 to 1 off the blackboard.

Will Rogers Shaken Up in Coast Polo Spill

Santa Barbara, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Will Rogers, the comedian, who also plays polo, was shaken up today and another player hurt in a spill during the game between the Santa Barbara Reds and the Riviera Blues. Gerald Dempsey of the Santa Barbara quartet, figured in the spill with Rogers, playing with Riviera.

Poles Take Lead in Pin Match with Germans

The Polish bowling team, led by Barney Karuse with 687, last night defeated the Germans, 3,132 to 3,081, in the first block of a match for the city nationality championship at the Harding alleys. In the Poles' 3,132 total were games of 927, 1,105 and 1,100. The Germans, with Herb Freitag's 650 as high, shot 998, 1,172 and 911. The match will be concluded at Idle Hour alleys tomorrow evening.

Solem Coach at Iowa for 4 More Years

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Several thousand University of Iowa football fans breathed more easily tonight with the announcement by the state board of education that Ossie Solem had signed a new four year football contract.

The announcement by the state board was confirmed by Solem, who said, "It was signed ten days ago, but I did not expect any publicity on it."

Solem's salary will be $8,500 a year. While the terms had been agreed upon between Solem and the athletic board, the new contract had not received the approval by the board of education until today.

Considerable anxiety was felt among Hawkeye followers when it was learned that Solem had negotiated with Dartmouth and Yale athetic officials recently in regard to coaching jobs.

Although it was definitely known that the Hawkeye coach did not ask for an increase in salary, it was conceded that he could have "written his own ticket" here. The Iowa football team, under the second term of Solem's tutalege last fall, was regarded as the most improved in the country.

ELMHURST AND DE KALB TEAMS TO PLAY TONIGHT

De Kalb, Ill., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—A victory for the De Kalb Teachers in their game with Elmhurst college here tomorrow night will entrench them in a tie for second place with the Macomb Teachers.

Favored to win tomorrow, the teachers are nevertheless prepared for a hard battle. They have been preparing to stop Duhan, Elmhurst forward, who scored fifteen points against De Kalb Saturday. The Elmhurst lineup will likely include Duhan and Uthlaut at forwards, Steingarber, center, and Rambarth and Eilers, guards.

SOUTH DIVISION K. OF C. QUINTETS PLAY TONIGHT

South End division teams in the Knights of Columbus basketball league will play three games tonight at White City. Inability to secure a suitable site for Sunday afternoon has caused the section to transfer its contests to midweek, at White City.

The game between Quigley and Blue Island, occupants of first and second places, will be the outstanding contest. Quigley and Santa Maria of this division are the only undefeated teams in the league. The schedule:

7:15—Garcia Mareno vs. Fort Dearborn.
8:15—Quigley vs. Blue Island.

Bar Cooper for Life on Dope Charge

Miami, Fla., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Florida today handed Harry Cooper, horse owner and trainer, a lifetime suspension from its race tracks shortly after he was arrested by government agents for possessing narcotics and alleged formulas for doping horses.

Cooper, who is being held under $5,000 bond, was arrested at his home, where more than 100 grains of narcotics were found by agents. He will appear before a peace justice tomorrow. The preliminary hearing was scheduled for late this afternoon, but was postponed.

According to records in Florida, Cooper is the owner of two horses, Speedy Skippy and Vera Crux. When seized by agents Cooper attempted to escape with a strong box which contained narcotics and needles.

The Florida racing commission also barred Miss Catherine Treon, who was with Cooper at the time of the raid.

$100,000 PURSE IN 1935

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The richest racing purse in the world, $100,000, will be the stake for the feature handicap of the Los Angeles Turf club when it opens its track here in the spring of 1935, Hal Roach, president, said today.

The Los Angeles Turf club, listing some of the leading citizens of California as members of its board of directors, was granted a permit several weeks ago to build and operate a track in Southern California.

Plans presented to the racing commission call for completion of a track, club house, grandstand, paddock and stables costing at least $800,000, with an additional $200,000 for operation expenses the first year. The layout must be ready for operation by Dec. 15, 1934, but it was considered likely the first running would not start until Jan. 3.

The dates were to be allocated by the commission with a winter and spring running in prospect. Roach said he planned to stage the handicap sometime in March and indicated some of the leading stables in the country would be represented.

FAIR GROUNDS OPENS

New Orleans, La., Jan. 23.—(AP)—With 14 of the ranking horses in training here named for the $1,000 inaugural handicap, the Fair Grounds will open its long winter meeting tomorrow with prospects for the best season in recent years.

Decided over six furlongs, the Inaugural handicap has attracted such capable sprinters as Blue Day, Contribute, Rubio, Gilbert Elston, Smear, Zekiel, and Eva B. Contribute is expected to rule the slight choice, with plenty of backing for Rubio and Smear. Included in the field also is Jim Dandy, famous for his 100 to 1 shot victory over Gallant Fox in the 1930 Travers at Saratoga.

Admission prices have been slashed. It will cost only 15 cents to get into the field stand, 50 cents into the grand stand, and 75 cents into the clubhouse.

STANDOUT IS VICTOR

Miami, Fla., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Standout won the featured race at Tropical Park today under a hustling ride by Jockey Allen Tipton. The result gave Tipton a long shot double, for he previously had ridden Hernando to victory at $40.70 for $2. Standout was an 8 to 1 shot.

Only one favorite won. Well Built, the choice in the feature, was fourth in the field of seven. Sandwrack got the place, a head back of the winner and a half length ahead of Polo Bar.

Well Built was ridden by Earl Porter, who did not get a winner today. Porter is the leading rider of the meeting with 35 winners and has scored five triples thus far this season.

Found! Defender for Starlings as Purveyor of Joy

BY BOB BECKER.

The European starling has at least one defender in Chicagoland. Condemned as a menace to many of our native songbirds, and considered an unmitigated nuisance in the east, this rapidly increasing alien species can count Alfred C. Weed, of the Field Museum of Natural History, as a friend. Mr. Weed, after observing the recent stories in this department pointing out the increase in starlings in America, writes that "the bird deserves most of the things that have been said against it," but, nevertheless he likes to hear it sing when he is walking for his train on a gloomy midwinter morning.

Mr. Weed's philosophical attitude toward the starling, the bird that has been causing New York and Washington so much trouble is rather rare among the bird fans of Chicago. His statement as "public defender" of the starling is as follows:

"There is no denying that the starlings have done a large amount of damage in some fruit growing areas. So have the robins and so would the catbirds if they were present in large enough numbers. I was brought up on a farm where small fruits were raised for the market. Every year we had to watch the cherry trees from daylight to dark for about three or four weeks to keep the robins and catbirds from taking all the fruit before it was ripe. From what I have seen it seems to me that the starlings are much to be preferred to either the robins or the sparrows.

"The starlings seem to be thoroughly established in this part of the city [south side] as permanent residents. I am inclined to believe that the small flocks seen are composed of young birds that have not established themselves in breeding locations. One colony lives around the buildings of the Morgan Park Military academy, less than three blocks away.

"Personally, I cannot view the starling with a great deal of alarm. It may or may not drive away other birds, but man is doing much more to drive away desirable species. On our farm in western New York the starlings have helped reduce the sparrow nuisance by its competition for desirable nesting sites. Unfortunately it has not similarly reduced the robins. The robins come to us when there are plenty of other birds to look at, but the starling sits in a tree and puts every bit of his strength into singing when there is a nasty drizzle and the fog has brought the smoke down so that a man can hardly breathe. I vote for the starling!"

Bradley Beats Monmouth in Little 19 Game, 35-24

Matthys and Holden Win I. A. C. Bouts

Walter Matthys, bantamweight, and George Holden, welterweight, won their preliminary bouts in the second annual amateur boxing tournament at the Illinois Athletic club last night. Matthys stopped Jimmy Killeen of the C. Y. O. in the third round and Holden whipped Ed Mileski, also of the C. Y. O., in three rounds.

These were two of 27 bouts contested last night. There will be twelve semi-final and eight final bouts tonight. All but the flyweight and heavyweight divisions will be represented in the semi-finals, but every weight will compete in the championship matches.

Farragut High school's lightweight basketball team took undisputed possession of first place in the central section of the Chicago Public High School league by defeating Lindblom, 35 to 22, at Farragut's gymnasium yesterday. It was Farragut's third victory of the season and Lindblom's first defeat.

Ties for first place in the south and north divisions also were broken. Roosevelt triumphed over Waller, 33 to 30, at Roosevelt to take the lead in the north zone, while Calumet went to the front in the south section by defeating Parker, 25 to 21, on the Parker court as Morgan Park, which also was tied for the top position, was losing to Hyde Park, 35 to 22, at Morgan Park.

Crane Wins No. 3.

Crane Tech scored its third victory in the west section, winning from Kelvyn Park, 34 to 14, on the Crane Tech court. It was Kelvyn Park's third consecutive setback. In another west section game Austin handed Tuley a 27 to 16 defeat to remain among the leaders.

Wido, forward, was the leader of Farragut's victory over Lindblom. He scored seven field goals. Smicklos, center, also starred for the victors, collecting four baskets and two free throws. Pragit, forward, was Lindblom's high scorer, getting three field goals and five penalty shots.

Cohen Leads Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's individual stars against Waller were Cohen, forward, and Schneider, guard. The former got seven baskets, while Schneider scored three field goals and four free throws. Overlander, guard, led the Waller attack, contributing eleven points. The lineups:

RIVERSIDE WINS, 32-14

Riverside's lightweights maintained their lead in the West Suburban conference by defeating Hinsdale, 32 to 14, at Riverside last night. Henderson and Duran, Riverside forwards, shared the scoring honors, the former collecting nine points and Duran seven.

Glenbard was defeated by Maine's heavyweights at Glen Ellyn, 32 to 30. Baskets in the final minutes gave Maine victory. The defeat sent Glenbard into a tie with Hinsdale, which defeated Riverside, 44 to 32.

MELINKOVICH AT WAIKIKI

George Melinkovich (right), Notre Dame full back in 1932, who ran 96 yards with the opening kickoff against Northwestern, recovers on the beach at Waikiki from the illness which nearly cost his life last summer. With him is Dr. Deno O'Connor of Chicago, who accompanied the star to Hawaii and who has been in constant attendance to him. Melinkovich will report to Coach Elmer Layden for spring practice. Bears Begin 20th Week of Football Play

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—With the tinkle of the cash registers of Wrigley park, Los Angeles, and Kezar stadium, San Francisco, still ringing merrily in their ears, the Chicago Bears today launched into their twentieth successive week of intensive football drill since the start of their pro campaign last September. They meet a lineup of coast ex-collegians, reinforced by selected pro leaguers from the east in the local coast league ball park Sunday.

The Bears practiced behind locked gates of Wrigley park for a couple of hours, doing light work to ease the tenseness out of muscles exercised in their two previous Pacific coast starts, including the 26-6 win at Los Angeles two weeks ago, and last Sunday's 21-7 victory at Frisco.

A group of the players who played against Halas' squad last Sunday, followed the Bears, who arrived yesterday, into Los Angeles today, their mission being to act as reinforcements against Grange, Nagurski, Hewitt, Lyman, Zeller and company this weekend. Among these will be Ebding and Canrinus, former star ends for St. Mary's college, and Ray Flaherty, ex-Gonzaga star, who is taking Ernie Pinckert's place as coach of the coast team that will oppose the Chicagoans. During the Bears' first game in Los Angeles they found the local team's ends not as strong as some of the other positions.

Red Grange said there was a good chance he would spend next season as a football coach, but did not say where.

Glen Presnell, formerly of Nebraska, who was a star in pro football last season, will play with Pinckert, Musick, Saunders, and Apsit, all former Southern California varsity stars; Mikulak of Oregon, Caddell of Stanford, and Johnny Blood in the backfield for the coast team Sunday.

Chicago Five Plays Tonight at Notre Dame

Games This Week

TONIGHT.
Chicago at Notre Dame.

FRIDAY.
Ohio at Michigan.

SATURDAY.
Northwestern at Minnesota.
St. Ambrose at Iowa.

Heavy firing along the Big Ten basketball front will taper off during the next two weeks as a result of the mid-year examination period. However, several games are scheduled during the doldrum period, the first being tonight's clash between Chicago and Notre Dame at South Bend.

Ohio State, back home after earning a split in its invasion of Minnesota and Northwestern, will seek to retain lost ground in its clash with Michigan at Ann Arbor Friday night. The hapless Wolverines, defeated in their last three starts, hardly figure to stop the Buckeyes.

N. U. Plays Saturday.

The other games on this week's conference card fall on Saturday night, when Northwestern journeys to Minneapolis for its second game with Minnesota, and Iowa hops over to Moline, Ill., for a non-conference engagement with St. Ambrose.

Chicago, encouraged by its first Big Ten victory at the expense of Michigan last Saturday, will seek to present Notre Dame with its second defeat of the year. The game will be Chicago's second road game of the season.

In defeating Michigan the Maroons reversed the result of the earlier game at Ann Arbor. The Midway five showed considerable improvement on defense and piled up a high average of field goals per shots attempted.

Both Teams Improved.

Northwestern will seek to strengthen its hold on third place by making it two in a row over Minnesota. The Wildcats earned a 32 to 26 victory over the Gophers in the first encounter at Patten gymnasium. Both teams have advanced rapidly since that contest, however, the Gophers upsetting Iowa while the Wildcats were winning two from Ohio and one from Michigan.

Coach Dutch Lonborg has been fortunate in having all of his regulars contributing their share of the scoring. Four of the Wildcat starters are among the first ten conference scorers. Lyle Fisher notched up three field goals against Ohio Monday night to increase his hold on first place to 53 points. His teammate, Don Brewer, is in second place with 46 points while Nelson Culver jumped into fifth place as a result of the 17 points he hung up against Ohio. Kopecky has scored 33 points and Manske 19.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Joe Turnesa of Bay Side, L. I., playing in the pro-amateur four ball tournament today, posted a sensational 65, seven under par, to break all records on the Miami Country club links.

Turnesa, teamed with Phil Perkins, former British amateur champion, defeated Russell Stonehouse of Indianapolis and Bob Barnett of Indian Springs, Md., 4 and 2, to go into the second round of play tomorrow. Perkins is now pro at Willoughby, O.

Alex Ayton of St. Louis, playing with Jerry Stack of Syracuse, N. Y., against Bill Kaiser of Louisville and Willie Walker of Englewood, N. J., turned in a 68. He received the congratulations of other early finishers—until Turnesa posted his card. Ayton and Stack won 1 up.

Charlie Rice of Chicago and Joe Mazziotti of Elmsford, N. Y., defeated Johnny Watson of South Bend, Ind., and Len Mattson of St. Paul, Minn., 1 up.

Hawks Work Two Hours for Game with Canadiens

The manner in which the team went at its work was gratifying to Manager Tommy Gorman. The forwards displayed speed which was lacking in the last game. The twenty-four hour rest granted them after their consecutive games Saturday and Sunday night was apparently what they needed.

Although sporting sticking plaster and some stitches, the ailing quintet of Conacher, Sheppard, March, Coulter, and Gottselig took its regular turn during the drill and at its conclusion each player pronounced himself fit and ready for the second game of the season in Chicago with the Montreal Canadiens tomorrow night.

LOYOLA BASKET TOURNAMENT TO START MARCH 21

Announcements of the eleventh annual national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament yesterday were mailed to more than 500 high schools in 48 states. The tournament will be held at Loyola university from March 21 to 25.

The tournament is an invitational affair. The National Catholic High School association, which is composed of representatives of more than 500 Catholic high schools in the country, has formed state associations and conducted district tournaments in Pennsylvania, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Oklahoma, and New York. Winners of these meets will be invited to represent their state or district. The rest of the 32 team bracket will be selected by the national association on the basis of outstanding records.

The Rev. E. C. Holton, S. J., director of athletics at Loyola and director of the national tournament, is president of the National Catholic High School association. The Rev. J. L. O'Brien, S. T. D., of Bishop England High school, Charleston, S. C., is vice president, and the Rev. Brother Sylvester, F. S. C., is secretary-treasurer of the association.

Plan to Trick New Yorkers at Ping-Pong

The Chicago intercity ping-pong team will have its hands full when it battles stars from New York, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland, Indianapolis and Dayton in the national intercity team ping-pong tournament to be played Feb. 3 and 4 in the grand ball room of the Morrison hotel. The home team is particularly eager to defeat New York.

Several years ago a few Chicagoans entered the Metropolitan tournament in New York. With their sandpaper rackets they were helpless against the severe English which the New Yorkers put on the ball with their rubber surfaced paddles.

When the Chicagoans came home they switched immediately to rubber bats and the following year they returned to New York. One of their number came back with the national championship.

Now the New Yorkers are up in arms against the new and tricky finger-spin serves which were invented by a Chicagoan. The antagonism against these serves is so keen down east that those who used them in recent Metropolitan tournaments were greeted with boos.

But there is nothing in the rules to bar finger spin serves, and the Chicago boys have not yet forgotten what happened to them when they first ventured east and were defeated while playing against what they considered trick rubber rackets. So the Chicago intercity team is staying up nights developing an array of baffling, twisting finger spins.

TWO WANT TO MEET ARCADIA MAT WINNER

Smith, Goldenberg Eager for Chance.

Jack Smith and Buckets Goldenberg are seeking a match with the winner of the Gus Sonnenberg-Ole Oleson wrestling bout at the Arcadia Gardens Friday, it was announced yesterday. They will be considered if they win their matches on the supporting card. Smith faces John Freberg, and Goldenberg meets Art Miller.

Joe Malcewicz, Utica, N. Y., heavyweight wrestler, and Milo Steinborn of Germany, signed yesterday to meet in a supporting bout on the Joe Savoldi-Jim Londos card at the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night. The semi-final pairs Jim McMillen with Everett Marshall.

Malcewicz will be making his first Chicago appearance in three years. He is of Polish antecedents and hopes to replace the retired Zbyszko brothers, Stanislaus and Wladek, in the favor of Polish wrestling fans.

Fred Kohler and Jack McAdams, light heavyweight wrestlers, will depend on stamina and strength to win their one fall match at the Mozart arena, 1536 Clybourn avenue, tomorrow night. There is a 90 minute time limit. In the semi-final bout Lou Talaber and Andy Sparks will concentrate on speed and skill to gain a fall in their 30 minute match.

FORGOTTEN WILL OF HARRY MOIR IS DISCOVERED

Charity Gifts May Cost Widow $47,500.

A will which Harry C. Moir, former hotel magnate, made in 1921 when he possessed several million dollars—a will which he apparently forgot—was filed yesterday in the Probate court. If it is sustained, his entire estate, valued at $47,500, will be distributed to three children's homes, leaving nothing for his widow.

Mr. Moir died Dec. 31 at the age of 66, after he had won and lost a fortune in the hotel business in Chicago. Starting in 1898 as manager of the Boston Oyster house in the old Morrison hotel, he gained control of the hotel, then housed in a remodeled dry-goods store.

Ambition Results in Ruin.

He built the first section of the new hotel in 1915, and added two more units, one a 45 story tower, in later years. His ambition to make the hotel the world's largest as well as the world's tallest hostelry caused his financial ruin, however. The addition of a fourth section in 1930 at a cost of 3 million dollars found Moir overextended as a result of the depression and he turned control of the Morrison over to the bondholders.

It was supposed at the time of his death that he had left no will, and letters of administration were issued to his widow, Mrs. Rose K. Moir. The estate consists of personal property, which under the law would have gone in its entirety to Mrs. Moir had there been no will. She testified in getting letters of administration that her husband had been worth $5,000,000 in 1929.

Will Executed in 1921.

Yesterday, however, B. E. Brownstone, assistant secretary of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, filed before Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell, a will which Mr. Moir executed on Feb. 19, 1921.

In that document, made during the days of his prosperity, Moir had left $150,000 to charities before making any provision for his family. Bequests of $50,000 each were made to the Country Home for Convalescent Children, the Home for Destitute and Crippled Children, and St. Vincent's orphanage.

The will then provided that half of the residue of the estate should go to Mrs. Moir and the other half should be placed in trust for Mr. Moir's son, Harry Jr.

Mr. Caplan pointed out that if the will is held to be valid, payment of the prior charitable bequests will leave nothing for the widow and son. The bank, named executor of the will, will enter a motion to set aside the letters of administration granted Mrs. Moir.

CANCER SURGERY FOUND LAGGING BEHIND RADIUM

Specialist Tells Clinic of Recent Progress.

Greater strides have been made recently in radium treatments of cancer than in the use of surgery for the same purpose, asserted Dr. Joseph Colp Bloodgood of Baltimore, noted cancer specialist, in a speech last night at the first annual clinic on the disease held at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital.

In fact, Dr. Bloodgood said, little progress in this type of surgery has been made since 1900.

Better Than Surgery.

"I am convinced," he said, "that in many cases radium treatments are better than surgery. The use of radiotherapy, however, depends for its efficiency on the individual who administers it, just as much as does surgery. There is a need for well trained radiologists to treat this disease."

Dr. Bloodgood traced the history of cancer treatment in the last 40 years and gave the opinion that much progress had been made. He recalled doctors who told him in the past they had never seen a case of cancer of the breast cured. Such cures, now, he said, were rather common.

200 Attend Session.

More than 200 physicians from all parts of Illinois attended the all day session of the clinic. The Hines hospital has accommodations for 200 cancer patients and Col. Hugh Scott, superintendent, has campaigned for six years to have the clinic opened, so physicians may obtain the latest information available on cancer, including the lectures of famous specialists. It is planned to hold the sessions annually.

Dr. Max Cutler, director of research at the hospital, called attention to the services of Dr. Scott. He pointed out that 2,146 cases of cancer had been treated at the institution and added that he, too, was an advocate of better radium treatment.

"Continuity of treatment," he said, "is of the utmost importance. Often we find it advisable to give the treatments twice a day and seven days a week. It is not possible to give a treatment, wait a long time and then repeat it, and get good results. In the meantime the patient may have built up a resistance to the treatment. Inadequate radiation is a common error."

2,000 PASS BIER OF E. J. BRUNDAGE AT MASONIC RITES

Political Leaders at Services.

More than 2,000 filed past the bier of the late Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general of Illinois, preceding Masonic funeral rites conducted in the Oriental consistory at Dearborn and Ohio streets yesterday by the Lincoln Park commandery, Knights Templar, of which he was a past commander. Burial was in Rosehill cemetery.

Political leaders who attended the Masonic services praised Bundage's record as a legislator, president of the county board, corporation counsel, attorney general, and Republican leader.

Still Asks Investigation.

Private religious services had been conducted Monday afternoon in the Brundage Lake Forest home by Dr. Herbert W. Prince, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit.

During the day the widow, Mrs. Germaine Verniere Brundage, resumed her efforts to obtain a further investigation of Mr. Brundage's death. A coroner's jury held that he apparently committed suicide. The revolver was found beside the body, but a handkerchief wrapped about its handle eliminated finger prints and, according to the widow, created doubt that he had committed suicide.

Death Threats Received.

Attorney Amos C. Miller, who represents her, informed her he knew Mr. Brundage had received death threats, Mrs. Brundage declared.

State's Attorney Mason and Coroner John L. Taylor said they would make a careful inquiry, but at present there was no basis for blaming any outsider. The former attorney general was to have been a witness in the racket conspiracy trial now in progress before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court.

HENRY PETERSEN, VETERAN SCHOOL CUSTODIAN, DIES

Funeral services for Henry Petersen, who was the oldest engineer-custodian in point of service employed by the school board, will be held at 2 o'clock today in the Humboldt Park Commandery temple, 2410 North Kedzie avenue. Burial will be in Acacia cemetery.

Mr. Petersen, who was 74 years old, died following three weeks' illness Sunday in his home at 4815 Erie street. He was engineer at the Nash elementary school, 4821 Erie street, and had held similar posts with the school board since 1892.

His widow, Mrs. Julia Petersen, and five children, Christian, Ealdo, and Julius Petersen, Mrs. Daisy Murray and Mrs. Eleanor Wallman, survive.

STEAL HEIRLOOMS OF LORD HALIFAX DURING FUNERAL

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—While the body of Lord Halifax, former president of the English Church union, lay in the church in the grounds of Hickleton hall awaiting burial today, thieves entered the mansion and stole famous family heirlooms.

Cases of heirlooms were dragged onto the lawn and broken open, many articles were stolen and others were strewn over the lawn. The extent of the robbery is not known as yet, but it included decorations and war medals.

At the time of the robbery some 70 people were in the hall to attend the funeral. After the service Lord Halifax was buried in the family vault.

BRITISH THREAD MAGNATE LEAVES $3,000,000 ESTATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The estate of Harold Glen Coats of Paisley, Scotland, who died recently, was probated today with a value fixed at $3,000,000. Coats was a member of the great cotton thread family. Since 1918 six other members of the family have died, leaving estates valued at $82,000,000. They were: Lord Glentanar, $23,000,000; W. A. Coats, $20,000,000; Peter Coats, $12,500,000; James Coats, $10,000,000; Sir James Coats, $8,500,000, and T. Glen Coats, $8,000,000. In each case more than half of the estate was paid to the state in death duties.

NEW WILLS FILED IN PROBATE COURT

Four wills were filed yesterday with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court and were approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. The wills are those of:

MARGARET L. LUNDY, died Jan. 12. Estate, $12,000, to three children, Ruth Roth, daughter, is executrix.

EDITH DILLON DECKER, died Nov. 16. Estate, $6,000, to widower. The American National Bank and Trust company is executor.

MARY JAMROZY, died Oct. 3. Estate, $7,140, to son, Adam Jamrozy, who is executor.

EDWARD FUNKE, died Nov. 22. Estate, $18,000, to widow and three children, Alice Jean Funke, widow, is executrix.

ATTY. THEODORE WORCESTER DIES AT 74 IN AURORA

Theodore Worcester, 74 years old, attorney and a grandson of Noah Worcester, organizer of the first peace society in America, died yesterday at his home in Aurora.

Following his graduation at Harvard university and admittance to the bar in Maine, Mr. Worcester practiced corporate law in the east for a quarter of a century. Later he moved to St. Louis and then to Aurora in 1895. He assisted in preparing the legal setup which preceded the organization of the United States Steel company.

His first wife, Elizabeth Brown Sargent of Philadelphia, a cousin of the painter, John Singer Sargent, died in 1890 at St. Louis. Seven years later Mr. Worcester married Minnie Godard of Aurora, who survives.

REPORT TO SHOW HOW DYSENTERY WAS COMBATED

A report on the recent outbreak of amoebic dysentery, including recommendations to prevent similar occurences in the future, for the use of health officers throughout the world, will be issued within a few days, it was stated yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. For the last two days a group of medical experts from various parts of the country has been assembled here to make a survey of the all available data and laboratory materials.

The visiting doctors have studied the cases of the disease now isolated, the laboratory technique successfully used for the detection of carriers, and the methods used in combating the outbreak, according to Dr. Bundesen.

Dr. Bundesen yesterday outlined to the visitors all the steps taken by the board of health from the time the first two cases were reported Aug. 16, until the present. It was pointed out yesterday that a special session of the American Medical association will be held in June to consider the disease.

3 ROBBERS GET $2,000 GEMS AT JEWELRY STORE

Three armed men last night raided the Loftis Brothers and company jewelry store at 838 East 63d street and fled with a tray of diamonds valued at $2,000 or more.

The manager, E. L. Dickens, had locked the front door and with the assistance of Miss Mary Schroeder, clerk, was putting the jewelry in a safe when the bandits arrived. The leader of the gang, using the butt of his shotgun as a weapon, smashed the front door and admitted one of his companions, while the other stood on the sidewalk as a sentinel.

The man who entered the store forced Dickens and Miss Schroeder to lie on the floor. He then took the tray of diamonds and backed out with it. The robbers fled in an automobile.

U. S. WILL OFFER FIRST BILLION OF NEW LOAN TODAY

Two Issues to Start Vast Borrowing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—The federal treasury will attempt tomorrow to borrow a billion dollars from American investors, the first of ten billions which it must raise between now and June 30 to pay the bills of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Making the first test of the government's credit since the President revealed that the government must borrow two billion dollars in each of the next five months, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today announced that the treasury tomorrow will attempt to float two new issues of its securities.

Each issue will be for half a billion dollars, making the total amount the treasury is seeking an even billion. One issue will pay interest at 2½ per cent and will mature in 14 months, while the other will carry a 1½ per cent interest rate and will mature in nine months.

Will Determine Inflation.

Success or failure for these issues of treasury securities and the subsequent ones which must come thick and fast in order to keep up with the government's spending will determine whether President Roosevelt can finance his titanic recovery drive without recourse to some type of inflation.

All of the billion dollars which the treasury is endeavoring to borrow will go directly into the cash fund out of which the treasury meets all bills, swelling that fund to more than a billion and a half dollars.

Since the government, to keep pace with the President's budget estimates of expenditures, must spend more than three hundred million dollars a week, this huge cash balance will last the tresury a little more than a month.

Insurance of the new treasury securities means that the public debt will jump to about 25 billion dollars, within half a billion of the peak reached in 1917. Before the Roosevelt borrowing is over the debt will have passed 32 billions, an all time peak.

Interest Rates Deemed High.

By offering on the two new security issues it will float tomorrow interest rates, which financial circles here believe to be just a shade higher than necessary, the treasury was seen today to be setting the stage for a rousing reception of its first borrowing attempt since the Roosevelt budget for this fiscal year with its seven billion dollar deficit became public.

Predictions here were that the fat interest rates will make the offering sell rapidly, allowing the President to proclaim that his spending program has not jeopardized federal credit.

No bid for popular sales was made. The new offering is of a type generally attractive to banks, investment houses, and other large security holders rather than to the man in the street.

Morgenthau Explains Details.

In his official statement Secretary Morgenthau said:

"The treasury is offering for subscription at par and accrued interest, through the federal reserve banks, $500,000,000, or thereabouts, 2½ per cent treasury notes of series C-1935, maturing March 15, 1935, and $500,000,000, or thereabouts, 1¼ per cent treasury certificates of indebtedness of series TS-1934, maturing Sept. 15, 1934.

"The treasury notes will be dated Jan. 29, 1934, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum, payable on a semi-annual basis. They will mature March 15, 1935, and will not be subject to call for redemption prior to that date.

"The certificates of indebtedness will be dated Jan. 29, 1934, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 1¼ per cent per annum, payable on a semi-annual basis. They will mature Sept. 15, 1934.

How to Make Subscriptions.

"Applications will be received at the federal reserve banks and branches and at the treasury department, Washington. Banking institutions generally will handle applications for subscriptions.

"Subscriptions for amounts up to and including $10,000 will be alloted in full; all other subscriptions will be alloted on an equal percentage basis.

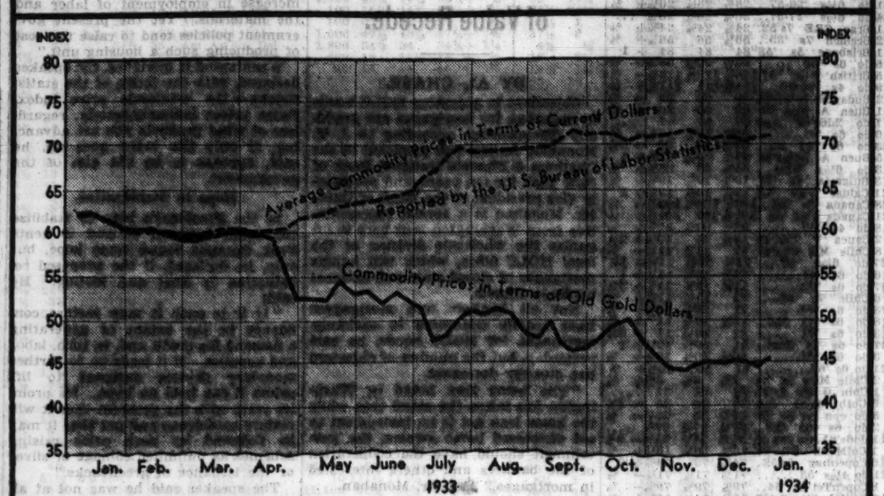
"The treasury notes will be issued in bearer form only, in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000, with three interest coupons attached, payable on a semi-annual basis on March 15 and Sept. 15, 1934, and March 15, 1935. The certificates of indebtedness will be issued in bearer form only, in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000, with two interest coupons attached, payable on March 15 and Sept. 15, 1934."

Bankers Expect Oversubscription.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A heavy oversubscription for the new United States treasury obligations was forecast tonight in leading Wall street banking circles. The terms of the new securities were regarded as attractive to banks and investment institutions.

The issue of 2½ per cent treasury notes was smaller than the one-year issue of last Dec. 15, and the interest rate was more attractive.

Trend of American Commodity Prices Since the Opening of 1933 and in Terms of Gold



100% Stock Melon Is Cut by Goldblatt

One of the first stock splitups of recent years was announced yesterday by Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., Chicago department store operators. Directors of the company have voted a stock dividend of 100 per cent and at the same time placed the new issue on a $1 annual dividend basis by declaring a quarterly payment of 25 cents. The old stock was on a $1.50 annual basis.

Under the plan a holder of one share will get one additional share and his dividend return will be increased from $1.50 to $2 annually. The stock dividend is payable Feb. 20 to stock of record Feb. 10, and the cash disbursement will be made April 2 to stock of record March 10.

As in the past stockholders will have the option of accepting the equivalent of stock in lieu of the cash dividend.

Norfolk-Western Votes Extra.

The Norfolk and Western railway yesterday declared an extra dividend of $2 a share and the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share on the common stock. In 1933 the company paid a total of $8 a share; in 1932 payments were $9 a share due to reduction in the quarterly rate in September of that year. The last previous extra was 1931, when the company paid $10 regular and $2 extra for the year.

This is the second important railroad to improve payments to stockholders this year. The Louisville and Nashville this month resumed payments on the common with a dividend of $1.50.

Norfolk's extra payment of $2 will mean an addition of $1,178,600 to the dividend income of the Pennsylvania railroad, which directly or indirectly owns $58,930,000 of the $140,648,300 outstanding common stock. This is equal to about 9 cents a share on the Pennsylvania's 13,167,696 shares of common.

Earnings Higher for 1933.

Norfolk and Western reports for 1933 net income of $22,301,140 after taxes and charges, equal after preferred dividends to $15.20 a share on 1,406,483 shares of common, compared with net income of $16,811,918, or $11.30 a share, in 1932. Gross for the year was $89,262,891, against $82,775,611; net railway operating income was $24,656,354, against $19,161,098.

The Bigelow Sanford Carpet company declared a special dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, the first payment since Aug. 1, 1930, when $1.50 was disbursed. The company states that 1933 net profit was approximately $1,100,000 after charges, which contrasts with net loss of $1,948,737 for 1932. A regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred stock also was voted.

EDISON PARK BANK TO CLOSE DOORS; PAY OFF IN FULL

"Come and get it."

This is the call stockholders of the Edison Park State bank decided last night to issue because of the impossibility of operating the institution without incurring losses. Creditors and depositors will be paid in full.

Operations will be suspended Saturday and business affairs liquidated as soon thereafter as possible. This is expected to take from two weeks to a month. The bank was opened in December, 1926. It is capitalized at $200,000, has assets of $318,000 and deposits of $115,000.

After reaching this decision stockholders reelected all directors, who in turn reelected present officers.

Carbon Steel Prices Cut 1¾ to 4 Cents a Pound

Producers of carbon steel have reduced quotations 1¾ to 4 cents a pound in high grade lines, according to the American Iron and Steel institute. Small tonnages of scrap steel have been reported s'd in the Chicago market at $11 a ton, up 25 cents from the previous sale.

BUTLER BROS. TO SHOW '33 NET OF $1,450,000; 1ST PROFIT SINCE 1929

Net profit of Butler Brothers for 1933 will be not less than $1,450,000, estimates Frank S. Cunningham, president, in a letter to stockholders. The profit is the first yearly one since 1929. In 1932 net loss was $2,084,628, in 1931, $2,686,481; in 1930, $2,542,306. Net income for 1929 amounted to $1,442,453. In the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1933, net was enough to more than offset net loss suffered in the first half of the year.

F. S. CUNNINGHAM.
[Underwood Photo.]

In addition, adds Mr. Cunningham, "1934 starts off well. Volume in the first three weeks of January has shown a gain of approximately 30 per cent over the same weeks of the preceding year."

The figures for 1933 are not yet complete, says Mr. Cunningham. Departing from the policy pursued in previous years, the company will have its figures before the stockholders' meeting here March 22 and will accompany the call for the meeting with a certified copy of the balance sheet and earnings statement.

Akron, O., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Goodyear Tire and Rubber company did not make its alloted 6½ per cent profit on its Sears, Roebuck & Co. tire contract in 1932-33, Federal Attorney E. F. Haycraft charged today.

C. H. Brook, Goodyear controller, who was on the stand in the federal trade commission's hearing on its claim that the contract violates the Clayton act, said the question of profit involved technicalities of bookkeeping.

The controller testified that in 1932 the company charged back $146,000 of the $1,250,000 contract purchase price to profit and loss, and the following year $163,000 was charged off in the amortizing program, on a 5 per cent profit for 1932 and 4½ for 1933.

Contending that the Goodyear-Sears contract has been a cause of disturbing price conditions in the industry, Haycraft announced today that representatives of the 22 tire corporations which voiced disapproval of the "big four" tire industry code last November will be summoned to testify here.

WEST SIDE BANK SETUP WILL BE OFFERED TODAY

Details of the proposed reorganization plan for the West Side Trust and Savings bank, 735 West Roosevelt road, will be presented before Judge Robert E. Gentzel in the Superior court this afternoon.

The plan contemplates use of a $2,100,000 loan which has already been set aside by the RFC. Another $750,000 has been pledged by stockholders, of which $400,000 represents a voluntary assessment with which to reimburse depositors. The remainder will be used for reorganization of the institution as a national bank.

Payments in full to the 18,000 depositors whose deposits are $50 or less will be possible. The plan also contemplates full payment to 1,500 depositors representing preferred creditors holding claims of $400,000. The remaining 4,500 depositors would have 40 per cent of their deposits made immediately available in cash and the balance in participation certificates.

Commonwealth & Southern Net Drops to $8,496,822

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Commonwealth and Southern corporation, in a preliminary report, showed 1933 consolidated net income of $8,496,822, equivalent to $5.66 a share on the $6 no par preferred stock. This compared with $13,242,998 or 12 cents a common share in 1932. Gross earnings were $109,043,013, compared with $114,513,920. December net income amounted to $1,777,494, against $1,306,355 in the same month in 1932.

P. L. Smith to Take Gulick's Utilities Posts

Purcell L. Smith was elected a vice president of Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service company of Northern Illinois by directors yesterday to succeed John H. Gulick, who is retiring because of ill health. Mr. Smith will take over his new job Feb. 1.

Mr. Gulick, who is 68 years old, has been in poor health for several years and for some time past has spent only a small part of his time at his office. He first became associated with the company in 1898, but remained only a year.

Becomes Officer in 1914.

Mr. Gulick returned in 1905 and became vice president in 1914, a position he has since held. He was connected with the Public Service company since its organization. He was named with other Insull directors and officers in the Corporation Securities company indictments.

Mr. Smith gained his utility experience with the North American Light and Power company and its subsidiaries, with which he was associated from 1916 to 1929 in Chicago. Four years ago he went with the City Company, Inc., of New York, which connection he will sever to accept his new post. He is 40 years old.

Estimate 1933 Income Above $4.

The Commonwealth Edison company is expected to show net earnings between $4 and $4.50 a share when it reports to stockholders next month on 1933 operations. The company paid $4.50 a share in dividends last year, but the stock is now on a $4 annual basis. There are now 1,623,000 shares of capital stock outstanding.

In 1932 the company reported earnings of $6.24 a share on 1,611,421 shares out. Actual dividends paid in 1932 aggregated $6.50 a share. The directors recently authorized a regular quarterly dividend of $1, payable Feb. 1.

U. S. STEEL FINAL QUARTER PROFIT TO TOP $5,000,000

United States Steel corporation earned an operating profit of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 in the final quarter of 1933, Dow, Jones & Co., estimated yesterday. The report will be issued Jan. 30.

This would indicate an operating profit for the year of about $18,000,000 before depreciation, depletion, interest charges, sinking fund and extraordinary expenses. In 1932 the company had an operating deficit of $12,729,566.

The final quarter estimate is based on shipments of finished products and other factors. In the September quarter the company had an operating profit of $11,816,832; $4,881,354 in the second quarter and an operating loss of $3,795,473 in the first 3 months.

Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, fourth largest in the industry, yesterday reported a net loss of $5,807,351 for 1933, against loss of $10,405,409 in the preceding year. The final quarter of 1933 was the best of the year with an operating profit of $856,668 and a net loss of $626,418. Year-end surplus was $49,881,293, against $56,635,951 a year earlier.

LATE DEMAND CARRIES STOCK PRICES HIGHER

Movements Narrow; News Is Dull.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—Prices improved moderately in late trading on the stock exchange today after the major part of the session had been used up in a series of narrow backing and filling movements. Brokers reported further public participation.

News developments were not important. The tieup of the Roosevelt monetary plans in the senate slowed operations, although there were a number of items of sufficient bullish import to offset this.

The administration's naval bills involving large expenditures for warships directed favorable attention to steel shares, particularly Bethlehem, which moved up some two points. A scattering of dividend declarations proved beneficial to the industrial and rail groups.

News Aids Merchandise List.

Merchandise stocks had the advantage of reports from different sections of the country indicating renewed expansion in retail buying. Toward the close aviation shares were given a fling on Washington dispatches indicating the naval expenditures program would provide for substantial additions to the naval air fleet.

Public utility stocks did fairly well in spite of fresh anxiety in their behalf aroused by the threat of rate reductions in this state. Public Service, Peoples Gas, Brooklyn Union, Standard Gas, Electric Power and Light, and others finished from a fraction to a point above their previous quotations.

Chemical shares had a good day, Allied Chemical rising more than 3 points, and the foods showed more spirit than they have here of late. Buying appeared in volume in the motor group in the afternoon, General Motors moving up more than a point. Nash was another favorite in the group.

Can Hits New High.

American Can was an outstanding favorite in the industrial division, pushing up to a new top for the year. Westinghouse and United States Steel were marked up a point or so each. Cuban recognition brought further buying into the sugar issues, notably Cuban-American. The smelting issues were stronger, led by American and U. S. Smelting, and the repeal issues had a good day.

Various department stores here bought more or less actively including Spiegel May Stern, which rose more than 4 points, Macy, Hahn, and Mandel Brothers. Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward advanced more than a point.

The market had a little reactionary turn around midafternoon on the report that Secretary Roper had gone to the White House with his proposed stock exchange regulation, but quickly recovered itself and the close found most issues near their best levels of the day.

MERCHANTS OF 40 STATES TO ASSEMBLE HERE

Merchants from about 40 states and from Canada are expected to attend the six day convention of the Interstate Merchants council which will open at the Hotel Sherman on Feb. 6. The council is an activity of the Chicago Association of Commerce and meets twice a year.

Arthur D. Whiteside, personal adviser to President Roosevelt on retail and trade affairs and NRA administrator for the retail industry, will be the principal speaker at the opening meeting.

A feature of the convention will be a report on a survey covering the effect of New Deal legislation upon retail trade. Returns are being made by almost 7,000 retail store owners in every section of the country, it was stated. The report is expected to give a picture of the results of the many recovery measures upon business.

Over 800 Chicago manufacturers will participate in the meeting at which spring showings of apparel will be featured.

Chicago Corp. Reports Shifts in Investments

A number of important changes in the investment portfolio of the Chicago corporation were disclosed in the trust's year-end statement issued yesterday by Charles F. Glore, president.

Common stock holdings were shifted freely, as were various bond investments. Additions to the portfolio were made in some instances, some issues were eliminated entirely, and in several cases the investments were reduced. Several new issues also appeared in the year-end investment list.

At the close of the year the company had 90.52 per cent of its assets invested in securities, exclusive of stocks of controlled companies which represented 2.35 per cent of the total assets. Six months ago 85.32 per cent of the assets were in securities.

Sell Government Bonds.

One of the significant changes made since the midyear statement of June 30 was the sale of $1,600,000 of United States government securities. At midyear the company held $100,000 of treasury 3s of 1937 and $1,500,000 of treasury 2⅞s of 1936, which were sold during the last six months.

The investment policy was apparently directed to put the company in a position to withstand the ravages of possible currency inflation.

On Dec. 31 the net asset value of the preferred stock, of which there are 691,816 shares out, was $43.20 a share. This compares with $31.63 a share on Jan. 1, 1933, and represented a recovery during the 12 months of 36.8 per cent. Since the first of this year the portfolio has shown further appreciation and the net asset value of the preferred on Jan. 19 was $48 a share.

Year's Income $719,932.

Net income for the year in interest and dividends was $719,932. Actual dividends paid on the preference stock totaled $727,053. Dividends were paid at the quarterly rate of 25 cents a share so the accumulated arrearage at the year end was $2.75 per share. The report indicated that no change will be made in the near future in the present dividend policy.

Some of the additions to the common stock list were 5,000 shares of Commercial Solvents, 20,000 shares of Libby-Owens Ford Glass, and 10,000 shares of Consolidated Oil. The company also added 15,000 shares of Wright-Hargreaves, a gold mine stock, to the list. Investment of 6,696 shares of Libby-Owens Securities stock which appeared at midyear is not shown at the year-end. The company cut its holdings of United States Gypsum common from 41,050 shares to 33,800 shares.

Retirement of 4 directors who also serve as bank officials was disclosed by the report. They are Sewell L. Avery, David A. Crawford, James B. Forgan Jr. and R. Douglas Stuart. They are ineligible to serve in both positions under the banking act of 1933.

U. S. PLANS QUIZ INTO CHICAGO GAS PIPE LINES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The federal trade commission announced today that it would take up a consideration of three companies operating neutral gas pipe lines extending from the Texas Panhandle to Chicago tomorrow in an investigation of power and gas utilities. The investigation is being conducted under a senatorial resolution.

The companies are the Texoma Natural Gas company, the Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, and the Chicago District Pipeline company, all of Chicago. These companies were characterized by the commission as handling "the entire process of production, transportation and distribution direct from the gas field in the southwest to the consumer's home in Chicago."

DENIES POLITICS CLOSES INDIANA OIL STATIONS

Allan Jackson, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, said yesterday in Hammond, Ind., that the company was not motivated by political influences in closing its 800 filling stations in the state.

In answer to Gov. McNutt's interpretation that the plan was an attempt to evade the NRA, Mr. Jackson said: "The company is not in politics. Our decision to close the 800 stations was made sheerly for business reasons."

The step was made necessary by imposition of the $150 chain store tax on filling stations in the state.

Dollar Firm; Trade Belies Currency War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—If a great currency war impends, as is suggested by some observers, there was no sign of it in the foreign exchange markets of the world today. Trading was quiet and the speculators were apparently content to let the ratios established between the principal currencies at the close of last week stand for the time being.

The extent of the government's dollar stabilization efforts this week has not yet been disclosed, but against the British pound sterling and the French franc American currency was comparatively steady today.

Dollar Gains on Franc.

Against the franc the dollar rose slightly to an indicated gold worth of 62.53 cents, an advance of a tenth of a cent over last night's final quotation. The pound hovered around the $5 figure and closed there for a quarter cent loss for the day.

The quiet in the market today gave further support to the belief that the British and American authorities have come to some agreement on the dollar-pound ratio.

Congressional Action Awaited.

It was reported that final settlement is being held up pending congressional approval of the President's monetary legislation. The $5 pound ratio has frequently been mentioned as a probable pound of temporary stabilization.

Meanwhile, however, the United States continued to buy gold in the London market in its efforts to hold the dollar within striking distance of the 60 cent top level which the President fixed as the maximum devaluation figure. America was credited with the purchase of approximately $6,800,000 of gold today.

SEES MODERATE INCOMES TAXED 25% BY NEW DEAL

Boston, Mass., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The man whose income ranges between $5,000 and $10,000 a year will have to pay the new deal fiddler to the tune of about 25 per cent of his income when the next period of prosperity arrives—perhaps sooner.

That was the opinion voiced today by James R. Bancroft, president of the American Institute of Finance, before the Boston club of Harvard business school alumni. He predicted that if the government's program of spending is not successful within the next six or eight months in priming the pump of industry—and he was not optimistic—it is sure to result in inflation.

PRIVATE EFFORT RECOVERY NEED, SAYS SPRAGUE

Sees Final Failure in U. S. Spending.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Further progress along the road of trade recovery rests squarely on the ability of private enterprise to devise means of furnishing needed products to the consuming public at steadily declining prices and not with stimulation through government expenditures.

Such was the message given last night to 800 Chicago business men and manufacturers by Prof. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard university, late advisor to the treasury on monetary policy.

The administration's program holds little hope of ultimate recovery, Prof. Sprague asserted, because it is not shaped to provide for gradual absorption by private business of the labor now carried on the relief pay rolls.

Must Absorb U. S. Employes.

Contemplated expenditure of billions of dollars in the next few months can lead nowhere but to the expenditure of additional billions unless private industry finds a means of absorbing those now employed by the government, the speaker asserted.

Prof. Sprague spoke before a joint meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the Illinois Manufacturers Costs association at the Hotel La Salle. Since last November, when he quit his treasury post as a protest against the administration's monetary policy, Prof. Sprague is back in his old job as professor of finance and banking at Harvard.

The speaker made a critical analysis of the administration's present monetary policy, in which he found some ground for hope, but the high point of his address was his declaration that the time has arrived for private business to take over and further the recovery started by governmental action.

Effectiveness Soon Lost.

Government action was absolutely essential during the financial crisis last spring, he said, but added that the time has arrived when the government will soon exhaust its effectiveness as a promoter of business revival.

It is in the scattered opportunities that may be developed by alert business men to supply products that the public wants at attractive prices that the real promise of a sound recovery lies, the speaker declared, adding:

"The government program in some measure is defeating this very end. The policies are stimulating costs when it is essential for industry to supply products at lower prices. This applies particularly to the building trade, in which the greatest single opportunity for consumption of labor and material lies.

"I don't see how we can emerge from the depression by following a policy which tends to choke up the very channel which holds out the best promise for the absorption of labor and materials.

More Billions Needed.

"What lies ahead when the present billions—is it 6 or 10 billions—are spent? Only the urge to spend more billions unless private enterprise can take up the slack and the government policies do appear to be shaped to insure that event."

He cited the need for better housing among the lower salaried which, he said, provided an opportunity for supplying a needed product to a wide consuming public.

"Certainly we should be able to produce better houses of the four to six room type for the mass of people

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

United States government long term bonds were generally lower, off 9-32ds to -up 1-32 point, on the eve of the announcement of the new treasury financing. In view of the attractive rates on the new short term issues, long term bonds become slightly less attractive from the yield standpoint.

Turnover on the stock exchange declined to $17,062,200 from $18,376,000 on the previous day, largely due to slower trading in domestic corporation bonds. On the average, domestic railroad and utility issues were a shade higher and industrial issues lower. Price movements in most active issues held within very narrow ranges.

Attitude Grows Cautious.

While earnings statements and current business apparently continued to impress the market favorably, the sustained advance of more than two weeks was said to have engendered a more cautious attitude on the part of some operators.

Some Cuban loans advanced 1 to 4 points on announcement of United States' recognition of the new government. German loans were irregularly higher in the foreign group, with the active government issues up fractionally. French government and United Kingdom bonds showed fractional variations, as did Swiss government 5½s and most of the Scandinavian loans. South American loans finished the day irregularly higher in routine dealings.

List Active Gainers.

More active domestic gainers included some bonds of American and Foreign Power, American Telephone, American Waterworks, Chesapeake and Ohio, St. Paul, Delaware and Hudson, Denver and Rio Grande, Erie, International Telephone, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, and American Rolling Mill. Warren Brothers 6s advanced 5 points on a moderate turnover. There were numerous losers of fractions to around a point.

Domestic bonds on the curb exchange were steady with prices irregularly lower, while foreign issues generally pointed higher.

Postal Telegraph and Cable.

Investors' Guide: Do you consider bonds of Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation, series of 1953 5s, a safe investment?—M. C. J.

Answer: Unprofitable operations and unimpressive current position of Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation and its parent company, International Telephone and Telegraph corporation, make these bonds speculative.

The company suffered a loss of $295,000 in October, 1933, against loss of $218,000 in October, 1932. For the first ten months of 1933 gross revenues were $20,703,000, and only 46 per cent of fixed charges was earned. In the corresponding 1932 period gross was $21,191,000, and 38 per cent of charges was earned.

	Gross.	Time charges earned.	Loss.
1932	$27,743,000	0.42	$2,354,000
1931	34,187,000	0.32	1,764,000
1930	37,923,000	1.03	*97,000
1929	40,258,000	2.07	*2,973,000

At the close of 1932 current assets of $8,824,000, including cash of $3,259,000, compared with current liabilities of $5,973,000. Notes payable were $2,660,000. Working capital was $2,850,000, against $4,876,000 the year before.

Earnings ordinarily vary with the state of general business activity. Additional costs resulting from NRA adjustments, however, mitigated against improvement in earnings in the third quarter of 1933.

The federal government is considering a proposal which contemplates either strict government regulation of communication companies or outright government ownership. Sufficient information concerning this legislative phase is not yet available to determine just how it might affect Postal Telegraph and Cable.

"Seller."

Investors' Guide: Please explain how a transaction of stocks marked "seller" and appearing under the regular transactions differs from the rest? Why is such sale often below the current price for the stock? Thank you for your reply.—L. L. C.

Answer: Transactions on the New York Stock exchange call for delivery and payment on the following day. A "seller" transaction is one in which the parties stipulate that delivery will not be made the following day but at some specified later date. It usually occurs when the seller of the stock is out of town, cannot ship his securities to New York to arrive the next day, and does not wish to sell short.

An individual who wishes to make a "seller" transaction usually has to undersell the market in order to induce a purchaser to accept delayed delivery.

ROOSEVELT GETS COMMUNICATION, MARKET SURVEYS

Contents Withheld Pending Submission to House

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jen. 28.—President Roosevelt planned to study tonight reports on two major surveys ordered by his administration, concerning stock market operations and the coördination of communications systems.

The reports were handed to the President this afternoon by Secretary Roper, who was instructed to supervise both of the studies; their contents will be made public when President Roosevelt transmits them to congress. This may be done tomorrow, but that depends on how much time the President wishes to devote to a personal study of them.

Recommendations Withheld.

Secretary Roper told newspaper correspondents that neither of the reports contained definite recommendations and there was nothing in them that would commit the administration to a policy regarding either stock exchange regulation or changes in the communications systems.

They contain the pros and cons in each case," Secretary Roper said. "The reports do not represent recommendations as much as studies of facts which are expected to be of assistance to the congressional committees handling these topics."

The stock market report will go to the banking and currency committees of the house and senate, and special interest is attached here to the effect it may have in the senate committee which has been investigating over a long period methods of distributing securities, pool operations on the stock markets and similar topics.

Possibilities Cited.

It is understood the principal method of federal regulation would be through taxation, the postal laws, and the authority under the interstate commerce provision of the constitution.

The report on communications sets forth the possibilities of:

1. Continuation of existing conditions.

2. Monopolies under government regulation.

3. Government ownership.

There is reason to believe the second proposition which would unify the telephone lines into one system, the telegraph into another, and radio into another under government supervision was favored by the special committee.

EASTMAN'S VIEWS ON RAIL FUTURE SATISFY WILLARD

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, said today that generally speaking, he was "well satisfied" and "much encouraged" by the recent report to the interstate commerce commission of Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation.

"Mr. Eastman has frequently stated in public addresses his views concerning government ownership and operation of the railroads," Mr. Willard said. "To those who do not share his views concerning that matter, it was encouraging that he should say that in any event there seemed to be no aggressive desire just now for government ownership, and regardless of his personal views he did not recommend it for consideration at this time.

"The views which the coördinator expressed concerning any 'grand' plan of consolidation were also satisfactory to me, and I agree with him that such a plan could not be immediately, if at all, imposed upon the railroads without creating and having to overcome opposition which will probably interfere for some time with the successful working out of such an arrangement.

"The following words quoted from the coördinator's report would seem an effective answer to the charges which are still frequently made by some concerning overcapitalization of railroads: 'Contrary to much popular impression the railroads are not in the aggregate overcapitalized in the sense that the par value of outstanding securities exceeds the money invested in the properties.'"

GRAINS RECOVER FROM EARLY DIP; CLOSE NEAR TOP

Wheat Rises on Reports of Dust Storms.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Numerous cross currents in the news resulted in erratic fluctuations in the grain markets yesterday, with an early break followed by a strong rally and the finish was about the top. Many traders who sold on the early decline were free buyers later. Reports of dust storms in parts of Kansas and Texas and the strength in stocks had considerable influence.

During the last 10 days May wheat has held within a range of 89 to 91¾ cents. It sold at the former figure at the inside level yesterday but rallied to 90½ cents later and closed at that price to ⅛ cent under. July was 88¾ to 88⅞ cents at the last. Net gains for the day were ⅝ to ⅞ cent.

Corn Rallies After Dip.

Corn dipped early, but met with aggressive commission house support under 52 cents for the May option, the same as on the preceding day, and rallied 1 to 1⅜ cents from the inside and closed ⅝ to 1 cent higher with May leading.

May corn closed at 52⅞ to 53 cents. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, with May at 38⅛ to 38¾ cents. Rye was ⅝ cent higher at 62 cents for May. Barley was ½ cent higher, May being 51⅛ cents.

There were reports of 30,000 to 40,000 barrels of Pacific coast flour having been sold on an all-rail basis to Memphis and Nashville. This unusual situation suggested that the wheat market on the north Pacific coast was somewhat out of line with prices prevailing in the central west.

Open Interest Increases.

An increase of nearly 7,000,000 bushels in the open interest in wheat futures and nearly 3,000,000 bushels in corn on the Chicago Board of Trade last Monday was a mystery to the trade until it was pointed out the Farmers' National Grain corporation was now clearing its trades, which heretofore had to a considerable extent been carried by nonmembers of the clearing house.

Selling of wheat futures in Liverpool credited to Argentina had a depressing effect on the English market, which closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower for the day. Winnipeg finished ¼ to ⅝ cent higher and estimated export sales at 300,000 to 400,000 bushels in all positions. Germany is expected to be in the market shortly for supplies of Canadian wheat, which is needed for mixing and other purposes.

For two days there has been steady buying of May corn by a local commission house, which has been sufficient to take some of the slack out of the pit. The country did not offer cash corn to arrive yesterday and no purchases were reported by local handlers.

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES HIGHER; POTATOES STEADY

All commodities closed steady on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Butter was ⅛@¼c higher, eggs ¼c higher, and potatoes unchanged.

Fresh egg receipts continued sharply under last year, but the cash market eased slightly. With cash eggs commanding a price around 2c above the futures deliveries naturally were restricted.

Butter withdrawals totaled nearly 1,000,000 pounds more than last year. However, futures remain uncertain and the market continues quiet.

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Business was less brisk in the Boston wool market today. Sales were made to some extent but not in the volume of last week.

Bids were made at lower levels than most sellers would accept, thereby retarding activity. All prices were firm and unchanged.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was firm today, with trading confined to the July position, which advanced on scattered covering and trade buying influenced by the firmness of grain and hogs and the steadiness of lard. Final prices were 4 points higher where business developed. Sales totaled 6 contracts. Bleachable spot, nominal; January closed 4.65c; March, 4.80c; May, 4.95c; July, 5.15c.

BRITISH ASSAIL FRENCH QUOTAS CUTTING IMPORTS

Anglo-French Trade Pact Held Endangered.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—British protests against the French reduction in quotas for British goods increased today following the issuance last night by the foreign office of a full list of imports on which reductions are still effective.

Of the goods on which quotas were effective before Jan. 1 several important categories are still cut 25 per cent, including many classes of hides, leather and leather goods, certain classes of machinery and electrical accumulators.

Other categories, notably cotton yarns, are not mentioned, and it is presumed these remain subject to the original 75 per cent reduction. The coal quota—already reduced to 58½ per cent of the average import for 1928 to 1930—was further decreased 10 per cent from Feb. 1 next.

Motor Vehicles Restricted.

In addition more than 20 of the 134 categories on which quotas were imposed for the first time beginning in January are still restricted to 75 per cent of the total of the 1932 imports. They include motor cars, motorcycles, textile machinery, certain chemicals, and jute cloth.

The French proposals are regarded as distinctly unsatisfactory in official quarters. The question will be considered by the cabinet tomorrow on the basis of a report drawn up by the board of trade and it is believed further diplomatic representations will be made to Paris.

It is suggested in some quarters that the French action may imperil the projected Anglo-French trade treaty, as the British government cannot be expected to enter new negotiations as long as France discriminates against this country.

Shut Down Flour Mills.

Further depressing news to British industrialists came last night with the announcement that all British flour mills in northwestern England will close Jan. 29 for a week. The stoppage is due to heavy accumulations of stocks following large importations of French, German, and Italian flour sold here considerably below the price in the country of origin, owing to indirect foreign government subsidies. French flour is selling in Britain at prices well under those in Paris.
